COMMANDOS FLOWN TO BRITISH GUIANA

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (UPI)—Britain rushed more tough commandos into this paralyzed, fire-blackened capital today to prevent fresh outbreaks of violence and looting. (See page 7.)

A 77-man unit equipped with automatic weapons was flying in from England to reinforce British soldiers already patrolling the streets. Some of the troops are veterans of the Mau Mau campaign in Kenya or have seen service in Cyprus and Egypt.

Business was at a standstill because of a general strike.

HELP YOUR CHILD SUCCEED IN SCHOOL

NASON

This is the first in a series of 15 articles by an educational authority detailing what parents can do to help their children succeed in school.

By LESLIE J. NASON, D.Ed.
University of Southern California

"How can I get my child to want to learn?"

That question is uppermost in the minds of good parents; a question most frequently asked when parents and teachers meet to discuss education.

The problem is not one for teachers alone to solve. Parents themselves have an important—perhaps the most important—role in stimulating their child's thirst for knowledge.

In this series of articles we are going to outline some of the ways in which you can help your child to succeed in school by creating and enhancing his desire to learn.

Parents are the most important people on earth to children.

Father's political party or make or car is likely to be Junior's choice, too. Mother's way of cooking or cleaning will become little Susie's way of doing things.

Children also tend to share their parents' views about school.

If Daddy says "I always liked school. Things I learned in school help me with my job," Junior decides that he likes school. If Mother says "From the time I was a little girl I knew I would go to college," Susie decides that college is for her, too.

Family Approval of Learning Needed

But if Daddy says, "I hated school. I couldn't wait for the time to quit," Junior rates school as a bore. And if Mother says, "Don't bother me with your homework. I have more important things to do," Susie looks at homework as of little or no importance.

First and foremost in a child's education needs is family approval of learning. With it, he is off to a flying start. Without it, he is under a serious handicap.

The youngster who knows that his parents stand behind him in getting an education, studies harder and does better than a child who thinks his parents do not care.

Be sure your child knows you care.

A successful college student told me the other day:

"My parents always encouraged questions. They made it clear that there was no such thing as a foolish question. If they didn't know the answer, they helped me find it."

It isn't always easy to manage the activities of a family so each member can fill all his needs without becoming a problem to someone else. It is possible, however, for the family to plan activities so each member knows that others are considering his needs and desires.

When television, recreation and the dozens of other activities of the home are regulated to provide time for homework and family discussion, school is given its proper place of importance.

Parents set the attitude toward learning that children adopt as their own.

Provide your children with a place and time to study. Have reference books handy. Encourage them to look up words in the dictionary and places in the atlas. Encourage them to study each subject, not just do homework assignments.

Let them enter family discussions about current events. Listen to good music together. Read good books with them. Go to libraries, museums, zoos, art galleries with your children.

Always consider school and education important, thus creating family approval of learning.

Next: Respect your children as individuals.

'Untruth' Charged By Caucus

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Resignation of Hazen Argue, Member of Parliament for Assiniboia and a western farm spokesman in the House, from the New Democratic Party may be followed eventually by the departure of one or two other members from the new political movement.

The badly-shaken CCF-New Democratic party group in the House was uncertainly closing ranks today behind a senior member of the party, H. W. "Bert" Herridge, who represents Kootenay west in parliament.

The Liberals and Conservatives were delighted with the development. They saw in the moves a sure sign that the new party had no appeal for the farmers.

SPLITS PARTY

Mr. Argue's bitterly-worded resignation appeared to split the new party, separating the western farm wing from the eastern members of organized labor.

The CCF-New Democratic Party caucus issued a statement today in which bitterness was the keynote. It was obvious that Mr. Argue's resignation had been a stunning blow.

In the statement Mr. Argue was accused of lying about labor domination of the New Democratic Party. In its formal statement the caucus said Mr. Argue's reasons for leaving the party which "pivoted on the domination of the party by a so-called 'labor clique,'" were "staggering in their misconception and untruth."

The statement added that all members of the caucus felt that the basis of the party since the founding convention last summer "is wider than with the CCF, and domination by labor or farm or professional or academic groups is nonsense."

RUMORS FLY

Reports were flying about Ottawa in the wake of Mr. Argue's resignation that T. C. "Tommy" Douglas, the leader of the New Democratic Party, will challenge Mr. Argue in the latter's own federal riding of Assiniboia.

If Mr. Douglas decided to run in Assiniboia for that fed-

DE GAULLE
. . . ready to talk

REPLY TO NIKITA

'Scrap A-Arms' —De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—President de Gaulle today urged the world's nuclear powers to destroy all their nuclear weapons and to join in destruction or control of all means of their delivery.

The French president said France is ready to meet with the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union in a disarmament conference for this purpose.

De Gaulle's proposal was contained in a letter to Premier Khrushchev, replying to the Soviet leader's suggestion of an 18-nation summit conference on disarmament in Geneva next month.

The key section of de Gaulle's letter said France is ready to participate with the other three nuclear powers in negotiations "which would have as their immediate objective the destruction, the banning and the control of the means of delivery of nuclear weapons."

He ignored Khrushchev's proposal for the 18-nation disarmament meeting on the summit level March 14.

The president said a conference such as he proposed should be limited to the big four powers. Participation of other states could not lead to any positive result, he said.

Weather Improving For U.S. Space Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A brightening weather picture buoyed hopes today that astronaut John Glenn will be launched toward a round-the-earth orbit Tuesday after months of delays.

The first half of a split two-day countdown was started at 2.30 a.m. The pre-count was finished at 6 a.m. with both the Atlas booster rocket and "Friendship 7" spacecraft ready.

Officials were shooting for a launch between 7.30 a.m. and 12.30 p.m. EST (4.30 and 9.30 a.m. PST) Tuesday.

Peace Settled? Rebels Dubious

(Times News Service)

PARIS—A French team has agreed with Moslem insurgent negotiators on a cease-fire in the seven-year Algerian insurrection, sources close to the government reported today.

Exact details were not immediately available but it was understood the agreement was subject to approval of the Tunis-based Algerian "provisional" government's executive as well as the insurgent "parliament."

(In Tunis, rebel Foreign Minister Saad Dahlab said "The discussion is not ended. It has made a great deal of progress and can resume with good prospects.")

(Vice-Premier Belkacem Krim said, "Things are going quite well, but we still have a lot to do." Another rebel spokesman said, "It is not finished yet. Another meeting will be necessary.")

France will endorse the agreement. President de Gaulle gave personal approval at each critical stage of the talks, which took place near the Swiss border.

French officials today acknowledged for the first time that the talks took place. An official statement said they began Feb. 11 and ended Sunday.

The French team, headed by Minister for Algeria Louis Joxe, flew from Geneva to Paris meantime and Joxe arranged to brief de Gaulle on latest developments. The cabinet will consider the agreement.

COULD DISAPPROVE

The main question remaining was whether the "provisional" government's executive and the insurgent national council, a kind of parliament expected to meet this week in Tripoli, Libya, would give approval.

The "provisional" government has extremists in its ranks who disapprove of an understanding with France, but throughout Algeria there is a great war weariness among Moslems and Europeans alike.

A rejection of the agreement by the insurgents could undermine their support in Algeria.

ARGUE
. . . warns farmers

'Three Officials Running Party'

REGINA (CP)—Hazen Argue, the fighting farmer-politician from Saskatchewan and CCF member of the House of Commons for 17 years, bolted from the New Democratic Party Sunday because it has "become the tool of a small labor clique."

Mr. Argue was leader of the CCF-NDP group in the Commons and is former national leader of the CCF party.

In a surprise announcement—it shocked some quarters—the 41-year-old socialist said in a statement:

"The NDP now has become the tool of a small labor clique and is effectively under their domination and control."

He said in an interview later that control of the NDP, formed last year by the CCF and labor groups, rests with three men—the leaders of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, the United Steelworkers of America and the United Auto Workers Union, all affiliated with the Canadian Labor Congress.

Mr. Argue also advised farmers to avoid the NDP "like the plague."

MAY JOIN LIBERALS

"Leadership of the NDP should be more democratic and not so susceptible to control and dictation from labor bosses," he said in the interview.

Although Mr. Argue declined to comment on his plans, he is expected to join the Liberal party, following his former university roommate, Ross Thatcher. Mr. Thatcher left the CCF in 1955, joined the Liberals a year later and in 1960 became leader of the Saskatchewan Liberal party.

Mr. Argue planned to fly to Ottawa today with his wife, Jean.

He said he hopes to make a speech in the Commons Tuesday and arrange the location of his seat in the House.

Mr. Argue, who last August lost to T. C. (Tommy) Douglas in a bid for national leadership of the NDP, announced his resignation at a press conference.

He sent a telegram of resignation to Michael Oliver, national president of the party; Harold Winch, deputy parliamentary leader of the CCF-NDP group, and Douglas Fisher, CCF member of the Commons for Port Arthur.

CONSULT WITH THATCHER

Mr. Thatcher immediately invited his old schoolmate to join the Liberal party. Mr. Argue consulted with Mr. Thatcher into the early hours Sunday before deciding to make his announcement.

Seeks To Join Liberals

OTTAWA (CP) — Hazen Argue who quit the New Democrat Party Sunday, has made a formal move to sit in Parliament as a Liberal MP, sources here said today.

Opposition Leader Pearson and a number of his top lieutenants, including Senator John Connolly, president of the National Liberal Federation, were said to have discussed Mr. Argue's proposal at a meeting today.

An invitation to join Liberal ranks was extended to Mr. Argue at the press conference at which he announced his resignation. The invitation was given by Ross Thatcher, Saskatchewan Liberal leader, who left the CCF in 1955 and a year later joined the Liberals in the Commons.

West Warned On Air Lanes

BERLIN (UPI)—The Soviet Union in a note to the Western allies announced tonight it will continue what the West considers harassing flights in the Berlin air lanes.

The note warned the West it would face "unpleasant" results if it ignored Russian attempts to limit Western air traffic.

The Russian answer to a Western allied protest against harassing Russian flights was released tonight by the East German news service ADN.

SEATTLE (AP) — Prince Philip will visit the Seattle world's fair June 1, the British consul-general, Geoffrey H. S. Jackson, announced here today.

Gov't Shuns Inquiry On Health

(See page 15)

The B.C. government did not present a brief as scheduled when the Royal Commission on Health Services opened its one-day hearing in the Empress Hotel today.

NDP-Opposition leader Robert Strachan, in presenting a brief for his party, said:

"I must express my regret that there is no one here from the government of British Columbia to welcome this commission to our great province . . ."

MET PREMIER

"This is not completely accurate," interrupted Hon. Emmett Hall, commission chairman, with a smile. "I had a few minutes with your premier, Mr. Bennett, and he said we were most welcome in B.C."

"Then I would add my welcome to Mr. Bennett's" answered Mr. Strachan. "I represent the 62 per cent of the people of this province who support the government but who do not vote for it.

"This may seem a little hard to understand, but it is the situation in B.C."

A spokesman for the B.C. health department gave no explanation as to why the government had not entered a brief. Nor could he say if there would be one.

MARTIN AWAY

Health Minister Eric Martin was said to be "out of town" this morning and there was no government representative on hand when the hearing opened soon after 10 a.m.

B.C. is the first province that has failed to present a brief on the first day of commission sittings in the respective provinces.

The seven-member commission has now visited eight provinces.

KEENLEYSIDE:

'Economic Eccentricity' To Ban Export of Power

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, chairman of the British Columbia Power Commission, today described as "economic eccentricity" federal government policy which would forbid the sale of Columbia River power in the United States.

In his first hydro policy speech outside the province, he told a meeting of the Canadian club here he has not been able to find an economist or a serious-minded businessman who opposes such export.

Dr. Keenleyside is head of the crown agency which is responsible for the proposed $458,000,000 development. The federal government is opposed to the export of Columbia River power because it would foster industry in the U.S. which could be established in Canada.

"I know of no other country in which power exports are officialy prohibited on principle," he said. "Surely a policy that everywhere else is accepted as beneficial cannot reasonably be considered detrimental to Canada."

Dr. Keenleyside's address was delivered to the meeting by R. C. McMordie, manager of engineering and operations of the British Columbia Power Commission. Dr. Keenleyside is recuperating from a recent illness. He was discharged from hospital last week.

B.C. also wants to sell to the Americans its share of downstream benefits—power which would be returned to the province for controlling the flow on the upper reaches of the Columbia.

'WOULD HURT ECONOMY'

Dr. Keenleyside said B.C. policy of developing the Columbia and Peace rivers simultaneously could not be implemented without the sale of those benefits.

"Refusal to allow the sale of downstream benefits would do direct, gross and permanent injury to the economy of our province."

He said B.C., as soon as sales contracts can be negotiated with the U.S., should start on the Columbia project with a view to obtaining financial returns from it, possibly as early in 1965.

The policy concerning development of B.C.'s power resources was the most important single economic problem facing the country today.

From water which now is flowing to the seas, in 15 years Canada could return an annual

LAWYER GETS THE BIRD

Fowl Lovers Cry 'Foul'

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP)—Folks complained about the honking so the Humane Society picked up the culprits — a Canada goose and four wild ducks.

The fowls were jailed, so to speak, under the city leash law for pets.

A bird lover anonymously hired lawyer Ramon Poitevin to go to bat for the goose.

The lawyer told police his client's detention violated the U.S. Migratory Bird Act. They were ahead of him.

"Mr. Poitevin," he says they told him Saturday, "we're gonna loose your goose."

"That's ducky," he replied.

The goose soared off where the wild goose goes.

But his four feathered buddies are still jailed birds.

Said a sympathizer: "It's a fowl blow."

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

One sure sign that summer's on its way was the 5 p.m. ferry to Vancouver on Friday.

For the first time since last tourist season the boat left cars waiting behind, about 22 in all.

One fellow we know arrived at Swartz Bay 20 minutes before sailing time and was the fifth last to get on the Mv Victoria.

* * *

A happy young visitor to Victoria Friday was Robbie Straight, 14-year-old son of weekly newspaper publisher Hal Straight.

Attending the legislature for the first time to watch a day of the session, he emerged with a book autographed by the Premier.

Young Robbie listened to a speech by Mines Minister Kiernan which he said he enjoyed very much.

"Then Gordon Gibson started to speak," said Robbie, "but I couldn't figure out what he was saying so I left."

* * *

SAVERY

While in England, the landscape architect supervised the initial work for the casting of B.C. historical animals in bronze.

They will be used to decorate the fountain to be erected at the rear of the legislative buildings.

Heraldry, a form of sculpturing, includes the making of shields of knights and symbolic animal figures, and is being used extensively for decorating public buildings, churches, businesses and landscaping, Mr. Savery said.

* * *

This corner must confess to a definite feeling of climatic smugness.

After all, where else in this broad land would the whirr of power lawn mowers be heard on Feb. 18?

But then maybe all that lawn cutting on Sunday wasn't REALLY necessary. Maybe Victorians were merely indulging in a spot of spring training.

* * *

Half a million tourist promotion stickers — designed to be used on outgoing Vancouver Island mail — are still unclaimed at the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Tourist commissioner W. J. Hawkins had the stickers printed up and offered them to chambers of commerce throughout the Island for distribution. But there have been no takers so far.

The stickers are green and gold with a picture of Vancouver Island and Captain Discovery with the slogan "Visit Canada's Treasure Island."

* * *

Dr. Russell B, Robertson, who died here on Friday, at one time estimated that he had "presided" at the birth of 30 per cent of Victoria's population.

A doctor who was beloved by his many patients and respected by his colleagues, Dr. Robertson coaxed more than 15,000 babies into the world during his 38 years of practice in Victoria.

Dr. Robertson

Never a man to complain of hard work, he handled the bulk of births during the Second World War when Victoria was denuded of its medical men for overseas service. At that time there were only 30 doctors left here, and Dr. Robertson worked as many as 20 hours a day.

Pilferers of the Centennial sign from City Hall a few weeks ago, they have made another bid for the rogue's gallery by garnering the brass name plate from the Mv. Sidney.

It appeared this morning tacked to the wall of the college cafeteria.

Fleming Denies Pressure On Canada to Fix Dollar

OTTAWA (UPI) — Finance Minister Fleming today denied there was any indictment of Canada's exchange rate by the International Monetary Fund at its executive council meeting in Washington Friday.

Fleming told the Commons that Canada did not enter into any new commitments at the meeting and that no date had been set for the next session.

He said that while the IMF's ultimate goal was a fixed relationship between various currencies, Canada's present position was understood.

BUYING AND SELLING

Since mid-summer Canada has been keeping the value of its dollar below the U.S. dollar by buying and selling its holdings of U.S. dollars.

Opposition leader Pearson asked Fleming if it was not true that the IMF said its goal of fixed relationship could be achieved in a matter of months. The finance minister said this was not his understanding.

He also denied that the IMF had asked for periodic consultations with Canada over the rate.

He denied a charge by Paul Martin (L—Essex East) that Canada's policy had caused "disquietude" outside the country. He said Canada's policy was "clear, strong and firm" and was understood abroad.

Denying there was any "manipulation" of the exchange rate, Fleming said Canada's policy has not been "aggressive" or harmed any country.

New Zealand High Commissioner John Stanhope Reid arrives in Victoria Wednesday evening and will spend the next two days in a busy round of activities, starting with dinner that night at Government House.

LEADERSHIP DEFEAT LED HIM TO QUIT—STRACHAN

STRACHAN

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia leader of the NDP-CCF party said Sunday night the resignation of CCF-NDP House Leader Hazen Argue was prompted by his defeat in a battle for the national leadership of the party.

"It is a pity that personal defeat has led him to this step," said Robert Strachan, Leader of the Opposition in the B.C. legislature.

Mr. Argue was unsuccessful as candidate for the national leadership against former Saskatchewan Premier T. C. Douglas.

"We can safely say, and Hazen Argue well knows it, that trade union domination of the New Democratic Party is a myth," Mr. Strachan said in a statement also signed by Vancouver lawyer Tom Berger, B.C. president of the NDP.

"It is remarkable that he (Mr. Argue) was unable to cite any specific instance of trade union domination in his statement," they said.

. . . HAZEN ARGUE QUITS

Mr. Argue has represented the rural constituency of Assiniboia in Ottawa for the CCF since 1945. He was 24 when first elected; one of the youngest men ever sent to the Commons.

Mr. Argue said at the press conference:

"The action I take today I feel is not one of leaving the CCF because the CCF as we have known it has now ceased to exist. The CCF has passed into history. The course I followed today is in a real measure out of respect for the CCF. The ideal that was the CCF, integrity, honesty, justice, impelled me to take this step."

In the interview, he said:

"With my experience and knowledge of the House and agriculture in Western Canada and with a thorough knowledge of dangers within the NDP, I feel it is my duty to present the strong views I hold at and on every public platform."

Mr. Argue, who indulges in a club-swinging style of oratory in the political arena, said he considered his move for "many months" and even before last year's NDP founding convention in Ottawa.

Mr. Argue followed M. J. Coldwell as national CCF leader in 1960. He said he was active in the CCF since he was a CCF member of the student's parliament at the University of Saskatchewan in 1940.

Mr. Douglas, former CCF premier of Saskatchewan, said in a statement:

"Mr. Argue's decision to resign . . . comes as a great surprise and disappointment to all of us who have been his friends and supporters and have worked loyally on his behalf for so many years . . ."

In Toronto, William Dodge, executive vice-president of the CLC, said the resignation "is the crudest example of political opportunism in Canadian political history. His attack upon the labor movement, which he wooed from coast to coast during his campaign for leadership of the party, is pure hypocrisy."

Mr. Dodge said union contributions to the NDP are from Canadian sections of the unions and that the CCF received a considerable portion of its finances from the same source.

"It has never bothered him until now," Mr. Dodge said.

He said every great progressive movement has had its Judas Iscariots and that the NDP is no exception.

'WHO PROVIDES SILVER?'

"All we need to know now is, who is providing the 30 pieces of silver."

Heads of the three unions named by Mr. Argue are F. W. Dowling of Toronto, national director of the Packinghouse Workers; William Mahoney of Toronto, national director of the Steelworkers, and George Burt of Windsor, Ont., Canadian director of the UAW.

"Hazen Argue is acting like a spoiled schoolboy," said Mr. Burt today.

"Complete nonsense," said Mr. Dowling, "and nobody knows it better than Mr. Argue."

Eamon Park, assistant to Mr. Mahoney, said Mr. Argue "greatly distorted" organized labor's influence on the new party.

Mr. Burt, who said Mr. Argue "is mad because he didn't win the leadership vote," pointed out that the UAW has no representative on the NDP national council.

"The UAW tried to get its own representative elected on the executive council, but failed," he said. "The labor movement has only its proportionate share on the executive council and no more."

Mr. Dowling said he and Romeo Mathieu of Montreal are the only representatives of the Packinghouse Union on the NDP slate of officers. Both are vice-presidents.

"I didn't know we controlled the NDP," Mr. Dowling said.

Mr. Park said he and Bert Gargrave are the only Steelworkers on the 82-member national council, "and both of us have longer memberships in the CCF than Mr. Argue."

"The total number of union members on the national council of the NDP is exceedingly small and their influence has been greatly distorted by Mr. Argue's statement," he said.

M. J. Coldwell, long-time leader of the old CCF party, disputed today the contention of Mr. Argue that the New Democartic Party is controlled by labor.

Mr. Coldwell, who retired as national CCF leader in 1960 and was succeeded by Mr. Argue, said in a statement he was "astounded and grieved both by the defection of Mr. Argue and the manner of his leaving" the NDP.

"No one knows better than Mr. Argue that his charge that the New Democratic Party is controlled by organized labor is without foundation in fact," he said.

COURTED LEADERS

"During his campaign for the leadership of the party, he most assiduously courted the leaders of the labor movement among whom he had active supporters.

"As a member of the committee which organized the founding convention, prepared the draft constitution and the party program, he is aware that our labor colleagues were most insistent that every precaution should be taken to safeguard the party against any sort of sectional control or domination.

"He knows that this was done and that our farm supporters are both conscious and appreciative of the fact."

The agreement provides for the setting up of a temporary executive in Algeria representative of all Moslem communities including the National Liberation Front, the provisional government's military wing.

It was understood the executive would have a police force at its disposal and arrange for a self - determination referendum.

FARRES CHAIRMAN?

Usually reliable sources said the final agreement included the make-up and functions of a temporary executive to be set up in Algeria after the cease-fire. The executive would organize and supervise the referendum which would give the territory independence.

The sources said the Moslem chairman would be Abdel Hamad Farres, former president of the now-defunct Algerian consultative assembly.

Another member of the executive would be Jacques Chevallier, a European liberal and former mayor of Algiers.

MAY SEEK AID

Observers expected that the insurgents would ask for French economic aid after independence and that in return for this the French would obtain guarantees on the future of the Europeans in Algeria, leases for naval and air bases, meaintenance of French troops in the territory and joint exploitation of the Sahara Desert oil resources.

DEATH TOLL OF 253 MAY RISE

Germans Fight Flood Havoc

HAMBURG (AP)—North German coastal cities and towns, with wide areas still underwater, today struggled to bring some kind of order from the tragic havoc of weekend floods.

Flags flew at half-mast for a mounting death toll that stood at 253 according to official figures. It was expected to rise as rescue squads in rubber boats and motor launches combed the area for more flood victims.

In Hamburg, a city of 1,800,000 people, the toll stood at 108 this morning.

Food and drinking water was becoming a serious problem for tens of thousands who had spent their third night in flood-bound houses. Rescuers were giving priority to distributing emergency rations.

HELP RESTORE ORDER

Gas and electricity came on again for large parts of Hamburg after a two-day failure that left homes dark and cold during the gale-driven flood catastrophe. Factories and business firms were asked to use only half their normal requirement, however, to keep from overtaxing the still limited power supply.

Schools and the Hamburg university were closed until Wednesday and students joined the thousands of volunteers who turned out to help restore order and aid flood victims.

A priority job was repair of dike breaks that let flood waters sweep over low-lying coastal farmland. Thousands of German soldiers were assigned to the task.

Morning skies were heavily overcast and temperatures were slightly above freezing. Winds were mild and weather officials forecast no new flood danger, although a full moon tonight meant peak tides.

The port of Hamburg, one of Europe's largest, was reported back to normal operation by harbor officials. Ships were being loaded and unloaded and the harbor was able to handle all traffic, they added.

Most harbor warehouses were high enough to escape flood damage. There was some difficulty getting railroad cars to and from the port area.

First paper money used in Canada was made from playing cards marked for value and signed by the French government.

Holes in Treasury Pockets

IN HIS MOST RECENT ANNUAL report, Canada's auditor general, Mr. Maxwell Henderson, drew attention to the closer scrutiny he was giving the affairs of Crown corporations.

The news from Ottawa last week showed the need for such action. During the 1960-61 fiscal year the auditor general disclosed irregularities in some of the corporations' activities and one case of outright fraud.

Here, as in the operation of government departments, he reveals the manner in which substantial amounts of the taxpayers' money have leaked away, sometimes as the result of carelessness, sometimes as the result of dishonest action.

The auditor general has commented on several expenditures which cause him concern.

He notes, among other incidents, the loss of $44,600 worth of aviation gasoline piped into an RCAF storage tank in which the drainage cock was left open. Through it 167,000 gallons of fuel ran out onto the ground.

He cites the case of a corporal, aged 27, "described in the files as an 'administrative nuisance,' who had he been retired on a voluntary basis, as he had indicated he intended to do, would have received only a return of his pension contribution of $2,031." Instead, the report states, "he was retired compulsorily 'to promote economy and efficiency' three months before expiration of his engagement period and granted a life annuity having a total value of $27,000."

Under an appropriation providing for payments to Western grain producers "as a higher return for wheat used for human consumption," the auditor general says payments were made to producers irrespective of whether wheat, oats or barley had been sown or the fields left in summer fallow.

His report points out that no provision was made for higher costs of pension benefits payable as a result of salary and pay increases granted during the year (1960-61), and that those costs were estimated at more than $160,000,000. Also, the auditor found that numerous errors were made in the calculations of the Superannuation Branch of the Department of Finance once it had eliminated effective internal checks.

In detail the auditor general comments on specific matters—improvident pension arrangements for servicemen released for misconduct; lack of co-ordination among agencies involved in unemployment assistance to individuals; projects running vastly beyond cost estimates; claims uncollected from foreign airlines for "route facility fees"; loans to civil servants granted leave with half pay to attend university where, in some cases, the civil servants did not qualify for such benefits.

Special attention is drawn to the practice of giving members of the Armed Forces expense funds intended to help them to travel in their privately owned cars to places of presumed residence upon retirement. Suspected abuses of the practice indicate that "the payment from public funds takes on the characteristics of a special retirement gratuity, rather than providing assistance towards rehabilitation which presumably is the intention of the regulation," says the report.

These and a score of other incidents and practices are questioned by the auditor general. He has done a good job of exposing improprieties in the distribution of funds and incompetence in their management.

Had he not been effective, Canadians can be quite certain that more of their money would be wasted. He finds the holes in the federal government's pockets and the taps that are left running.

To Protect the Salmon

MR. DAN CAMPBELL OF Comox has given the Legislature some good advice on salmon conservation.

He warns the house that logging interests, turning to pulp harvest rather than saw logs, can be expected to move extensively into second growth timber in the years ahead.

This trend, he points out, could re-introduce the problem created by an older generation of timbermen who showed little regard for the future of their own industry or the preservation of resources. They cut and got out, and they frequently stripped stream banks and adjacent hillsides bare.

Once they had removed the cover provided by trees, the soil on hills frequently slipped down into the valleys in the natural process of erosion. Spring freshets swept it along the streams and no holding power was left in the ground to retain moisture. No sponge remained to be squeezed in such a way that a constant supply of water fed the creek or river. It became a raging torrent in times of spate, an almost dry bed late in the year.

Salmon were the victims. They lacked water to get up the stream in the early spawning season. Or, if heavy rains put water in the stream, quick run-off left their eggs without the continuous moisture they need to hatch.

The Bear River, emptying into Johnston Strait at the north end of Vancouver Island provides a classic example. A highly productive run of pink salmon was virtually eliminated there once the old loggers had stripped the hills.

It will not be enough, however, for those harvesting second growth pulpwood to leave only a margin of trees standing by river banks. Some growth will have to be retained to hold hillside soil. Unless humus is kept on the slopes, erosion will set in and humus will not be held unless root growth anchors it.

Mr. Campbell draws attention to these facts. He calls for action to prevent the errors made by old-time loggers. His words deserve close attention.

Only One Goal

THIS IS NATIONAL BROTHERhood Week. There are many "weeks" proclaimed, for one purpose or another. Few, if any, cater to a more basic or necessary human need than this one.

National Brotherhood Week is sponsored by the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews Inc. It is organized without regard to race, language or religion and seeks only one goal: "The Brotherhood of Man based on the Fatherhood of God."

At this time each year the effort is made to re-dedicate man to the ideals of respect for humans and for human rights, to seek practical ways in which these ideals may be promoted and to enlist the support of Canadians in the program.

At few stages in world history has there been a greater need for the inculcation of a sense of mankind's brotherhood. We have only recently passed through a nightmare of genocide from which the world still turns in bewilderment. Less bloody events, but nonetheless basic racial struggles, are still seen in today's news.

Brotherhood Week is an educational project—at the very least a time to think of the unity of man and the need for tolerance and understanding. Insofar as there may yet be those who do not see that need, the Week is an indispensable institution.

Ivan Looks at Golf

MAYBE IT'S ONLY PART OF the spring thaw, but Russians are being told that they should learn more about the great American pastimes of beizbol and golf.

Beizbol, it appears, is a development from that old Russian game Lapta, which is played on a square field rather than a diamond.

Golf, strangely enough, has not yet been given a Russian origin. The game, the Soviets are being told, started in Denmark.

The Encyclopedia Britannica says the origins of golf are lost in antiquity, but are usually ascribed to Scotland or Holland.

A little imagination can supply the missing links. Maybe a couple of Saxon torpedoes, Hengist and Horsa, imported to defend England against the Picts, had picked the game up in their earlier Scandinavian travels. The Picts doubtless caught golf from the Saxons, and as everyone knows, the Picts and Scots worked for the same syndicate—hence Scotland gets credit for the game.

Anyone else care to muscle in?

If Ever We Didn't Need a War, It's Now

THE news item says that a crowd of European women kicked and beat a Moslem woman to death in the street in Algiers. The latter was carrying a bomb towards a convent. In Toronto a gunman shot down a policeman who stopped him to check his truck. In New Orleans a while back a mob of women screamed and jeered at a little Negro girl going to school. In Vancouver a man shot another man in a hotel room. In Paris terrorists bombed a number of homes. In Leopoldville an American attache was shot dead in his home. In Toronto two gunmen fought it out in an alley; one died.

A country-wide organization is collecting funds to finance a study of the causes of war. Since the consequences of a war these days could be so catastrophic, a few million dollars spent on such an endeavor seems a logical sort of investment.

Perhaps nothing will come of the study—it wouldn't be the first logical project to fail. But perhaps something will come of it—and any reasonable gain would be cheap at the price.

No doubt the learned experts who will look into the causes of war will do considerable delving into international problems. They will see how today whole hemispheres are pitted against each other, how multi-national blocs stand opposed and tense, waiting for the first sign of a hostile act.

Then no doubt the students will dig into the national sphere and trace the growth of warlike feelings between peoples, the need of one people for another's land or food, the desire for national prestige, the urge to right wrongs that date back into the mists of history, the retaliation for insults whether fancied or real, the wish to impose political or religious beliefs on a neighbor for his own good; the fulfillment of claimed rights, historic duties, leadership complexes, white men's burdens, natural growth; and various military expressions of the "drang nach Osten," "window on Europe," "manifest destiny," "Herrenvolk," "thousand-year Reich," and other nationalistic compulsions.

But no doubt they will not stop at this level. They may penetrate to lesser theatres of struggle—to the civil wars which split countries and races, to the inter-city wars of old and the inter-family feuds of all ages.

And from there they may at last reach the ultimate stage—the basic man-murders-man and woman-kills-woman phenomenon.

Below this they cannot go; they will have split the atom, analyzed the proton and the electron, and reached the fundamental building blocks of conflict—one human ego pitted against another.

And there they will find the true cause of war.

The final report of the experts, if there ever can be a final one, may cost millions of dollars, and will probably entail millions of words. But in essence it will say pretty much what the 10-cent newspaper headline says: Man kills man.

The true return on that investment of millions will not lie in such a simple conclusion. It will lie in the success of the experts in making mankind realize the truth of the thesis, making humanity face the fact that the great dreams of conquest and destiny and power, no matter how they may be gilded and ornamented and disguised, all boil down to the simple propostion: Man kills man.

A group of human beings can rise to heights of conduct far above that of the average of its individual components; it can also sink far lower than the basest of them would ever do alone. But essentially it can only be composed of the sum of its human parts and if every individual behaved well the group could not do otherwise.

The slogan says: Look after the pennies and the dollars will look after themselves. It would also be true to say: Look after the individual's morals and the nation's morals will need no further attention.

Perhaps the new organization may be able to set in motion such a project and get some real results. After all, similar movements of one type or another have been attempted over the past million years or so. And if they were needed back, say, in the Early Stone Age, certainly the Early Nuclear Age is no time to stop trying.

FROM BONN

By RAWLE KNOX

Banged a Few Heads—and All Was Peace

NOW that surface amity is restored within the West German Government on the subject of talks with Moscow, it can be seen that the whole Mende affair was an expression of internal dissatisfaction, rather than a serious wrangle over foreign policy.

Dr. Erich Mende, the 41-year-old leader of the minority Free Democratic Party in the Government coalition, took the opportunity of Dr. Adenauer's second bout of 'flu this winter to suggest that there would be advantages in direct talks between Bonn and Moscow on some outstanding issues.

The moment was the more opportune because of the somewhat mysterious Russian note of December 27. (According to Dr. Adenauer it wasn't even addressed properly.)

The note was mild and reasonable. Russian reasonableness always seems to demoralize the Western Powers, and the West Germans proved no exception. The lobbies of the Bundestag hummed with the question: Should we try talking to the Russians or not?

Then the Chancellor recovered from his 'flu, reappeared in his Palais Schamburg office, banged a few heads together, and all was peace again.

Everything was not quite the same as before, however. The executive committee of Dr. Adenauer's Christian Democratic Union had adopted as its candidate for next party chairman Herr Josef-Hermann Dufhues, at present minister of the Interior in the North-Rhine Westphalia Government. Dr. Adenauer is party chairman as well as Chancellor.

The choice of the new candidate was said to be intended to relieve Dr. Adenauer of some of his administrative duties, but it is clear enough that he still has no wish to abandon any of them. Obviously this was yet another attempt within the party to loosen Dr. Adenauer's grip. It is highly unlikely to succeed, but it does indicate the constant restlessness of the younger members of the C.D.U.

Talking Alone

Dr. Mende's ideas on talking alone to the Russians might have got further—the Germans can be forgiven for believing they know more about their own affairs than do their allies—had it not been for the heavy-handed manoeuvring of Mr. Alexei Smirnov, the Russian ambassador in Bonn.

When he invited Dr. Mende and other Free Democrats to come and expand on their ideas to him, it was a bit too much for the Christian Democrats, and even seems to have alarmed Dr. Mende's own party.

As Der Mittag put it, two-way talks with the Russians are a "hobby" of Bonn politicians. Whenever talks between Moscow and the West break down there is always the itch (even Dr. Adenauer gets it sometimes) to try to settle some working agreement exclusively between West Germany and Russia.

With Dr. Adenauer, the itch never lasts long. He and his close advisers do not believe that Moscow will ever abandon East Germany, even if she has to throw Herr Ulbricht overboard. They are well aware that West Berlin can be saved only by its status as an occupied city—and that means negotiations between Russia and the three other occupying powers.

Herr Ulbricht's wall has pathetically shown up the total unreality of West Berlin's economics. The Bonn government is being asked for further subsidies to keep down the air fares on routes in and out of Berlin, which are flown by American, French and British airlines.

The sumptuous but empty Berlin Hilton Hotel is running special My Fair Lady trips from West Germany ("See the show, spend a night in luxury, at cut rates"). Even so the Hilton, like other West Berlin hotels, is asking for a government subsidy.

It is a sad truth that only the allies can save West Berlin. Bonn politicians may express their irritation with Dr. Adenauer by hinting that they could manage foreign affairs better than he, but West Germany's foreign affairs—on the issues so vital to her—are still not in her own hands.

Why Ship It Out?

Two items one in Feb. 12 issue, page 14 and another the next day on page 3, re the extent of unemployment, do not appeare to synchronize, which would certainly indicate some one is asleep at the switch.

The first item mentions the Noranda open pit mine having a 21 acres site of iron ore that is estimated at 9,000,000 tons contracted to Japan by a Canadian company.

I am led to believe we have Japanese there to oversee shipments, etc.

Item two mentions Jan. 1962 unemployment figure at 545,000 and I fully realize that many in that unemployment category would not be fitted for mining or other primary production. Yet, the same attitude predominates, of shipping out ore, in the East, Northern Ontario and Quebec, when it should be milled here.

To me, we seem to be letting outsiders reap the benefit of our rich resources.

Consensus At the Top

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Alsop

THE crucial decision to make a series of American nuclear tests in the atmosphere will be announced as soon as the military-scientific team can complete its preparations for the tests. The first result, no doubt, will be violent, world-wide commotion. But the most interesting aspect of this long-expected decision is not the loud row it will cause. What is most interesting is the quiet, hardly-noticed governmental process which the decision reveals.

In its first year, the Kennedy administration permitted, and originally even encouraged a bewildering variety of voices and viewpoints.

At first, there was no identifiable consensus. You could not point to any solid core of higher policy-makers with common views about where to go and how to get there.

But the beginning of a consensus can now be spotted rather easily, in the background of the difficult decision on atmospheric nuclear testing.

Those who opposed such tests were a section of the leading scientists, who deeply fear acceleration of the arms race; and the administration's ultra-UN-minded policy-makers headed by Adlai Stevenson, who naturally fear a row in the United Nations General Assembly. These two groups have strong adherents on the White House staff and in the state department.

Furthermore, they had some good arguments on their side. In one of the rare sub-zero moments of the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting at Vienna, Nikita S. Khrushchev himself presented the opponents of atmospheric testing with the best argument of all.

Khrushchev almost plaintively complained to the President that when the U.S. spent a lot of money on weapons development, the Russian military men and scientists would not let him alone until he had given them funds for the same purposes.

Rising Spiral

If the U.S.S.R. therefore made progress, Khrushchev continued, the American military men and scientists no doubt rushed to the White House to demand even larger appropriations. And if these were granted, he concluded, the Russian military men and scientists were back in the Kremlin the next morning, again demanding larger outlays and greater efforts.

Khrushchev's complaint impressed President Kennedy, as it had impressed President Eisenhower at Camp David. But the extremely articulate and active men who tried to stop renewed atmospheric testing still got nowhere, despite their White House and state department vantage points. They ran head-on, in fact, into the new consensus, which was against them.

Much has been made of CIA director John A. McCone's strong views about the need to renew atmospheric testing. But the opinion of the able CIA director quite certainly counted for less than the advice given the President by the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, Dr. Glenn Seaborg.

And even Dr. Seaborg's advice probably carried less weight than the firm agreement between Secretary of Defence Robert McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, that the national security demanded another series of atmospheric nuclear tests.

The Rusk-McNamara alliance, which has also manifested itself on several other occasions, is likely to prove an exceedingly important phenomenon.

If the alliance holds, it will surely become the crystallizing point for a dominant, inner group of policy-makers with a common viewpoint—the kind of core-group that played such a vital role in Roosevelt's most critical years, from 1939 to Pearl Harbor, and in the remarkably creative years of the first Truman administration as well.

Crudely Defined

Viewpoints are more easily defined by events than in words. But the cold-war viewpoint of Rusk and McNamara can be at least crudely defined as hard-boiled but exceedingly pragmatic, with no crusading overtones. It is no accident that this is also the best definition of President Kennedy's viewpoint.

The increasing authority and assurance of the Secretary of State must in fact be traced, in large part, to Rusk's gradual discovery that he and the President see most problems in pretty much the same way.

With the President, the Secretary of State, and the Secretary of Defence all on the hard-boiled but pragmatic side, this is plainly the dominant viewpoint in Washington today.

But equally plainly, the dialogue within the administration will continue, between the hard-boiled pragmatists and those who share the Stevensonian, world opinion-minded, UN-minded viewpoint—who do not at all like the label of soft-boiled.

Yet there is all the difference in the world between this kind of dialogue, which can be fruitful, and the Tower of Babel discussion of policy, which marked the early period of the Kennedy administration.

A successful administration does not need unanimity; it merely needs the same sense of clear direction that can only exist if there is a well-understood dominant viewpoint. That is what is coming into being now.

OVERDONE?

Now that I live in London, I've been collecting, as it were, some of the chic, "blue-rinse" ladies who haunt our more expensive stores. I caught two of them the other day, wandering happily from department to department. "Where are you going now?" asked one, to which the other replied, "I'm going straight into the casseroles, and I may linger."

YOUR HEALTH By DR. WALTER ALVAREZ

Snake Venom Used

Today, a correspondent writes to say he knows of someone who once, when seriously ill, was bitten by a rattlesnake and recovered—not only from the bite but from his disease. The writer now wonders if we doctors have ever used snake venom as a medicine.

Alvarez

Yes, we have; snake venom has been used for many years in the treatment of a number of conditions, and sometimes it helps. I always have read widely in the history of medicine, and hence I always have been much interested in the origins of many of our drugs.

I often have wondered how it came about that naked savages in the forests of the world discovered the medicinal value of certain plants. I suspect that many such observations were made during times of terrible famine when, in their great hunger, the people ate anything that looked at all edible. In South America, the savages found that the bark of a certain tree cured malaria, while part of another plant cured a diarrhea that is due to amebiasis.

Leaves of the coca plant, when chewed, lessened the distress felt by porters who carried loads up the mountain trails. Today, we get from coca leaves the great pain-reliever, cocaine. In Asia, a part of a certain tree was found to help people with leprosy. In England, an old woman found that she could greatly help many people with heart disease by making a medicine out of the ordinary foxglove that grows in gardens.

A physician named Withering, hearing of her many cures, got from her the formula of the herb tea that she was using. He it was who then introduced into medicine the valuable drug, digitalis, which, ever since, has been used by physicians all over the world.

A few years ago, a good tranquilizer was found being used by the people in India. I imagine that, by now, practically all of the drugs that were ever used by old herb doctors in every part of the world have been studied and tested for what is called therapeutic activity, or the ability to cure a disease or relieve a symptom.

We use in modern medicine, even the curare or arrow poison that we got originally from the Indians in Brazil. We use it to relax the abdominal muscles during surgery.

* * *

So many persons write me saying that they have an impairment of vision that has puzzled their eye man and has not been relieved by new glasses, that it might be well to note here a letter to the Journal of the American Medical Association from Dr. Leo J. Mayer of Jackson, Miss., who says that, not infrequently, patients taking a certain tranquilizer have a loss of sharp vision for near objects.

We doctors all know that persons taking the drug, belladonna, perhaps for a mucous colitis, can have trouble focussing their eyes. Now Dr. Mayer says that persons taking diethylstilbestrol "shots," in perhaps too large a dosage, for the menopause or the treatment of prostatic cancer, also can have trouble bringing near objects, like newsprint, into focus.

HOME GARDEN By HILDA BEASTALL

The gardeners of Victoria, and their friends and neighbors in the adjoining municipalities, could easily put on a centennial display to delight all who see it.

While some might want to use only the centennial colors of blue and gold, we are not limited to these for a garden display which will be eye-catching to visitors.

Flowering annuals come to mind as the means of producing color in quantity most quickly. With these, even a newly-acquired bare property can be made into an attractive summer scene. Also, the tenants of rented houses could do much to improve their surroundings by the use of even $2 or $3 worth of annuals bought in April or May.

The ground for these temporary plantings needs to be dug over to break up large clumps of earth and to remove debris and stones. Just before planting, a little balanced fertilizer raked into the top two inches will take care of any lack of fertility, and aid the young plants in getting a quick start in their new quarters.

In more permanent gardens, the owners will want a special dress-up this summer, and by adding some established plants of such things as delphiniums, phlox, gaillardias and veronicas, a picture can be produced for this year as well as many years to come.

The planting of a centennial shrub or tree to mark the city of Victoria's 100th birthday is a project worthy of the attention of all home owners, and especially the parents of young children.

Effects can be obtained by planning now, and following through with the arrangement of plants which are selected.

We shall have more to say on centennial gardens a little later.

ADVERTISER 'PRESSURE' DENIED

TORONTO (CP)—Pressures on the press are not always what the layman supposes them to be, Stuart Keate, publisher of The Victoria Times, said Saturday in an address to the winter conference of the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs.

"For instance," Mr. Keate said, "we hear a great deal about pressures from big advertisers but in my experience this charge is absolutely without validity.

"Advertisers, over the years, have come to recognize and respect the division between news and advertising columns; I know of no Canadian daily in which it is possible to buy space in the news pages."

CD CONTROL

Wurtele Elected

Policy-forming representatives for Victoria civil defence target area named Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele their chairman at an organizational meeting last week.

As head of the control committee, representing all organized and unorganized areas south of Chemainus and Port Renfrew, he will call meetings about twice a year, or when necessary, to review the work of the permanent planning committee.

The latter comprises all civil defence officers and army representatives within the target area, and will be broken down into sub-committees.

It is headed by area co-ordinator W. W. Mathers with his deputy, J. D. Somerville, as vice-chairman.

DOVE-TAILED

Both are ex-officio members of the control committee with Lieut.-Col. John Cook, army commander of the target area. Col. Cook's second in command, Major Alan Harbord-Harbord, will serve on the planning committee.

"Anything we do the army is in on," Mr. Mathers said, explaining that civil and army efforts are dove-tailed.

Local and area planning goes on continuously, he said.

'ALL RIGHT, KILL ME' CAPTAIN TELLS GUNMEN

By DAVE OANCIA

ALGIERS (CP)—Four gun-brandishing members of the secret army marched boldly into an Algiers hotel during the weekend and gave foreign correspondents a taste of terrorist methods.

The four strode into the mahogany-panelled Cintra Bar of the Aleppi Hotel and delivered an ultimatum to a chunky, grey-haired French army captain who was sitting alone.

They said their mission was to recruit the captain for the right-wing Secret Army Organization. As correspondents watched, they crowded round the captain in a scene straight out of some melodramatic cowboy film.

"All right, kill me," shouted the captain, opening his army jacket.

"I am unarmed—go ahead and shoot. You've said four times you wanted to do it."

No shots were fired. At one point the two youngest intruders, both apparently local residents, began to weep.

The group was led by a man wearing the rosette of the Legion of Honor. Second in command was a German former member of the Foreign Legion, probably a deserter.

WILL DIE FOR CAUSE

"We are prepared to die to keep Algeria French," one of the younger ones said. "We're trying to prevent communism from taking over Africa."

The argument lasted from shortly before midnight Saturday until 1.30 a.m. Before leaving, the German came over to me and said he had orders to shoot the captain, but he thought he would give him another 24 hours to make up his mind.

It was the first time the secret army has ventured openly into the Aleppi, an exclusive waterfront hotel. Leading restaurants, hotels and movie houses generally escape the attention of the secret army through discreet payment to secret army "tax-collectors."

PM, Aides Test Strategy For Election on Students

By RON LEBEL

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker and nearly half his cabinet took turns defending the government's record and attacking the Liberals before a group of 300 university students over the weekend.

Officially it was the 14th annual meeting of the Progressive Conservative Student Federation, but it was more like a "dry run" of the government's campaign to re-election.

Referring often to the present as "the eve of an election," the government leaders proudly reviewed their accomplishments since taking office in 1957.

They tried out new slogans, resurrected Sir John A. Macdonald's historic National Policy, distributed new election posters and asked for the students' assistance in active campaigning.

The prime minister hinted that the election would not come until the end of the academic year, saying the students would not have to campaign during their exams.

Mr. Diefenbaker received enthusiastic ovations for his denunciation of the Liberals as unprincipled opportunists "wailing and gnashing their teeth over any advance that takes place in the country."

The government's record was described at the conference as a return to the national policy that had helped build Canada into a self-governing, self-sufficient nation in the 50 years following Confederation.

The policy has been updated to apply to modern times, the ministers said, but its basic aims are still the same: national unity, national identity and national development.

Labor Minister Starr set the theme when he said the government has "licked" the recession. With unemployment declining, production and trade increasing, Canada was moving toward its highest level of prosperity in history.

Nine cabinet members in all addressed the students, including three who were not on the program. Amid all the campaign oratory, convention organizers cancelled executive reports and debate on grass-roots resolutions.

MRS. KHRUSHCHEV . . . "not our fault"

'SINK A-BOMBS IN SEA'

K's Wife Appeals To U.S. Women

LONDON (Reuters) — Mrs. Nina Khrushchev Sunday night broadcast an appeal for friendship to the women of the United States.

Speaking in English, the wife of the Soviet premier said "we do not want to fight, but we want to be friends with you."

Her speech was broadcast over the North American service of Moscow radio and was scheduled to be repeated three times.

She said the Soviet Union would like to have the "friendly understanding" with the United States that existed during the time of late president Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"But unfortunately the danger is now great," she said. "Many women in America realize this."

"Let us sink atom bombs, along with other weapons in the deepest part of the ocean and live without weapons as good neighbors," Mrs. Khrushchev said.

ANSWERS LETTERS

This was her answer to the letters she had received from women of the United States "asking how to prevent war and preserve peace."

In some of the letters, she said, "some American women reproached the Soviet Union for having restarted nuclear tests."

But she said Russia was aware of the danger of nuclear tests and had repeatedly urged a ban on them along with the destruction of all nuclear weapons.

"It is not the fault of our country if the nuclear tests are being resumed," she said.

The three-power nuclear test ban talks in Geneva were broken off by the Western powers, she declared.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Nationalization Hint Felt

Extraneous affairs were felt on Wall Street and on the two Montreal exchanges today.

At the latter, where utilities were generally lower, Quebec Power and Shawnigan both took losses after being the target of a nationalization program for Quebec utilities proposed last week by Resources Minister Levesque.

Brazil's expropriation of the subsidiary of Internation Telephony was responsible for a loss of about three points in parent company's share.

In other sections trading was sluggish with fractional gains and losses being recorded.

AT TORONTO Abitibi, Canada Cement, Interprovincial Pipe Line and Canada Packers B all advanced in a ⅛ to ¾ range, while Algoma Steel added ⅛, Argus Corporation ¼ and Moore Corporation ⅝.

Among issues showing losses were Dominion Bridge, down ⅝, Steel Company of Canada, off ⅛, Shawinigan, off ½ and Bell Telephone off ¼.

Base metals were strengthened by fractional gains while speculatives were weaker with Lake Dufault down 25 cents to $6.05 and Northgate off 10 cents at $4.90.

AT MONTREAL prices were mixed in active trading.

Utilities were lower. Quebec Power dropped 1½ to 32 and Shawinigan eased ½ to 22½. Both companies are targets of a nationalization program for Quebec utilities proposed by the Resources Minister Levesque last week.

In mines, Mount Pleasant was ahead 17 cents at $2.65 and New West Amulet added five cents to 26 cents.

Bailey-Selburn A eased ⅛ to 10⅝ among Western oils.

AT NEW YORK business moved unevenly in slack trading late this afternoon.

Among Canadian issues, McIntyre Porcupine rose ¾ while Hudson Bay Mining gained ¼. Granby Mining, Distillers Seagrams and Canadian Pacific each added ⅛. International Nickel lost ¼.

Prices on the American Exchange were mixed after an early rise.

AT LONDON no definite trend was established.

Initial gains in industrials were not always held. Imperial Chemicals lost ground. Steels were firm and there were some bright spots in engineering shares. Tobacco shares opened firm.

Gold shares were quiet. Tin shares trended harder but coppers eased.

Oil shares occasionally were better.

AT VANCOUVER trading was moderate with prices holding during the morning. Charter moved at $1.67; Bethlehem Copper up to $2.09; Caribou traded at $1.29; Friday Mines went at 28; Kamloops Copper was at 38; Peel at 55; Western Mines moved with a high of $1.55; Granduc moved at $3.70, and Canadian Collieries sold at $7.37½.

St. Joseph's Workers Join Association

Members of St. Joseph's Hospital Employees' Association have joined the 10,000-member B.C. Hospital Employees' Union, an executive member confirmed today.

The move, noted in a department of labor certifiction of changed status, leaves only Royal Jubilee Hospital among the major civic hospitals on Vancouver Island with staff organized on a purely local level.

St. Joseph's 352 staff members — excluding registered nurses—constitute Local 180 of the Hospital Employees' Union, an affiliate of the all-Canadian National Union of Public Employees.

They make up one of the largest unions in the province.

MORE EXPECTED

Before the move, membership stood at 400, but the executive expects that many of the present non-members will join the union, if only as associates. Many of them are in borderline categories.

Secretary Leslie Spencer said the move was made partly to avoid embarrassment to the employees during contractual negotiations.

"It takes the onus off employees," he said, "and places it on an outsider who will act on our behalf."

Preparations are under way now to open 1962 contract negotiations, for which provincial union secretary William Black will meet with the local executive next week.

It will be recommended to the membership that the present executive, headed by president A. G. Linders, be kept in office another year to maintain continuity in the changeover.

FARM INCOME 5-YEAR LOW FROM DROUGHT

OTTAWA (CP)—Estimated total farm net income for 1961 is $1,006,000,000, lowest since 1957 and some 24 per cent down from the revised 1960 estimate of $1,319,600,000 in 1960, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today.

Farm operating expenses played a part by continuing to rise, but the bureau said the Prairie drought loss in grains—plus reduced farm grain supplies—was mainly responsible for the big drop from 1960.

TODAY'S GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prices showed a generally hesitant trend towards the close of dull trading today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Oats and barley reflected the lower Chicago level with selling coming mainly from United States sources. Occasional domestic support was shown however in connection with feed supplies.

The rye market followed an erratic trend in line with Chicago quotations.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: Japan 530,000 bushels, Austria 530,000 bushels, West Germany 710,000 bushels, United Kingdom 475,000 bushels, Ireland 240,000 bushels, Belgium 250,000 bushels.

Class two, IWA and domestic wheat prices, basis Lakehead were all down ¼ from Friday's close.

BUT REPRISALS FEARED

Guiana Riots, Strike Halted

GEORGETOWN (AP) — An uncertain peace settled on this British Guiana capital today after a siege of rioting, looting and burning.

Labor leaders called off their general strike against leftist Premier Cheddi Jagan but his East Indian followers were reported plotting reprisals in the hinterlands.

British armed forces, hurriedly flown from Jamaica and London on appeal from Jagan, still were braced for trouble although fire-blackened Georgetown was quiet.

British officials said Sunday night more troops were due in today to reinforce those that arrived Friday and Saturday.

The situation remained tense until it could be determined whether workers would obey their union leaders' call to return to their jobs.

Racial tensions between Negroes and East Indians appeared to run high after rioting Negro mobs burned one-half square mile of Georgetown's business centre and its East Indian stores last Friday. The rioting left six dead, scores injured and $11,000,000 property damage.

Jagan, an East Indian, gets most of his support from East Indian farmers and workers outside Georgetown. Negroes generally support Forbes Burnham, leader of the People's National Congress party whom Jagan defeated in last August's election.

Tensions relaxed somewhat Sunday night, however, with the announcement of labor leaders that they had called off their week-long strike.

The back-to-work call came after the union leaders met three and a half hours with Jagan. One negotiator said Jagan agreed to a series of demands.

A radio announcement said the unions, grouping civil servants, government employees and primary schoolteachers, asked them to return to work with the Trade Union Council recommending its 12,000 strikers also resume work.

The settlement was reported as housewives complained bitterly over shortage of food and motorists found gasoline pumps empty at the filling stations.

Police said they arrested 700 persons on suspicion of looting everything from bolts of cloth to refrigerators — even one piano.

Regier Denies Plug Of Political Views

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (CP) — Erhart Regier, socialist member of the Canadian House of Commons, said Sunday he is not in British Guiana to advocate any particular economic or political views.

He was replying to an attack on him in an open letter in the Georgetown Sunday Chronicle, signed by James Isaac Ramphal, recently-retired labor commissioner for British Guiana.

Saturday, Mr. Regier had said opposition forces in the Guianese government "acted very childishly" in inciting the people of Georgetown to conduct mass demonstrations against premier Cheddi Jagan's left-wing government.

Mr. Regier, the New Democratic Party's financial critic and Commons member for Burnaby-Coquitlam, is visiting British Guiana at the invitation of Mr. Jagan to study ways in which Canada could aid the development of the British colony.

Mr. Regier declared that five out of six people in the colony accepted Premier Jagan's austerity budget. Protest demonstrations against it led to a general strike, now in its sixth day, and four days of rioting and looting which is just being put down by British troops.

He also said Premier Jagan had been lenient toward the opposition actions, which he said could be considered in Canada as "disloyal."

In the letter, Mr. Ramphal urged Mr. Regier "not to abuse Guianese hospitality and generosity and not tempt them."

Mr. Regier said he regretted that his presence in British Guiana had met with Mr. Ramphal's disfavor but he had come in response to an appeal by British Guiana for foreigners to come and see how best they could help the country.

He said he would consider it the height of imprudence if anyone would come to any country to advocate any particular economic or political views.

gross income of at least $100,000,000.

Dr. Keenleyside said the National Energy Board permits the sale abroad of non-renewable resources of oil, gas, coal and wood but it will not allow the temporary sale of a perpetual resource such as water power.

"The extreme example of this economic eccentricity is the argument that is it appropriate to let the Columbia water run at waste into the U.S. but that it is somehow immoral or unpatriotic to control and sell that water to the U.S. at a most handsome profit."

He said B.C. should develop the Peace River with a view to lessening the imbalance created by the present concentration of industry and population in the south-west corner of the province.

To achieve maximum benefits this should be followed by construction of a grid which would connect all utilities in the province, the prairie provinces and the U.S.

"The integration of existing and new generating plants and main transmission lines to ensure optimum use of resources is one of the most important tasks facing the two public utilities."

He was referring to BCPC and B.C. Electric Company, which was taken over by the government last August.

Dr. Keenleyside, former director of the United Nations technical assistance organization, suggested that B.C. plan its power production to keep slightly ahead of, demands. It would be a lure to industry, commerce and population.

However, he said the hydro picture in the province is shadowed by the imminence of nuclear power. It was widely agreed, said Dr. Keenleyside, that within the next 15-30 years the cost of nuclear energy is almost certain to become so low as to make new hydro plants uneconomic.

"If this is true the importance of the earliest possible development of all our hydro potential in B.C. becomes vividly apparent."

He said if B.C. does not undertake immediate development power resources may be lost for all time. If development keeps pace with the demand the costs of power would be constant during the life of the projects, perhaps 100-200 years.

Youths Praised For Arrest Of Burglar

NANAIMO—Ralph Richard Caldwell, a navy cook, and subject of a citizen's arrest, was remanded here for sentence Saturday after pleading guilty to two charges of breaking and entering.

He was apprehended by two 17-year-old boys, Gerald Ward and Lynn Morrison, who were chatting on Millstone Street when they heard the sound of breaking glass.

Seeing a man who ran away when they approached him, they caught him and held him until police arrived.

They were complimented by Staff Sgt. Earl Sarsiat, RCMP, for a "good job."

"A citizen's arrest is made under the full protection of the law as far as criminal or civil action is concerned," he said.

Doctor, 91, Laid to Rest

Funeral services were conducted today in McCall's chapel for 91-year-old Dr. William Hackney who died Friday at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The ear, nose and throat specialist was a member of the Calgary Rotary Club for 43 years.

A youth charged with breaking and entering and auto theft Friday chose trial by a judge without a jury.

Appearing in city police court after being transferred from juvenile court, Richard Heimbecker, 16, 729 Latoria, is accused with stealing a car from Royal Auto Sales, 1116 Yates Street, on Jan. 20.

Preliminary hearing will begin Friday.

BODY OF FLIER FOUND AFTER 29 YEARS

Mummified by Sands of Sahara

ALGIERS (Reuters). — The body of a British Air Force pilot and his plane have been found preserved in the sands of the Sahara after 29 years, French military authorities said Sunday.

The discovery was made last Monday by a camel corps patrol in an area known as "the land of the thirsty," south of what now is the French nuclear base at Reggan.

The body of William Newton of Birmingham was found nearly perfectly preserved under the hot sands. Nearby was his de Havilland biplane, the tracks it made while landing still faintly visible. About 50 gallons of gasoline still were in its tanks.

A log kept by the pilot helped military authorities establish what happened.

Newton, they said, was on a flight from Barcelona to Algiers April 19, 1933, when he decided to survey the "land of the thirsty." For some reason he decided to land in the desert.

His plane came down and rolled along the sand for about 30 yards until its wheels got stuck and the aircraft overturned. Injured in the face, Newton crawled out of his aircraft and waited in the shade of one of its wings for help to arrive.

For seven days he continued to wait in vain, writing notes until he ran out of hope.

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Brent Robbins, age 9, of Salt Lake City, Utah, for his question:

Is It True That a Bee Dies After She Stings?

One of Andy's helpers is Dr. Adrian Wenner, who knows a great deal about bees. Not so long ago, even the experts were not sure that the busy little honeybee is able to hear. Dr. Wenner has found that the bee can hear, though her ears are not at all like ours. Science is learning a whole lot of other new things about the busy honeybee and, it seems, her strange world is very different from what we thought it was.

The furry bee that buzzes around the garden is a worker bee and her whole life is spent in doing chores. During the busy summer season, when the world is bright with flowers, a honeybee can work herself to death in about six weeks. She feeds and tends the eggs and baby grubs. She makes wax and uses it to build honeycombs, she gathers nectar and uses it to make honey. She guards and repairs the hive and some of her time is spent waiting on her majesty, the queen mother.

With all these chores, the busy little bee has just one aim in life. Everything she does is to help the colony or family of bees that live together in the hive. And she will defend that hive with her life. She is, of course, fitted with a stinger which is a very powerful weapon to be used against enemies which threaten her beloved hive.

The sting is buried in the tail end of her furry tummy. The poison or venom is made in special glands and one drop of it is as strong as several drops of rattlesnake poison. However, she cannot do as much harm as a rattler because she cannot make a whole drop of her powerful poison. A supply of this venom is kept in a tiny, cone-shaped sac.

Her stinger is a thorny needle with tiny barbs or prickles sprouting along the sides. The centre of the needle is hollow. The stinger and the poison sac are connected by a wad of powerful muscles.

Stinger Injects Poison

When the bee pierces her stinger into an enemy, these muscles pump venom into the stinger. The stinger works like a hypodermic needle and injects the poison into the unlucky enemy.

The little bee, however, is even more unlucky, for rarely if ever does she escape with her life. The stinger, remember, is fringed with tiny barbs. They drive the stinger deeper and deeper into the enemy, but they make it almost impossible for the bee to pull out her stinger when she wants to fly away. She pulls and pulls, and is almost always hopelessly damaged. Sometimes she leaves the stinger, its muscles and maybe its poison sac in the wound. But in any case she is so badly damaged that she flies away only to die.

The bee will attack with her stinger when she is threatened, or even when she just thinks she is threatened. When the hive is threatened, she goes on the warpath with some of her angry sisters. A beekeeper may protect himself from his angry pets with special clothing or he may calm the bees with smoke. The bees also will remain calm when they hear a sound wave that is about one and one-half octaves higher than the middle C note on a piano.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Steve Carstensen, age 11, of Visalia, Calif., for his question:

What is the safflower plant?

The safflower started out as a weed and graduated to a valuable cultivated crop plant. It is a member of the daisy plant family and somewhat resembles a tall thistle. The plant may be three feet tall and in high summer its spikes are topped with fuzzy flowers ranging from white to ruby red. For centuries the safflower was grown for its juices which yield a red dye. It was cultivated in Asia, Africa and Europe, and now finds a home in the western part of North America.

Nowadays, the value of the safflower is in its seeds. They yield a very pure oil which many experts claim to be a lot better for us than butter fats. Certain cooking oils and margarines are made from safflower oil. Meal for cattle feed also is made from the rich seeds of the safflower.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Around Kookie Corners, which is that mad Broadway area at 52nd and 53rd Streets, you might some day see beautiful Carol Lawrence walking with a guy who sudenly falls flat on his face.

Then you would see and hear Carol Lawrence burst into laughter—outlaughed only by the guy who has just flopped.

The fellow would be actor-singer-dancer Larry Kert. He would rather take prattfalls than appear in the B'way show "A Family Affair," or even in "West Side Story," in which he created the part of Tony.

"I just love to take prattfalls," Larry (the brother of Anita Ellis) told me the other day at the Cordial, one of the restaurants of Kooksville. "I break myself up at it.

"The other night I saw a woman coming along with two poodles. Right in front of the Warwick, as I was getting out of a cab, loaded down with bundles, I took a prattfall just in front of the woman. The bundles went flying — and those two poodles almost pulled the woman off her feet when they heard me crash!"

SHE'S TOUGH

Carol Lawrence is a great audience for Larry—"Carol can do them, too; she's a toughie," he says admiringly.

Chita Rivera's another prattfall fancier. She loves to go to a party with Larry and be near when he purposely scares the daylights out of the hostess by suddenly falling downstairs.

It's especially effective because Larry instead of hobbling away with broken bones, picks himself up and screams with laughter.

Larry's been a stunt man and prattfaller since he was 13.

"My mother, who was a real pusher, had taken me to the movie studio in Hollywood to try to get me a job. They were looking for somebody to take a fall of about 12 feet through a canvas ship deck, as a stunt boy for Darryl Hickman.

"My mother spoke up, 'My son can do it, my son can do it!' She didn't care if a broke my neck."

Actually, Lary'd been a tumbler from the age of 7, and was already an accomplished gymnast, so it wasn't so difficult. Now that he's a Broadway actor, the prattfalling is just a hobby.

"The trick is to fall so you hit your rump and avoid hitting your spine," he explained to me.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP: Clifton Webb made the great sacrifice—he shaved off his mustache for "Satan Never Sleeps". . . Veteran booking agent Charley Rapp, predicts (in his bio, "Ten Percent of My Life") that the next trend'll be Chinese comics.

Maurice Chevalier was asked during the TV-filming of the Lerner-Loew show how Frenchmen got their reputation as great lovers. He explained, "Because they have such good press agents—the French women." . . . Ernie Adler's making three wigs for Monroe. . . Yul Brynner's "Taras Bulba" contract has an unusual clause—they can't change the title of the film. . . Teresa Brewer got a movie bid (from Paramount producer Gant Gaither.)

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Bud Furillo tells of the skier, hung over from an all-night party, who returned from the slopes, complaining: "I can't stand the noise these skis make."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The Chinese believe that after death they go to live with their ancestors. A lot of our young married couples don't wait that long.

EARL'S PEARLS: Groucho Marx said it: "He who laughs last usually has a tooth missing.

"I used to end my letters," writes Leo Guild,, "with 'I hope this finds you well.' The way mail service has been lately, I hope this letter just finds you." . . . That's earl, brother.

HARD LESSON

Enough To Make A Cop Cry

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP)—Forty policemen were reduced to tears in a series of mishaps during a practice session.

One student fired a gas bullet into a demonstration house filled with other pupils. Another gassed his fellows when he dropped a projectile outside the house.

The sergeant demonstrating the effectiveness of a gas mask was overcome when he couldn't get it to work.

A patrolman tried to extinguish a fuming gas grenade by tossing it into a puddle of water. It boiled up more violently.

The demonstration house caught fire from a misfired shell.

And two gas masks were damaged when another officer tried to skip a projectile off the ground. It landed in the gas mask box.

The instructor called the class a success. He said the officers learned what tear gas weapons could do.

COLLECTS OWN LIFE INSURANCE

WAMEGO, Kan. (AP) — Harry R. Knostman, 96, accepted a cheque for $1,136.47 Friday, becoming one of the few men fortunate enough to collect his own life insurance.

An agent of the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company said Knotsman was the first man to beat their actuarial calculations in 75 years. The cheque represented the face value of a $1,000 policy, plus interest. Knotsman took out a policy in 1899 and paid the last premium in 1919.

UPHILL'S FIVE SONS PALLBEARERS

One-Man Political Party Laid to Rest on Thursday

Five sons will bear Tom Uphill to rest Thursday in Fernie, the town he represented as an independent Labor member of the B.C. legislature for 40 years, longer than any man had served a Parliament in the Commonwealth.

Tom, 87, died in his sleep at his daughter's home in Burnaby, Saturday. He had a heart attack after an eye operation three months ago.

A sort of one-man political party, he retired officially from politics in 1960, undefeated holder of Fernie's seat in the legislature since 1920.

But that didn't stop him from attending the two 1961 sessions, in January and August, as a spectator.

RESTING UP

In fact, he liked his many friends at the buildings to believe he was just resting up for the next provincial election when he would run again.

Tom was not only the longest serving B.C. MLA; he was the most colorful.

His salty wit and blunt stubbornness were an institution at every session he attended.

His funeral Thursday will be in Fernie's Christ Church, with burial in St. Margaret's Cemetery.

His five sons and grandson William will be pallbearers.

In keeping with Tom's character, his relatives have asked that instead of flowers, tributes be made in the form of donations to Fernie senior citizens building fund.

A Welsh miner, he came to Canada at the age of 32, to Fernie's coal mines.

RAN AS TORY

It wasn't long before he was in politics, first as an alderman, then as mayor. In 1915 he ran as a Conservative candidate in provincial politics and lost by 100 votes.

It was the last time he was defeated at the polls.

In 1920 he ran again, as an independent labor candidate, and won.

Tom usually voted with the CCF in the legislature, but once a session he would vote with the government of the day.

Harold Winch, former CCF leader in B.C., and now MP for Vancouver East, recalls: "He used to tell me he had to do so to ensure he got his just estimates for his beloved riding of Fernie."

Another former MLA, H. W. Herridge, now MP for Kootenay-West, said: "He was always a champion of the rights of labor and always had a spirit of fair play. He was able to advance his point — more than most are able to do—with a sense of humor."

Once when the Speaker forbade him to read a newspaper in the House, he turned up next day with some knitting, for "earmuffs for Mr. Speaker."

Ferry Guests

Power boat operators got an opportunity to see how the boys in the big boats do it when members of the Victoria Power Squadron visited the Mv. Sidney Saturday.

Club members boarded the B.C. Toll Authority ferry at 7 a.m. and received instruction in sailing the Georgia Strait waters.

Badly handled pleasure craft have been known to interfere with ferry schedules and Toll officials are co-operating with the power squadron.

UNITED TOO HOT FOR FIREFIGHTER KEN

Appearing mesmerized by bouncing ball, Firefighters' goalie Ken Pears (dark jersey) couldn't move fast enough on this play at Royal Athletic Park Saturday. Goal was scored by Victoria's Ced Robb, who is recovering balance behind romping teammate Tommy Major (11). Pears had busy and unhappy day, watching four shots go into nets as United chalked up 4-0 Pacific Coast Soccer League triumph to increase their second-half lead. (Times photo by Bill Halkett)

Bassen-Inspired Wings Hottest Thing in NHL

Detroit Stops Montreal; Rangers, Chihawks Win

By The Canadian Press

Detroit Red Wings, led by substitute goalie Hank Bassen, look like the hottest club in the National Hockey League at the moment.

The Wings are undefeated since Feb. 4, the night Bassen took over in the nets for ailing Terry Sawchuk.

Sunday night they ran an unbeaten streak to six games—a 4-2 decision over the league-leading Montreal Canadiens.

New York Rangers and Wings each have 51 points for a fourth-place tie. Detroit, however, has two games in hand.

The Maple Leafs beat the Blueshirts 5-3 at Toronto Saturday night. But at New York Sunday night, they were downed 6-2.

REDUCES MAGIC NUMBER

Montreal, in a runaway 11-point lead atop the standings, routed Chicago Black Hawks 6-2 on home ice Saturday night. This win, combined with Toronto's defeat, reduced the Habitants' magic number to 10, meaning they can clinch a fifth straight title through any combination of 10 wins or Toronto losses.

Canadiens and Leafs each have 15 games to play in the 70-game schedule.

The third-place Black Hawks, five points behind Toronto, bounced back for a 6-0 rout of Boston Bruins at Chicago Sunday night.

Bassen blocked 30 shots for the Wings Sunday night. He has recorded two shutouts and given up only nine goals during the six-game stint.

Gordie Howe got two of the Detroit goals. The Wings' other marksmen were Parker MacDonald of Charlottetown and defenceman Bill Gadsby. Gilles Tremblay counted the two Montreal goals.

The Leafs Saturday night victory was their first in five starts.

Eddie Shack, Frank Mahovlich, Eddie Litzenberger, Dave Keon and Allan Stanley were the Toronto scorers. Earl Ingarfield, Johnny Wilson and Andy Hebenton counted for the Rangers.

Andy Bathgate, the league's top point-getter with 72, drew his 49th assist on Ingarfield's goal which tied the record for most assists by a right winger in one season. Howe set the mark in 1960-61.

Shack, playing in only his third game after a six-week layoff with a knee injury was sidelined again — with more trouble, this time torn ligaments. Preliminary examination indicated he may be out another six weeks.

At New York, Rangers' Bathgate and Guy Gendron each scored twice. Wilson and Hebenton added one each. For the Leafs, the scorers were Red Kelly and Bert Olmstead.

SCORES 100TH GOAL

The feature of the Chicago rout was Don Marshall's 100th goal in his eight-season NHL career. Other Montreal scorers were Jean-Guy Talbot, Gilles Tremblay, Jean Beliveau, Bobby Rousseau and Billy Hicke.

Bob Turner and Bobby Hull tallied for the Black Hawks. Hull's goal was his 35th of the season, tops in the league.

Sunday night the Black Hawks struck for five goals in the first period and they never looked back.

Stan Mikita and Murray Balfour each scored twice while Bronco Horvath and Ken Wharram added singles.

Hal was outstanding in the Chicago nets, kicking out 30 Boston shots for his seventh shutout of the season — tops in the league.

There are no games in the league until Wednesday night when all teams are in action. Montreal will be at Toronto, Boston at New York and Detroit at Chicago.

CITY SPLASHERS CRACK FOUR CANADIAN MARKS

YMCA swimmers were in a record-breaking mood Saturday at Crystal Gardens.

Four Canadian long-pool marks were snapped in the annual "Y" splash championships.

The three other new standards came in the 50-yard breaststroke.

Karey Macfarlane splattered the girls' under-10 record of 45.5 seconds with a time of 45.3. Susan Murphy clipped one and four-tenths seconds off the record of 39.4 in the 11-12 girls' division; and Ricky Green finished in 38.6 in the boys' 11-12 event. The old time was 39.4.

Cold Stops Enock; Russian Wins Title

MOSCOW (AP)—Viktor Kosichkin, a 25-year-old Soviet Union machinist, wrested the world speedskating championship from Hank Van Der Grifft of The Netherlands Sunday.

Canada's hopes were dashed when Paul Enock, 27-year-old Toronto goldsmith, was knocked out of Sunday's events by a heavy cold after finishing far down in Saturday's two events.

Kosichkin placed eighth in the 1,500-metre race and third in the gruelling 10,000-metre competition, final events of the two-day meet. He scored a combined 188.348 time points for four events, including Saturday's 500-metre and 5,000-metre races. Kosichkin was eighth in the 500 and fourth in the 5,000.

Communist China emerged as a major speedskating power by taking fifth and sixth positions. Wang Chin-yu, a 23-year-old student, had 190.443 points and Lo-Chin-huan 191.310.

After Saturday's two races, Enock was in 39th place.

Just one week earlier he set a world record for the 3,000 metres on a Hamar, Norway, course. His time of four minutes, 37.2 seconds beat the listed world mark by three seconds.

A Happy (4-0) Birthday To You, Mr. Manager!

Firefighters 0, United 4

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Wallace Milligan celebrated his 42nd birthday Sunday, and you don't have to ask if the icing on the Scot's cake was sweet.

It was.

Victoria United players looked after their manager Saturday, and nothing was sweeter than the team's 4-0 shutout of Vancouver Firefighters.

The happiest gift came a day early.

Significant—and not overlooked by manager Milligan—was the part the Victoria "bench" played in dressing up the Pacific Coast Soccer League present.

Say nice things, if you will, about goalkeeper Barry Sadler's continuing assault on all shutout records . . . about Victoria's iron-clad defence . . . and about Geoff Hill, magnificent as a centre half . . .

Never, however, overlook the part United's substitutes are playing in the team's run for league honors.

The bench strength was pointedly illustrated at Royal Athletic Park before 1,423 customers. From the bench came Ced Robb, who scored two goals, and Timmy Walker, who counted one for the third straight time.

Forwards Dunc McCaig and Jack Breuker also did their running in Saturday's revenge victory.

"We could nae do it," says Milligan of his reserves, "without them."

Ced's Bustling Tactics Please Fans

Centre half Bob Mars' ailing back forced Walker to come in at the start. Hill went to centre half, and Volker Stoldt moved to centre forward.

The changes did little to affect United's control of the game. Paul made it 1-0 with a pretty header at the 16-minute mark and then left the field 14 minutes later when he injured his leg.

More changes . . .

That's how they started the second half and Walker, picking the corner beautifully, made it 2-0 in the first minute of play. The Vancouver team had neither fire nor fighters after that goal.

Nine minutes later, the game's finest goal . . . from Stoldt to Walker, back to Stoldt and over to Robb . . . bang . . . 3-0. Cedric, who never fails to excite the fans with his bustling tactics, made it 4-0 on a goal that came only on determination 15 minutes later.

United desperately wanted a fifth goal. That would have completed their revenge for the 5-2 defeat United suffered the previous week in the Anderson Cup final. They had their chances. Walker, for example, was put in the clear by Stoldt but shot wide of the Vancouver goal.

It was a typical United win—a team effort—but not enough could be said about the performance of Hill. Centre half was his position in the Old Country, but he hadn't played it since breaking his leg over a year ago.

He played the strength-sapping position almost perfectly, if not perfectly, on this day.

United used the big kick down the middle, by both Hill and Sadler, to their advantage. It was Milligan's intentions to have his charges "play on the Firefighters' defence" and the big kick helped in that respect.

CORNER KICKS: The shutout was Sadler's ninth in 15 league games. . . . United has yet to give up a goal in the second half of the schedule. . . North Shore Cs, vastly improved since the addition of Gogie Stewart, visit Royal Athletic Park next weekend. . . Walker and Hill each have five goals in league play now, Tommy Major and Robb four each, and Paul three. . . United, much faster on the ball than Firefighters, gave Sadler plenty of protection Saturday. United's booster club elects officers at a meeting in the Naval Vets Hall, 1417 Broad Street, tonight. . .

Royals Held To 2-2 Tie By Columbus

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Westminster Royals and Columbus played to a thrilling 2-2 tie in one of the best soccer exhibitions of the season Sunday with the result in doubt right to the final whistle.

Royals, showing more polish and football skill than at any time this season, had the better of play throughout most of the game. The Royal City squad led 2-1 at halftime, only for Columbus to come back and tie the score early in the second half.

The result left the two teams tied for third place in the early going of the Pacific Coast Soccer League's second-half schedule, five points behind Victoria.

On Saturday, two goals by Jack Perri sparked Burnaby's Royal Oaks to a 3-2 victory over St. Andrews Athletic Club in the Mainland Soccer League's Imperial Cup final.

Totems Tighten WHL Scramble

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Seattle Totems tightened up the scramble for second place in the Western Hockey League's Northern Division with a penalty-studded 5-3 victory over Edmonton Flyers Sunday night.

The Totems edged to within three points of the second-place Calgary Stampeders, who are only six points behind the Flyers.

Referee Bill Papp handed out 16 penalties, nine against the Flyers, before 3,253 fans at Seattle.

In Saturday action, the Stamps beat the Southern Division leaders, Portland Buckaroos, 5-3 in Calgary and Spokane Comets, on home ice, defeated Vancouver Canucks 6-4.

Rudy Filion, Eddie Ehrenverth, Barney Krake, Bill MacFarland and Jerry Leonard scored for the Totems Sunday night. Forbes Kennedy, Bill McNeill and Warren Hynes scored for the Flyers.

With a minute to go in regulation time, the Flyers benched goaltender Giles Boisvert in favor of a sixth attacker. The strategy failed. Frank Arnett intercepted the puck and relayed it to Leonard, who shot into an empty net.

FIZZELL SHOWS WAY

Bert Fizzell scored two Calgary goals, George McAvoy, Sid Finney and Ron Leopold the others. Bill Saunders scored twice for the Bucks and Tom McVie added a single.

Max Mekilok scored twice for Spokane. Bev Bell, Dick Lamoureux, Yves Locas and Gerry Brisson got singles.

LOOK OUT, KEN BOB HAS HABIT

Ken Munn, long one of Victoria's top tenpin trundlers, better look to his laurels . . . son Bobby has the pinfall habit, too.

Only 16, Bobby rolled a fat 634 at Gibson's Saturday. His total is the highest ever recorded by a city junior in registered competition. Bobby put together games of 221, 214 and 198.

To prove his fancy flinging was no accident, he later rolled a 631 (243 single) in open play.

Island Champs Take Opener

NANAIMO — Nanaimo defeated New Westminster 8-5 Saturday night to take a one-game lead in the best-of-five Pacific Coast Junior A hockey championship before 500 fans here.

The teams were tied 1-1 at the end of the first. Nanaimo moved ahead 5-3 in the second, outscored the visitors 3-2 in the third.

Football League Expected To Keep Interlocking Sked

VANCOUVER (CP)—A two-man committee was established to further investigate the merits of an interlocking schedule and three rule changes were approved as the Canadian Football League wound up its annual meeting Saturday.

The Eastern and Western conferences of the CFL operated with an interlocking schedule for the first time last season and will do so again this year. The system had been adopted on a two-year trial basis.

Syd Halter of Winnipeg, commissioner of the CFL, said the system has met with favorable reaction and indications are that it will be continued next year.

Election of officers for 1962 and the approval of the league's schedule rounded out business at the final session of the two-day meeting.

HALTER RETURNS

Halter was returned for another two-year term as commissioner, while Jake Gaudaur of Hamilton was named president. Eric Duggan of Edmonton was chosen vice-president and Bob Gilies of Regina secretary-treasurer.

The rule changes, as suggested by the CFL's rules committee were:

1. A defending player is allowed to intercept a forward pass in his own end zone and run the ball out, picking up blockers on the way.

2. In a move designed to stop interior linemen from drawing opposing players offside, the linemen must remain in their positions once they take them. The rule will further restrict the linemen's head and arm movements up to the time the ball is snapped, with penalties provided where these movements are intended to influence the actions of opposing linemen.

3. A pass will be ruled complete even if touched previously by another eligible receiver. The ball will be taken back to the point where it was first touched. Previously, no two eligible receivers of an attacking team could touch the ball even if an opposing player had touched it between the receivers.

Gervais Rink Again Represents Alberta

CALGARY (CP)—A brilliant Hector Gervais Saturday night captured the Alberta men's curling championship in Calgary and a berth in the Dominion final to defend his Canadian title.

In a sudden-death match in doubt to the last rock, the big skip led his Edmonton rink almost faultlessly to an 8-6 victory over Jimmy Shields of Calgary.

Gervais missed only one of 24 shots—a rock that cost him the lead for the first six ends. He went ahead in the seventh and skillfully maintained the advantage the rest of the way.

Gervais now takes third Ron Anton, second Ray Werner and lead Wally Ursuliak to the Dominion playoff in Kitchener, Ont., March 5-10.

The winner of the Canadian title plays for the world championship, also won by Gervais in 1961.

Gervais and Shields met three times Saturday and split their first two games, forcing the playoff. Gervais won the first 10-7 and Shields came back 9-6 in the afternoon.

EL LOCO, DOC JOCOY HOME FIRST

'Crazy One' Can Scat

By Associated Press

El Loco, a five-year-old Argentine-bred, caught the leaders turning into the stretch and won the $99,150 Hialeah Turf Cup by a length over Eurasia at Miami Saturday.

El Loco, owned by Hasty House Farm and ridden by Johnny Sellers, ran the 1½ miles in 2.29 4-5, coming from far back in the pack.

The crowd made El Loco—the name means "crazy one"—the favorite, and he paid $4.90, $2.60, $2.60.

At Arcadia, Calif., a longshot won the San Felipe Handicap. Doc Jocoy came up with a rush in the middle of the stretch to win the $62,900 event and thoroughly scramble the racing picture among three-year-olds.

Royal Attack was second and Admiral's Voyage, the favorite, was third.

At Miami, Eurasia, with Bill Hartack up and carrying the same impost of 120 pounds as El Loco, finished a length in front of Porvenir II, another Hasty House entry, with Royal Record fourth in the field of 14.

El Loco was the ninth foreign-bred to win this event in the last 13 runnings, and picked up a purse of $64,447.

Favored Four-and-Twenty and the older horses return to action at Santa Anita Park Saturday in the 1¼-mile $145,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

TV Lark, Rex Ellsworth's Prove It (who won the handicap last year) and Olden Times, Oink, Grey Eagle and other stakes winners are all probable starters.

KICKERS IN FRONT

Soccer Sides Start Search

Vancouver Island soccer teams got in their opening licks in the Province Cup competition, and Sunday's results were without any surprises.

Nanaimo and Ladysmith, two entries in the Victoria and District League, both won from non-league squads. Nanaimo defeated Cape Mudge Tyees 6-2 and Ladysmith edged Elk Falls 3-2 at Campbell River.

Nanaimo now faces the Victoria League representatives, Gorge Hotel, in the second round. Ladysmith will play Port Alberni. Both games are scheduled for next Sunday.

Gilbert Sam, Dave Clark and manager Jim Irvine scored Ladysmith's goals.

TWO DRAWS

In regular District League play Sunday, it was "tie time." Two of the four matches ended in draws.

Evcoes tied Brodies and Heaneys drew with Canadian Scottish, both by 2-all scores.

Chummy Crabbe scored a well-executed goal to give Gorge a 1-0 victory over Vic West while Hourigan's Kickers packed plenty of offensive punch in defeating Esquimalt 5-2.

Bob Marsden scored two goals for Kickers, who took over the league lead while Duncan Rangers were idle.

McCOVEY SIGNS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie McCovey has signed his 1962 contract with San Francisco Giants.

DENNY MOYER

'Didn't Feel Sharp' —World Record Tied

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Robert Hayes, who said he felt out of shape, ran the 100-yard dash in 9.2 seconds Saturday, tying the world record set last June.

"I wasn't in shape today," the 19-year-old Florida University sophomore said. "I sure didn't feel sharp."

Hayes tied the record set by Frank Budd of Villanova at the National Amateur Athletic Union track meet in New York June 24, 1961.

"There's no doubt of Hayes' record's validity," said Vince Lally, head of the Florida Athletic Club, sponsor of the invitational track and field meet at the University of Miami.

"This is an AAU-sanctioned meet. The track meets all specifications and the gauge recorded a 4½-mile per hour wind against Hayes."

Lally said three official timers clocked Hayes at 9.2 and two clocked him at 9.1.

In an interview later, Hayes said:

"I think I will get nine seconds flat within two years, but I got to get in shape first."

The Sugar Man All Washed Up

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — At 22, baby-faced Denny Moyer is hopeful of getting a title fight with world middleweight boxing champion Gene Fullmer in April.

At 41, Sugar Ray Robinson, once the greatest fighter in the ring, is washed up.

Promoter Norm Rothschild of Syracuse, N.Y., who helps promote fights involving Fullmer, says there is a possibility of a Moyer - Fullmer scrap in April. Fullmer is recognized as champion by the National Boxing Association.

Moyer, from Portland, Ore., squared accounts with Robinson by belting him freely en route to a unanimous decision in their 10 - rounder Saturday night. Robinson won a close decision over Moyer last Oct. 21.

Robinson, former 147 - pound welterweight and five - times 160 - pound middleweight king, looked like a boy against a man. Moyer, although bleeding from the nose from the first round on, smashed Robinson repeatedly with right - hand leads to the head and raked his body with left hooks and rights.

The once - slick Sugar Man was staggered four times — in the third, fifth, nine and 10th rounds. In the ninth his left leg buckled from a body blow and in the 10th he was a desperate man just hoping to stay up until the final bell.

SUGAR WAS FAVORED

The verdicts for Moyer: Referee Art Mercante 7-2-1, judge Leo Birnbaum and judge Tony Rossi, 7-3 each. The AP card had it 7-2-1.

The Robinson legend and his previous victory over Denny made the old champ a 2-to-1 favorite. Even at 159¼ pounds to Moyer's 159, Robinson looked flabby around the waist and jowls.

Will he retire?

"I want to think it over," said the veteran of 160 fights in more than 21 years of pro battling. "First I want to rest, then I'll talk it over with my doctor and George."

Manager George Gainford sighed: "It's up to him. He's the fighter. He makes up his own mind."

More B.C. oil for B.C. ... coming up

Members of the crew of an Imperial rig drilling for oil in British Columbia.

Bringing you oil products at bargain prices is a big job. Right now, for example, Imperial is drilling 30 miles of hole at B.C.'s Boundary Lake oil field. Boundary Lake oil will travel 745 miles to Imperial's refinery near Vancouver, where it will be turned into products. And those products reach you at bargain prices. Take Esso gasoline, for example. On the average, it costs motorists throughout B.C. 6 1/10 cents per pound. Compared with other commodities in everyday use, you won't find a better bargain. Milk, for example, sells on the average for 9 2/10 cents a pound; soft drinks for 12 2/10 cents a pound; even distilled water costs more than gasoline. And of the 6 1/10 cents paid per pound for Esso gasoline, two cents is for federal and provincial taxes that bring you such things as social services and new highways. To bring you this bargain, Imperial has invested more than $80,000,000 in B.C. in the past ten years alone. Yet today, on the average, Imperial gets less for the Esso gasoline it sells than it did ten years ago...and Esso gasoline today is much more powerful than ten years ago.

Manpower Shortage Does What Rivals Couldn't Do

TIME OUT! By JEFF KEATE

"Great scott, don't budge, Madam! Three thousand dollars hinges on this shot!"

The previously unbeaten Oak Bay Wanderer Whites finally lost a game in the Victoria Rugby Union's first division.

Sickness and injuries drew the assist as Whites were forced to default Saturday's scheduled meeting with James Bay Athletic Association. Only eight players came out to play for Whites, who had won 11 games and tied one before Saturday.

Oak Bay's Red squad proved hale and hearty in beating Naval Technical School 21-3 and Victoria College blanked Royal Roads 14-0 in the senior division games played.

Dave Farrell scored a pair of tries and Bob Hutchison, Ray Calton and Dennis Hoyle each counted once for Reds, who added to their total with two converts by Don Burgess and one from Dave Price.

Smithers scored for NTS.

The always-tough Vikings got two penalty goals and a convert from Gary Tuttle and single tries from Pat Floyd and Brian Usher in their victory over Royal Roads.

Oak Bay Wanderers clinched first place in the junior division with two shutout victories. A try by Doug Sinclair gave Wanderers a 3-0 triumph over second-place PPCLI on Saturday. Sunday, Oak Bay trounced Air Cadets 22-0.

Mt. Newton blanked Air Cadets 20-0 Saturday and Canadian Scottish defaulted their Sunday meeting with Sea Cadets.

TOURNAMENT NEXT WEEKEND

Totems Finish on Top

Victoria High Totems rolled to a 40-28 victory over Oak Bay Greens before a capacity crowd at Oak Bay High Saturday night to capture first-place in the final Inter-High School Senior Boys' Basketball League standings, but they had to share the spotlight with the season's best individual scoring output.

St. Louis College star Barry Maloney scored a season's high of 34 points as the Shamrock' defeated Mt. View Hornets 56-46. The league record is 51, set by Pete Zarry of Vic High several years ago.

Totems' margin was graphically illustrated by their 56-28 advantage in shots taken from the field. John Lauvaas (14) and Ken Gregory (10) paced Totems, who contained Oak Bay ace Jim Walters to only eight points, his lowest output this season.

With their victory, Mt. View clinched fourth place.

League officials have scrapped their original plans for a four-team playoff and will stage an eight-team tournament at Central Junior High next weekend. North Saanich has been dropped from the tourney.

400 MILES IN 20 DAYS 10 MEN SURVIVE DRIFT

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — A group of 10 Indonesians whose fishing boat lost its sails and mast in a raging storm arrived here Sunday after drifting 400 miles in 20 days from Tanimbar Islands, 500 miles west of New Guinea.

The fishermen, ranging in age from 18 to 54, said they survived the ordeal on raw rice and two days' supply of water.

"MISS CHINATOWN, U.S.A." title was won Sunday by Darrah Lau, 19, stenographer from Honolulu in competition with 13 other lovelies from Chinese communities across the country. Contest was highlight of Chinese New Year celebrations in San Francisco. (AP Wirephoto.)

FRIENDS BET SINATRA NO ROMEO FOR JULIET

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—The Johannesburg Sunday Times says in a bannerlined report from Hollywood that "friends of Frank Sinatra and Juliet Prowse are giving odds they will never be married." The paper listed the odds as "2 to 1 and steadily dropping." It said one of the main hitches is Miss Prowse's determination to keep on working, over Sinatra's objections. Miss Prowse is a native of South Africa.

Liz Leaves Hospital As Romance Denied

ROME (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor, apparently recovered from a case of food poisoning, today left the hospital with husband Eddie Fisher, and her leading man issued a statement denouncing "uncontrolled rumors" of a romantic involvement with the actress.

Miss Taylor was rushed to hospital in Rome late Saturday night in an ambulance.

The 29-year-old film star was released this afternoon.

Fisher, who had rushed back from Lisbon when informed of his wife's illness, was on hand to take her home to their rented luxurious Roman villa.

Rumors of a romantic attachment between Miss Taylor and Richard Burton, who plays Marc Antony in the movie "Cleopatra," had been circulating for several days in Rome, perhaps because of their torrid love scenes before the cameras. But there was nothing to indicate any substance to the rumors.

This morning, the 36-year-old Burton said he was the victim of distorted statements and a series of coincidences and that he and Miss Taylor are just "good friends."

U THANT TICKS OFF BELGIUM

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — United Nations acting Secretary-General Thant lashed out at Belgium last week, charging the Belgians with failing to co-operate with the UN military command in the Congo.

The United Nations released an exchange of notes between Thant and Belgian Ambassador Walter Loridan in which Belgium criticized the UN command for the massacre of Roman Catholic missionaries by Congolese at Kongolo.

Slowdown Eased by Longshoremen

A "slowdown" of longshoremen, that has hit west coast ports and cost shippers thousands of dollars in delayed charters, appears to be easing, shipping industry officials said today.

An industry spokesman said the slowdown began three weeks ago and has hit the loading or unloading of deepsea vessels at Chemainus, Nanaimo, Crofton and Port Alberni.

Vancouver and New Westminster operations were said to be "not bad, but spotty."

The spokesmen said the slowdown centred on a Jan. 22 arbitration board ruling on the manning of cargo winches. The ruling described the type of winches which could be operated by one man, but a dispute arose. The wording is expected to be clarified shortly.

Grain vessels have not been affected since their type of loading requires no winches.

COURTENAY—The success of the Chamber of Commerce membership campaign has been credited to a "crackdown on freeloaders" policy and a new canvassing system.

Randy Klaver, membership committee chairman, said paid memberships total 174 and pledges will bring the number to nearly 220. He is confident he can triple last year's 126.

A hired canvasser is being paid a 20 per cent commission to approach every businessman in the area to explain the function and aims of the chamber. He will point out that only members of the chamber of commerce will be allowed to use its advertising facilities.

President Al Rae explained that non-members had been given advertising space in a brochure last year and had been allowed to place literature in the tourist bureau.

The chamber has approved the installation of a teletype machine in the tourist bureau. It will form a part of a province-wide network which will be linked to Washington and Oregon facilities.

COURTENAY — A telegram from the Retail Merchant Association has asked Courtenay-Comox Chamber of Commerce to raise 1,000-name petition against trading stamps.

Bill Finlayson, chairman of the retail committee of the chamber, said a petition is already being distributed by many retail outlets in the form of cards asking customer support in the fight against stamps.

He added that the committee will consider the petition in a special meeting this week.

Doctors' 'War Chest' Blasted by Strachan

Board Hears Protest Of Campaign Tactics

NDP-CCF Opposition Leader Robert Strachan launched a two-pronged attack on the Canadian medical profession before the Royal Commission on Health Services sitting here today.

He charged:

1. That the profession has created "a political action fund" to fight attempts to introduce a medical care plan covering everyone in Canada.

2. That the Health Insurance Act, passed by the B.C. legislature in the early 1930s, was "killed by what was in effect a strike by the doctors."

DENIED

Mr. Strachan's first charge was denied by Dr. H. N. Watson, president of the B.C. division of the CMA, who attended the hearing but did not speak. In an interview he said flatly:

"There is no political action fund in the Canadian Medical Association."

But Mr. Strachan, in a lengthy brief to the commission, insisted there was such a fund and declared the medical profession should not have "either the moral or legal right" to obstruct a government-sponsored medical plan.

The Opposition Leader was the first to present a brief when the six-member royal commission opened its one-day sitting in the lower lounge of the Empress Hotel this morning.

SASKATCHEWAN PLAN

He charged that the medical profession in Saskatchewan had raised $90,000 through a special levy on its membership to finance a publicity campaign against Saskatchewan's proposed medical care plan.

"The type of campaign used, which even descended to religious blasphemy, has been condemned from one end of Canada to the other."

In 1958, he added, the B.C. branch of the CMA levied a similar assessment on its membership to finance a publicity campaign aimed at "the evils of Socialism."

"To describe this as public relations work is a misnomer. The money is in fact a political action fund . . ."

Mr. Strachan said it was apparent from a report of Dr. P. O. Lehman, B.C. Medical Association representative to the CMA, that the medical profession recognizes public relations expenditures as political action disbursements.

He added that, although the CMA protests that the country cannot afford a comprehensive health plan, "it has no qualms in channelling . . . over a quarter of a million dollars, which could help provide medical care for someone, into the pockets of advertising hucksters."

ABOVE THE LAW

The opposition leader insisted that B.C. doctors had refused to practice within the framework of the provincial Health Insurance Act, passed in the 1930s.

"Personally I find it almost impossible to believe that now, 30 years later, the medical profession would again deny the people a health service by placing themselves above the law."

He insisted that, even after a provincial plebiscite had shown that the majority of the people in British Columbia wanted a health plan and a royal commission had recommended it, "the doctors refused to practice within the Act."

He advocated a national medical care program administered by the individual provinces but financially assisted by the federal government.

He added that, in view of obstructive measures by the medical profession, any legislation for such a program should "spell out quite clearly the fact that medical services are not only the patient's basic moral right, but also an enforceable legal right."

Mr. Strachan was questioned on this statement by Hon. Emmett Hall, chief justice of Saskatchewan and chairman of the commission.

"How do you enforce this right?" asked the chief justice. "How would you conscript the medical profession to give service."

PENALTIES

Mr. Strachan: "I think most citizens are naturally law-abiding. If a law is passed, they naturally want to remain within that law. But if they refuse, penalties must be laid down . . .

"It is an accepted norm in our society that no one group is allowed to defeat the purposes of that society.

"It should be impressed on the medical profession that society is demanding state medical care. I am of the opinion that many doctors in B.C. and Canada are not fully aware of this trend in public thinking."

Mr. Strachan added that doctors in B.C. and Canada generally have been subject to "pressures from the United States Medical Association.

DIFFERENT CONCEPT

"We say the people of Canada have a different concept of social services than they have in the United States."

Chief Justice Hall said the commission is concerned with "fathering" some system of health care that will be most satisfactory for all without too much insistence on compulsion.

Dr. David M. Baltzman, of Saskatoon, another member of the commission, questioned Mr. Strachan on his statement that the British National Health Service has been "the most successful and beneficial" in the world.

"I do not suggest we should copy the British plan," Mr. Strachan said. "I hope our Canadian system will be better, but I do insist the British system is the best in the world so far."

Mr. Strachan added that the Australian national health service "is only a second best, uneconomic system by comparison to Britain and provides less service to the patient.

"Such a system should not be considered in Canada," he declared.

SPCA HEAD OFFICE MOVES TO VICTORIA ON MARCH 15

Headquarters of the SPCA in B.C. will be moved to Victoria on March 15.

The move was decided upon by the humane society following the resignation of the executive director in Vancouver, T. I. Hughes. Mr. Hughes will go to Ontario as general manager of the SPCA there.

The head office of the B.C. society has been in Vancouver for the past eight years.

A new executive director, responsible for management of the Victoria branch of the SPCA, and provincial representative, will be chosen from present staff members of branches of the society across Canada.

Official Protest By Civil Servants

New Reference Board to Hear Appeal On Amount, Method of Pay Increases

The B.C. Government Employees' Association has filed notice it is appealing both the amount and the method of pay increases awarded to civil servants by the provincial government.

The BCGEA seeks a hearing with the new board of reference, set up by the government last year as the final arbiter of civil service disputes.

This is the first time a case has been presented for the board.

The appeal notice was mailed on the weekend to Dr. H. M. Morrison, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, which recommended raises ranging from 3 to 9 per cent for about half B.C.'s 14,000 employees.

LONG WAIT

Most of the raises were in top categories only, and many civil servants will have to wait years before reaching the higher levels.

A statement from the BCGEA today condemned "the substandard wage policy" of the government, as well as "the unsound method" in which the increases were made.

"In no case was any category even close to the rates that surveys showed are being paid by outside employers," said the statement.

It said the civil service commission had completely rejected its former policy of using such surveys as a base for increases.

It said that even with the new senior rates, many government employees are still getting less than the prevailing rates of private employers three years ago.

When the government announced creation of the board of reference, it said Dr. H. L. Keenleyside of the B.C. Power Commission would be chairman.

However no official appointment has been made.

The board would also include a representative of the employees and of the civil service commission.

A government official said members of the board will probably be appointed by a cabinet order as soon as the formal notice of appeal has been received by Dr. Morrison.

Dr. Morrison said he hasn't received it, and doesn't know to whom he should refer it when he does.

DEs to Join 'Task Force' In Far East

The three Victoria-based RCN destroyer escorts now cruising in the Far East will join a 50-ship fleet at Ceylon Feb. 26 for manoeuvres, the navy announced Sunday.

Ships from the navies of Britain, India, Pakistan, Ceylon and Australia will assemble at Trincomalee for exercises in the Indian Ocean and Bay of Bengal.

Exercises will involve shore-based maritime aircraft, carriers, cruisers, destroyers, frigates, support ships, minesweepers and submarines.

TO MALAYA

On March 10 the Canadian ships will leave the fleet for a two-day visit to Port Swettenham, Malaya, then rejoin the others at Singapore March 15 for post-exercise discussions.

The Canadian ships, sailing as the Second Canadian Escort Squadron, are Assiniboine, commanded by Capt. Victor Browne, who also commands the squadron; Margaree, Cmdr. J. H. MacLean, and Ottawa, Cmdr. I. A. MacPherson.

They left Esquimalt Jan. 5 on what will be a 15,000-mile cruise, longest peacetime training trip ever undertaken from this coast. They will return April 19.

ASK The TIMES

Q. How far away is the farthest star? D.F.

A. The farthest star in our galaxy is about 60,000 light years distance. A light year is the distance travelled by light in one year, and its speed is 186,000 miles per second.

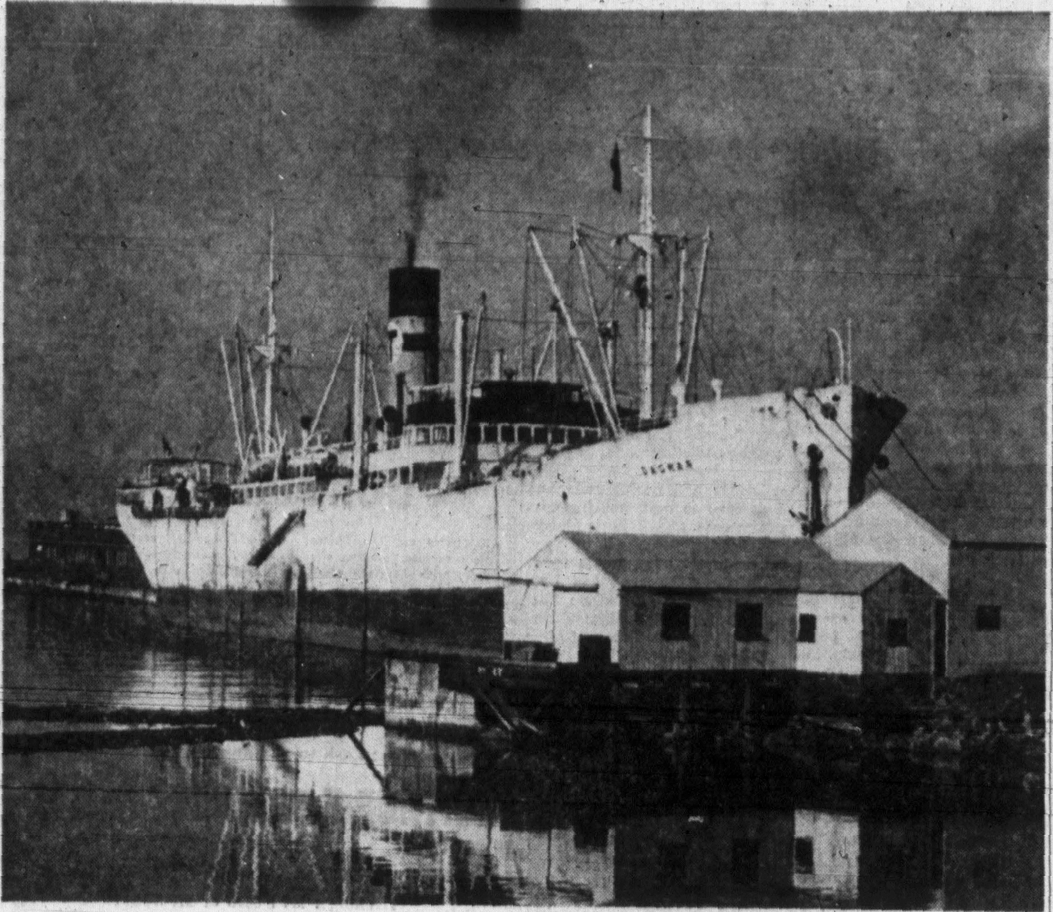
Q. Will you please inform me in your column when and how the Victoria Cross originated? H.W.J.

A. It was instituted on Jan. 29, 1856. The first warrant enacted that as there existed "no means of adequately rewarding the individual services" of officers or men in the two services, "the Cross shall only be awarded to those officers and men who served us in the presence of the enemy, and shall have performed some signal act of valor of devotion to their country."

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

CALENDAR SAYS SPRING IS STILL A MONTH AWAY, but at Beacon Hill Park, where flora and fauna can't read, the deer's antlers are wearing velvet, the bulbs are shooting upward, and buds on the trees can be heard a-growing. Weatherman William Mackie predicted a chilly night tonight, but with clear skies and plenty of sun Tuesday. (Times photo)



TIME HAS BEEN KIND TO HER

Most ships are finished at the age of 30 years, but the Dagmar, built by Danish craftsmen at Helsingfors in 1928, is still fit and healthy. Now sailing under Swedish ownership and registry, she is loading lumber at Ogden Point for U.K. Goteburg is her home port, and she is represented here by King Bros. Ltd. Tall, slender stack is dead giveaway to her years. (Times photo by Bill Halkett)

MONTE ROBERTS

Having resumed residence in Oak Bay some months ago, the time has come to state why I did so, and more specifically, why I insisted on a Foul Bay Road address.

I moved to be in a better position to enter a campaign I knew was forthcoming—a campaign to change the name of Foul Bay Road to University Road.

My otherwise good friend Conway Parrott has rung the bell to start the first round in the campaign. On Friday he so bemused the Chamber of Commerce that it passed a resolution in favor of the change of names of Foul Bay Road, Henderson Way, and Finnerty Road to University Road.

If the Chamber of Commerce has any sense of responsibility, it will hastily re-convene and unpass said resolution.

I, for one, will fight this to the bitter end.

Along with all the other citizens of Oak Bay (I am not really a citizen yet, but have my first papers) I warn people who wish to meddle with street names to meddle with them in more unenlightened areas.

In Oak Bay, we know our geography. We know that Foul Bay Road is not a road leading to the University, it is a road leading to Foul Bay.

I realize there is a danger the foreigners in the City of Victoria might allow this change to take place.

They are so dazed and tired from the mad whirl of highly organized centennial (shh!) activities, they are in no condition to think straight.

If this happens, Oak Bay, I am sure, will still stand firm. It will be Foul Bay Avenue on OUR side of the street, no matter what it's called on THEIR side of the street.

* * *

In all seriousness, this mad move must be stamped out before it starts.

Let the Hendersons and Finnertys organize to protect their Way and their Road.

Let the Smugglers get together in case these wild name-changers get ideas about Smuggler's Cove Road—by long odds the most intriguing street address in Canada.

And above all, let us unite at once to defend Foul Bay—A Road by any other name is just a street.

Curlers Keen To Rebuild At Pt. Alberni

Alberni Valley Curling Club already is considering building a new curling rink to replace the four-sheet centre at Port Alberni destroyed by fire early Saturday morning.

Dennis Thain, a club director, will investigate construction costs and report to the executive, with the hope of having the project completed in time for the 1962-63 season.

It has been suggested the new rink be built around a six-sheet ice surface similar to the Comox Valley Curling Club centre.

Loss in the fire was estimated at $125,000, of which $95,500 was covered by insurance. Cost of rebuilding will be about $150,000.

Lost in the fire, in addition to the building and equipment and furnishings, were bonspiel prizes worth $1,500. The 10th annual club 'spiel was at the half-way point when the fire occurred.

PATENTS ASKED

Coat of Arms 'Memorial' Sent to Queen

The wheels of protocol finally have been set in motion by City Hall to obtain a coat of arms.

Requests, in traditional phraseology, are on their way to the Queen and the Duke of Norfolk for approval of a color design that has been re-drafted nine times during the past year.

Essentially, the proposed design is a heraldically-correct version of the official city seal which shows too angels holding a shield on which appears a crown.

The Queen's permission is needed to use the crown in the design.

The Duke of Norfolk, as earl marshal and hereditary marshal of England, heads the College of Heralds which issues the patent for coat of arms.

The requests are being sent through the lieutenant-governor and governor-general and it is hoped that authorization will be returned within a month.

Color scheme in the proposed design is gold, scarlet and blue.

The "memorial" sent to the Duke of Norfolk provides a capsule history of the city and requests:

"The favor of Your Grace's Warrant to the Kings of Arms for the granting and assigning of such armorial ensigns as may be proper to be borne and used by the municipal council of the City of Victoria in their corporate capacity on seals or otherwise according to the Laws of Arms."

Safe Stands Up To Pounding By Burglars

A city business premise was broken into Saturday night but the thieves had nothing to show for their efforts.

They climbed over a rear gate and pried boards from a window to enter W. R. Menzies and Co., 911 Fort Street, and removed a door to get into the records office.

Here they battled to open a safe — without success — succeeding only in knocking off the dial and the handle.

The safe contained about $1,000.

Share Bath Secrets Of Famous Beauties

By PENNY SAVER

Every famous beauty is said to have had a beauty bath secret. For example, Cleopatra was said to have bathed among floating lilies. Mme. Pompadour used strawberries as her secret bath ingredient.

Just as these historical beauties were trying to retain a soft, smooth skin from head to toe, so are women today.

And I've seen just the preparation to do it, too!

They're two new luxurious bath products that, when combined or used separately, are comparable and even superior to the ingredients used by our ancestors.

New Red Roses bath emollient made by a leading cosmetic manufacturer is blended to make skin feel soft and smooth immediately after bath. It's moisturized and thoroughly lubricates, making it especially good for dry skin.

It performs effectively, too, in relieving itching caused by dry skin.

Use the top as a measuring cup, one capful of oil is enough for one tubful of bath water.

This emollient is selling at four ounces for $3.25. Why not try some, you won't be disappointed.

Do the words "bath foam" suggest a hot tub with an abundance of bubbles and you luxuriously relaxing within the fragrant swirls?

Well, why let it be only a suggestion, when with the Red Rose scented bath foam I've seen you can actually have your bath just that way. Six-ounce size of bath foam is only $2.75.

And girls, after all this relaxing luxury, you won't have to scrub a greasy ring from around the tub. These preparations don't leave a ring.

Why not really go all out and pamper yourself? I'll help you to start by telling you where to find these bath treats, if you call me.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Hints for Heart Patients Can Help Housewife, Too

Lowman

There are so many little leaks in the way we spend our energy! If we remedied these, we would find that we have a big, new bonus of energy. We would come to the end of each day much less tired. These small savings count up to unbelievably large totals.

If you had had a heart attack, you would of necessity learn to cut corners in the expenditure of your energy. For the benefit of those women who have been told to take it easy because of a cardiac condition, here are some suggestions.

These hints are helpful to any housekeeper if she wants to save time for fun and relaxation, for things she wants to do but does not have time or energy to do. Here they are:

Discover your own pace, your own relaxed way of doing things, and stick to it. Playing music while you work may help you relax and reduce tension.

Use tables on wheels. They are good for assembling and transporting food, dishes, groceries, cleaning supplies, laundry and many other things, from place to place. They save steps and lifting, and also provide extra space when you need it.

Organize your jobs so that you save steps by working on one floor or in one part of your house until you finish the job there.

Be sure to use the most convenient appliances you can afford. For instance, long-handled dust pans, brooms and mops save a lot of stooping. Assemble and keep all cleaning supplies in one place. A basket is best since you can carry it from place to place.

Sit at work as much as possible. You can sit when you prepare vegetables, iron, feed the baby, telephone, wash dishes, polish silver or make out lists.

Keep seasonings, serving dishes and cooking utensils next to the stove. Cooking spoons, pancake turners and such can be hung on the wall near the stove. A stove with a high oven eliminates stooping.

The height of your kitchen sink is extremely important. During the Second World War they found that the height of work tables and chairs was an important factor in work output and fatigue.

If the sink is too low, you strain your back by leaning over. You can put a rack beneath the dishpan to raise it to a more comfortable height. If it is too high to sit in a chair while you wash dishes, use a kitchen stool with a leg rest and preferably a back.

"What in the world did you do for kicks before I bought you that vacuum cleaner?"

Wed on Salt Spring Island

Daffodils, jasmine and pussy willow decorated St. Mary's Anglican Church on Salt Spring Island when Valerie Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Hollings of Fulford Harbor became the bride of Roger Alexander Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hughes, also of Fulford Harbor. Archdeacon G. H. Holmes officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown of white lace over satin featured a fitted bodice with scalloped neckline and lily point sleeves. Bouffant skirt was in ballerina length. Chapel length veil misted from a pearl tiara. Cascade bouquet was of yellow roses.

Emerald green silk gown and bouquet of narcissi was chosen by maid of honor, Miss Marilyn Watt. Bridesmaid, Miss Roberta Akerman wore a gold silk gown and carried daffodils and blue iris. Both wore toning whimsies, trimmed with tiny veils.

Charles Hughes was best man for his brother and ushers were Glenn Tremayne and David Plumbe. Organist was Miss Susan Fellows. "O Perfect Love" and "Praise My Soul" were sung during the ceremony.

Spring flowers decorated Fulford Community Hall where a reception was held following the ceremony. A wedding cake, made by Mrs. D. Layard centred the head table which was decorated with ivy and yellow candles in silver candelabra.

A. D. Dane proposed the toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon motoring trip on Vancouver Island the bride donned a pastel blue wool suit in Chanel design with black and white accessories.

Newlyweds will make their home at Fulford Harbor.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Old Angle to New Twist

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband refuses to twist with me. He says if I want to make a fool of myself in public, he isn't going to help me. I have seen many women older and fatter than myself twisting in public and I admit it looks terrible, but I am only 42 and have a nice figure. Please say something in your column to convince my husband that the twist is just another modern dance and he should learn it as he learned the rhumba and cha cha.

LOVES TO TWIST.

DEAR LOVES: If your husband is over 45 and overweight, maybe his insurance policy doesn't cover the twist. His thinking is straight. Don't try to twist it.

DEAR ABBY: The lady next door is pulling some funny business on her husband and I am quite certain a man is involved. She gets all dolled up and pulls out of her driveway a little before noon. And she doesn't get home until 6 p.m. She tells her husband she has been to a "PTA meeting." She does this three or four times a week, and he is so dumb he believes her. Don't you think somebody should tell her husband?

WIDE AWAKE NEIGHBOR.

DEAR WIDE AWAKE: Perhaps your neighbor's definition of PTA is "Pretty Terrific Afternoon." Don't tell anybody. You could be mistaken.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I decided to quit smoking several weeks ago. I have always said that if you make up your mind, that's all there is to it. Within a week we were both smoking again. I had no idea of the mental and physical discomfort involved. I thought some of your readers who have licked the problem might have some helpful suggestions.

HEAVY SMOKER.

DEAR SMOKING: If they have, you can be sure I'll print them.

How is the world treating you? Unload your problems on Abby, care of this paper.

9 IN MEMORIAM

CLIFFORD—In loving memory of our darling little boy, Wayne Clifford, who was killed by an oil truck five years ago today, Feb. 18, 1957.

Time speeds on, five years have passed,
Since death its gloom its shadow cast,
Within our home where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light and ever will,
His vacant place there's none to fill,
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in Heaven we will meet again.

—Forever loved and always remembered by Mummy, Daddy, sister Beverly and brother Ronnie.

FREEMANTLE—In loving memory of my mother, Sarah Jeanette Freemantle, who died Feb. 19, 1960, and my father, H. Claude Freemantle, who died March 30, 1959.
—Inserted by Marjorie Pollard.

LUCAS—In loving memory of my dear friend Ivy, who passed away Feb. 19, 1961.
—Always remembered. Bett.

MEACHEM—In ever-loving memory of my dear husband, Albert George Meachem, who passed away February 19, 1955.

If a love like his could vanish,
Heaven and earth would pass away.
Though we grieve, we are sure our dear one
Is still close to us each day.

—Sadly missed by Mom and David.

ZAFERIS—James D., who passed away Feb. 19, 1953.

His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.

—Ever remembered by his loving wife and family.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY

The bidding by North and West resulted from the 60-part score. For South's choice of a four-heart bid instead of a double of four diamonds, the explanation was that the hour was late and South wanted to get the rubber over and go home.

West collected two diamond tricks and shifted to the queen of clubs.

South now wished that he had settled for a small profit, but he was stuck with his four-spade contract and he looked about to see if he could find a distribution that would allow him to make it.

It seemed reasonable to mark West with two major suit singletons, six diamonds and five clubs. In that case everything would be fine if the spade singleton were the 10 or the king and South could guess which. How about a low singleton? South saw a way to make the hand in that case and decided to play for it.

He won the club in dummy and led the jack of spades. East put on the king. South took his ace, entered dummy with the ace of hearts, led another spade, finessed the eight, cashed his two high hearts and led his last club.

West won and had to lead a club or diamond whereupon South ruffed with dummy's five of spades.

East made his best play. He discarded his last heart, but South underruffed with the three spot and led a heart from dummy. East could ruff high or low, but either way South could overruff and make the last two tricks.

T.V. with Lee

Camera Canada Visits Vancouver, Montreal and Toronto at 9.30

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

THANKS MAINLY to the CBC last week there was every indication that what has been described as TV's great wasteland isn't as great or such a waste as some would make out.

Certainly those who viewed News Magazine's hour-long documentary on the French and Algerian crisis last Wednesday night, that boasted new film footage taken on Monday and Tuesday of the same week, couldn't help but emerge from the experience knowing a great deal more and having a far better understanding of the situation than when he first switched on the dial.

To judge by the number of telephone calls I have received both at home and at the paper it would seem that Mrs. John F. Kennedy's tour of the White House the same evening and—unfortunately—at the same time via CBS-TV network channels also was most interesting.

For all those who want to know if it will be repeated I would report that Marian Boylan, promotion manager for Channel 12, kindly wrote in to advise me that the hour will be shown again from 6 to 7 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 24.

Then on Friday night at 7 Doug Collins and the CBC did British Columbians great service by staging a visual explanation of the situation as regards development of the Peace and Columbia power projects.

Those heard, including External Affairs Minister Howard Green, U.S. Secretary of the Interior Stuart Udall, Minister of Justice Davie Fulton, Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, head of the B.C. Power Commission, contributed much even in their contradictions in various phases. But chief reason for impact of the whole was the neat, precise and cohesive editing of the entire presentation.

It was a gem.

★ ★ ★

Finally, a public that generally believes that "you can't believe everything you read in the papers," should have been enlightened and broadened by what they heard on Winter Conference's discussion the same night under the heading "The Press and the Public."

Certainly if the average viewer witnessed three of these four programs (or even one) he couldn't help but be a wiser person than he was at the beginning of the week.

In short—that old one-eyed monster can instruct if only we will let him.

DOLS':
Impregnated FLANNEL For:
RHEUMATISM & KINDRED AILMENTS
BRONCHITIS, CHEST & THROAT TROUBLES
CHILBLAINS & COLD FEET
The makers have received many spontaneous letters written by people who had endured continuous pain for years, and who—prior to using Dols' Flannel—had expended large sums of money and much time on so-called cures and remedies, without relief. These and other long-standing cases have been completely relieved; many happy wearers of Dols' Flannel describe the properties of this fabric as 'simply miraculous.'

eral seat it will be one of the top battles of the next federal election. Mr. Douglas' old provincial constituency of Weyburn is part of the federal seat of Assiniboia.

A sidelight of the situation was that the lock was changed during Sunday night on the centre block office of Mr. Argue. It was changed on instructions telephoned to the Commons staff by Mr. Argue himself from Regina.

Even the former House party leader's personal staff was barred from his old office. Commons officials were holding the only keys pending Mr. Argue's return to Ottawa.

Mr. Herridge was chosen today by the CCF-New Democratic Party caucus to succeed Mr. Argue as House leader. He stepped into the new post with no great enthusiasm.

He had been an ardent supporter of Mr. Argue for the leadership of the New Democratic Party and made no effort to hide his bitter disappointment when Mr. Douglas won with the help of organized labor.

BARRED BY LOCK

Even Mr. Herridge could not get into Mr. Argue's office. He wanted to get some papers to carry on his new role as House leader but was barred by the new lock. Mr. Argue was due back in Ottawa late today but there was a bad blizzard in the capital that might divert his aircraft.

Conservatives were convinced that the "defection" of Mr. Argue would be followed by other New Democratic party supporters in rural areas. Said one Conservative headquarter's spokesman, "It's quite apparent the merger of farmer and labor has been a failure."

Liberal leader L. B. Pearson's only comment was: "Mr. Argue's announcement is very interesting and important."

Mr. Argue is scheduled to confer with Mr. Pearson on his return to Ottawa from Regina. It was expected here that Mr. Argue would be invited to sit with the Liberals in the Commons and to run as a Liberal candidate in the coming election in Assiniboia.

His departure from the CCF-New Democratic Party robbed that group in the House of its only Prairie farmer spokesman. If Mr. Argue joins the Liberals he will be their only MP west of Ontario and will automatically become the party's Prairie farmer spokesman.

17 YEARS

Mr. Argue has represented Assiniboia for 17 years. He only submitted his resignation after he had carefully sounded out his constituency and his constituency organization.

He is reported to have discovered that many farmers were not going to support him if he remained identified with the New Democratic Party.

Mr. Douglas as the leader of the New Democratic Party may tangle with Mr. Argue in the federal seat of Assiniboia but there is doubt here that he could overcome Mr. Argue's popularity in that seat.

Mr. Douglas won the Weyburn provincial seat by only 601 votes in 1960 and he therefore may look to Regina to run for election where he could count on a larger labor vote.

Mr. Herridge and Douglas Fisher (CCF-Port Arthur) were strong supporters of Mr. Argue in the founding convention of the New Democratic party. Mr. Fisher has since been nominated as NDP candidate for Port Arthur.

NOT POPULAR

Both denied they have any intention of following Mr. Argue out of the new movement. But neither is very popular with other members of the movement.

They are too frank and critical in their comments for the liking of may in the organized labor segments of the New Democratic party.

There would be no great surprise here if one or both of those members eventually decided to sit as independents in the House. They liked the old CCF party and are not too fond of the New Democratic party as a substitute.

U.S. Asks NATO Allies To Cut Trade With Cuba

WASHINGTON (CP)—State Secretary Rusk sent two of his high officials to Paris Sunday to seek a crackdown by the NATO allies on trade with Cuba.

The United States hopes to get the co-operation of Western European nations and other friendly countries in cutting off all arms shipments to Cuba and in eliminating shipments of goods of possible strategic importance.

In addition, officials said, it would like Allied and friendly countries to reduce or eliminate purchases of goods from Cuba in order to deny the Castro government its income in foreign currency.

The two officials are Walt Rostow, a member of the policy planning council, and Richard Goodwin, deputy assistant state secretary for inter-American affairs.

The state department said that they will meet with the 15-nation NATO council this week to explain the anti-Castro measures which were adopted by the Organization of American States at the recent Punta del Este conference and to advocate similar action by NATO.

Canada, a member of NATO, is carrying on restricted trade with Cuba.

POLICY UNDER FIRE

The Canadian government's Cuban trade policy has been under fire in the House of Commons. Opposition Leader Pearson charged again Friday that the government has been authorizing the export of strategic goods to Cuba.

Trade Minister Hees denied this. He said the government has adhered strictly to the NATO list of strategic goods whose shipment to Communist countries is banned.

A high U.S. administrative source said the U.S. has previously made its views clear to NATO countries in diplomatic discussions here but so far there has been a great deal of reluctance on the part of some unidentified NATO members to side with U.S. policy.

Specifically, the U.S. wants to make certain that NATO countries end "illicit traffic" in arms and other strategic items with the Cuban regime. Asked which countries he had in mind, the authority declined to name any countries but he appeared to be thinking more in terms of West Europe than Canada.

No Sugar Left For Cuban People

By JOHN BLAND

HAVANA (Reuters) — Sugar, the staple product of Cuba, has joined the list of foodstuffs in "temporary" short supply here.

Ernesto (Che) Guevara, the minister of industries, blames the shortage on "a slight lack of co-ordination by the ministry of internal trade."

He also takes some of the responsibility for the shortage onto his own ministry. Cuba, he explains, had shipped all the sugar left over from last year before the refineries began processing this year's harvest. As a result, warehouses were left empty.

Goods in chronic short supply here are eggs, butter, fats and cooking oil, chicken, fish, cheese, canned milk, cauliflower, soap of all kinds and toothpaste.

In spasmodically short supply are potatoes, rice, the various types of beans, malanga (a substitute for potato), onions, lemons, oranges and pineapples, milk and even coffee, another staple Cuban product.

With few exceptions there are no dried fruits or canned fruit juices, apples or pears, frozen foods, bacon, sausages, baby foods and cereals, self-raising flour, or whisky.

The official ration of meat is half a pound a person a week. In practice, it works out at nearly half a pound ever 10 days. The ration card system has been gradually allowed to extend to other products such as eggs, butter, cheese, fats and oil, chicken, canned milk and soap.

Food prices are still rising, even to double what they were a year ago.

Havana Alarmed By Move

HAVANA (CP) — Cuban officials are worried by efforts of the United States to enlist its NATO allies in an embargo against the Castro regime.

West European diplomatic sources say the Cuban foreign ministry seems more concerned at possible effects of a NATO commercial shutout than with the recent Punta del Este foreign ministers' conference which indicted Cuba on charges of incompatibility with principles of the Western Hemisphere.

But the U.S. stands a slim chance of convincing the North Atlantic nations that trade with Castro should be curtailed, the informants added.

"The United States will surely meet with a polite but definite 'sorry can't do' from my country," one Western European trade attache said.

MOTORISTS STRANDED

U.S. Midwest Hit By Heavy Snows

CHICAGO (AP)—Crippling snow and sleet storms which battered the U.S. midwest during the weekend, leaving a blanket of white up to two feet and sheets of ice, blustered into the northeast today.

The effects of the damaging weather in the eight-state storm belt from the Dakotas to Michigan were widespread. Some areas were virtually paralyzed.

Thirty-one inches of snow covered Sioux Falls, S.D., as the heaviest snow of the season swept eastern South Dakota and southwestern Minnesota.

The violent weather created monumental traffic jams. Thousands of motorists were temporarily stranded as strong winds whipped the snow into high drifts on highways and streets.

Many schools called off classes today. Church services were cancelled in many areas Sunday.

Some 700 ice fishermen, including women and children, were trapped for several hours Sunday on Lake Poygan, near Oshkosh, Wis., as a blinding snowstorm struck the area. They were brought to safety Sunday night by state conservation department workers and volunteers after some seven hours on the lake.

Mexico's Indian tribe of Otomi are believed to date from before the Toltec invasions, or before 700 AD.

COMMANDOS FLOWN TO BRITISH GUIANA

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (UPI)—Britain rushed more tough commandos into this paralyzed, fire-blackened capital today to prevent fresh outbreaks of violence and looting. (See page 7.)

A 77-man unit equipped with automatic weapons was flying in from England to reinforce British soldiers already patrolling the streets. Some of the troops are veterans of the Mau Mau campaign in Kenya or have seen service in Cyprus and Egypt.

Business was at a standstill because of a general strike.

NASON

This is the first in a series of 15 articles by an educational authority detailing what parents can do to help their children succeed in school.

By LESLIE J. NASON, D.Ed.
University of Southern California

"How can I get my child to want to learn?"

That question is uppermost in the minds of good parents; a question most frequently asked when parents and teachers meet to discuss education.

The problem is not one for teachers alone to solve. Parents themselves have an important—perhaps the most important—role in stimulating their child's thirst for knowledge.

In this series of articles we are going to outline some of the ways in which you can help your child to succeed in school by creating and enhancing his desire to learn.

Parents are the most important people on earth to children.

Father's political party or make or car is likely to be Junior's choice, too. Mother's way of cooking or cleaning will become little Susie's way of doing things.

Children also tend to share their parents' views about school.

If Daddy says "I always liked school. Things I learned in school help me with my job," Junior decides that he likes school. If Mother says "From the time I was a little girl, I knew I would go to college," Susie decides that college is for her, too.

Family Approval of Learning Needed

But if Daddy says, "I hated school. I couldn't wait for the time to quit," Junior rates school as a bore. And if Mother says, "Don't bother me with your homework. I have more important things to do," Susie looks at homework as of little or no importance.

First and foremost in a child's education needs is family approval of learning. With it, he is off to a flying start. Without it, he is under a serious handicap.

The youngster who knows that his parents stand behind him in getting an education, studies harder and does better than a child who thinks his parents do not care.

Be sure your child knows you care.

A successful college student told me the other day:

"My parents always encouraged questions. They made it clear that there was no such thing as a foolish question. If they didn't know the answer, they helped me find it."

It isn't always easy to manage the activities of a family so each member can fill all his needs without becoming a problem to someone else. It is possible, however, for the family to plan activities so each member knows that others are considering his needs and desires.

When television, recreation and the dozens of other activities of the home are regulated to provide time for homework and family discussion, school is given its proper place of importance.

Parents set the attitude toward learning that children adopt as their own.

Provide your children with a place and time to study. Have reference books handy. Encourage them to look up words in the dictionary and places in the atlas. Encourage them to study each subject, not just do homework assignments.

Let them enter family discussions about current events. Listen to good music together. Read good books with them. Go to libraries, museums, zoos, art galleries with your children.

Always consider school and education important, thus creating family approval of learning.

Next: Respect your children as individuals.

LAWYER GETS THE BIRD

Fowl Lovers Cry 'Foul'

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP)—Folks complained about the honking so the Humane Society picked up the culprits—a Canada goose and four wild ducks.

The fowls were jailed, so to speak, under the city leash law for pets.

A bird lover anonymously hired lawyer Ramon Poitevin to go to bat for the goose.

The lawyer told police his client's detention violated the U.S. Migratory Bird Act. They were ahead of him.

"Mr. Poitevin," he says they told him Saturday, "we're gonna loose your goose."

"That's ducky," he replied.

The goose soared off where the wild goose goes.

But his four feathered buddies are still jailed birds.

Said a sympathizer: "It's a fowl blow."

OTHERS TO FOLLOW?

'Untruth' Charged By Caucus

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Resignation of Hazen Argue, Member of Parliament for Assiniboia and a western farm spokesman in the House, from the New Democratic Party may be followed eventually by the departure of one or two other members from the new political movement.

The badly-shaken CCF-New Democratic party group in the House was uncertainly closing ranks today behind a senior member of the party, H. W. "Bert" Herridge, who represents Kootenay west in parliament.

The Liberals and Conservatives were delighted with the development. They saw in the moves a sure sign that the new party had no appeal for the farmers.

SPLITS PARTY

Mr. Argue's bitterly-worded resignation appeared to split the new party, separating the western farm wing from the eastern members of organized labor.

The CCF-New Democratic Party caucus issued a statement today in which bitterness was the keynote. It was obvious that Mr. Argue's resignation had been a stunning blow.

In the statement Mr. Argue was accused of lying about labor domination of the New Democratic Party. In its formal statement the caucus said Mr. Argue's reasons for leaving the party which "pivoted on the domination of the party by a so-called 'labor clique,'" were "staggering in their misconception and untruth."

The statement added that all members of the caucus felt that the basis of the party since the founding convention last summer "is wider than with the CCF, and domination by labor or farm or professional or academic groups is nonsense."

RUMORS FLY

Reports were flying about Ottawa in the wake of Mr. Argue's resignation that T. C. "Tommy" Douglas, the leader of the New Democratic Party, will challenge Mr. Argue in the latter's own federal riding of Assiniboia.

If Mr. Douglas decided to run in Assiniboia for that fed-

REPLY TO NIKITA

'Scrap A-Arms' —De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—President de Gaulle today urged the world's nuclear powers to destroy all their nuclear weapons and to join in destruction or control of all means of their delivery.

The French president said France is ready to meet with the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union in a disarmament conference for this purpose.

De Gaulle's proposal was contained in a letter to Premier Khrushchev, replying to the Soviet leader's suggestion of an 18-nation summit conference on disarmament in Geneva next month.

The key section of de Gaulle's letter said France is ready to participate with the other three nuclear powers in negotiations "which would have as their immediate objective the destruction, the banning and the control of the means of delivery of nuclear weapons."

He ignored Khrushchev's proposal for the 18-nation disarmament meeting on the summit level March 14.

The president said a conference such as he proposed should be limited to the big four powers. Participation of other states could not lead to any positive result, he said.

Weather Improving For U.S. Space Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A brightening weather picture buoyed hopes today that astronaut John Glenn will be launched toward a round-the-earth orbit Tuesday after months of delays.

The first half of a split two-day countdown was started at 2.30 a.m. The pre-count was finished at 6 a.m. with both the Atlas booster rocket and "Friendship 7" spacecraft ready.

Officials were shooting for a launch between 7.30 a.m. and 12.30 p.m. EST (4.30 and 9.30 a.m. PST) Tuesday.

Peace Settled? Rebels Dubious

(Times News Service)

PARIS—A French team has agreed with Moslem insurgent negotiators on a cease-fire in the seven-year Algerian insurrection, sources close to the government reported today.

Exact details were not immediately available but it was understood the agreement was subject to approval of the Tunis-based Algerian "provisional" government's executive as well as the insurgent "parliament."

(In Tunis, rebel Foreign Minister Saad Dahlab said "The discussion is not ended. It has made a great deal of progress and can resume with good prospects."

(Vice-Premier Belkacem Krim said, "Things are going quite well, but we still have a lot to do." Another rebel spokesman said, "It is not finished yet. Another meeting will be necessary.")

France will endorse the agreement. President de Gaulle gave personal approval at each critical stage of the talks, which took place near the Swiss border.

French officials today acknowledged for the first time that the talks took place. An official statement said they began Feb. 11 and ended Sunday.

The French team, headed by Minister for Algeria Louis Joxe, flew from Geneva to Paris meantime and Joxe arranged to brief de Gaulle on latest developments. The cabinet will consider the agreement.

COULD DISAPPROVE

The main question remaining was whether the "provisional" government's executive and the insurgent national council, a kind of parliament expected to meet this week in Tripoli, Libya, would give approval.

The "provisional" government has extremists in its ranks who disapprove of an understanding with France, but throughout Algeria there is a great war weariness among Moslems and Europeans alike.

A rejection of the agreement by the insurgents could undermine their support in Algeria.

ARGUE
. . . warns farmers

Seeks To Join Liberals

OTTAWA (CP) — Hazen Argue who quit the New Democrat Party Sunday, has made a formal move to sit in Parliament as a Liberal MP, sources here said today.

Opposition Leader Pearson and a number of his top lieutenants, including Senator John Connolly, president of the National Liberal Federation, were said to have discussed Mr. Argue's proposal at a meeting today.

An invitation to join Liberal ranks was extended to Mr. Argue at the press conference at which he announced his resignation. The invitation was given by Ross Thatcher, Saskatchewan Liberal leader, who left the CCF in 1955 and a year later joined the Liberals in the Commons.

West Warned On Air Lanes

BERLIN (UPI)—The Soviet Union in a note to the Western allies announced tonight it will continue what the West considers harassing flights in the Berlin air lanes.

The note warned the West it would face "unpleasant" results if it ignored Russian attempts to limit Western air traffic.

The Russian answer to a Western allied protest against harassing Russian flights was reelased tonight by the East German news service ADN.

Philip Going to Fair

SEATTLE (AP) — Prince Philip will visit the Seattle world's fair June 1, the British consultate-general, Geoffrey H. S. Jackson, announced here today.

'Three Officials Running Party'

REGINA (CP)—Hazen Argue, the fighting farmer-politician from Saskatchewan and CCF member of the House of Commons for 17 years, bolted from the New Democratic Party Sunday because it has "become the tool of a small labor clique."

Mr. Argue was leader of the CCF-NDP group in the Commons and is former national leader of the CCF party.

In a surprise announcement—it shocked some quarters—the 41-year-old socialist said in a statement:

"The NDP now has become the tool of a small labor clique and is effectively under their domination and control."

He said in an interview later that control of the NDP, formed last year by the CCF and labor groups, rests with three men — the leaders of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, the United Steelworkers of America and the United Auto Workers Union, all affiliated with the Canadian Labor Congress.

Mr. Argue also advised farmers to avoid the NDP "like the plague."

MAY JOIN LIBERALS

"Leadership of the NDP should be more democratic and not so susceptible to control and dictation from labor bosses," he said in the interview.

Although Mr. Argue declined to comment on his plans, he is expected to join the Liberal party, following his former university roommate, Ross Thatcher. Mr. Thatcher left the CCF in 1955, joined the Liberals a year later and in 1960 became leader of the Saskatchewan Liberal party.

Mr. Argue planned to fly to Ottawa today with his wife, Jean.

He said he hopes to make a speech in the Commons Tuesday and arrange the location of his seat in the House.

Mr. Argue, who last August lost to T. C. (Tommy) Douglas in a bid for national leadership of the NDP, announced his resignation at a press conference.

He sent a telegram of resignation to Michael Oliver, national president of the party; Harold Winch, deputy parliamentary leader of the CCF-NDP group, and Douglas Fisher, CCF member of the Commons for Port Arthur.

CONSULT WITH THATCHER

Mr. Thatcher immediately invited his old schoolmate to join the Liberal party. Mr. Argue consulted with Mr. Thatcher into the early hours Sunday before deciding to make his announcement.

Gov't Shuns Inquiry On Health

(See page 15)

The B.C. government did not present a brief as scheduled when the Royal Commission on Health Services opened its one-day hearing in the Empress Hotel today.

NDP-Opposition leader Robert Strachan, in presenting a brief for his party, said:

"I must express my regret that there is no one here from the government of British Columbia to welcome this commission to our great province . . ."

MET PREMIER

"This is not completely accurate," interrupted Hon. Emmett Hall, commission chairman, with a smile. "I had a few minutes with your premier, Mr. Bennett, and he said we were most welcome in B.C."

"Then I would add my welcome to Mr. Bennett's" answered Mr. Strachan. "I represent the 62 per cent of the people of this province who support the government but who do not vote for it.

"This may seem a little hard to understand, but it is the situation in B.C."

A spokesman for the B.C. health department gave no explanation as to why the government had not entered a brief. Nor could he say if there would be one.

MARTIN AWAY

Health Minister Eric Martin was said to be "out of town" this morning and there was no government representative on hand when the hearing opened soon after 10 a.m.

B.C. is the first province that has failed to present a brief on the first day of commission sittings in the respective provinces.

The seven-member commission has now visited eight provinces.

KEENLEYSIDE:

'Economic Eccentricity' To Ban Export of Power

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, chairman of the British Columbia Power Commission, today described as "economic eccentricity" federal government policy which would forbid the sale of Columbia River power in the United States.

In his first hydro policy speech outside the province, he told a meeting of the Canadian club here he has not been able to find an economist or a serious - minded businessman who opposes such export.

Dr. Keenleyside is head of the crown agency which is responsible for the proposed $458,000,000 development. The federal government is opposed to the export of Columbia River power because it would foster industry in the U.S. which could be established in Canada.

"I know of no other country in which power exports are officialy prohibited on principle," he said. "Surely a policy that everywhere else is accepted as beneficial cannot reasonably be considered detrimental to Canada."

Dr. Keenleyside's address was delivered to the meeting by R. C. McMordie, manager of engineering and operations of the British Columbia Power Commission. Dr. Keenleyside is recuperating from a recent illness. He was discharged from hospital last week.

B.C. also wants to sell to the Americans its share of downstream benefits—power which would be returned to the province for controlling the flow on the upper reaches of the Columbia.

'WOULD HURT ECONOMY'

Dr. Keenleyside said B.C. policy of developing the Columbia and Peace rivers simultaneously could not be implemented without the sale of those benefits.

"Refusal to alow the sale of downstream benefits would do direct, gross and permanent injury to the economy of our province."

He said B.C., as soon as sales contracts can be negotiated with the U.S., should start on the Columbia project with a view to obtaining financial returns from it, possibly as early in 1965.

The policy concerning development of B.C.'s power resources was the most important single economic problem facing the country today.

From water which now is flowing to the seas, in 15 years Canada could return an annual

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

One sure sign that summer's on its way was the 5 p.m. ferry to Vancouver on Friday.

For the first time since last tourist season the boat left cars waiting behind, about 22 in all.

One fellow we know arrived at Swartz Bay 20 minutes before sailing time and was the fifth last to get on the Mv Victoria.

* * *

A happy young visitor to Victoria Friday was Robbie Straight, 14-year-old son of weekly newspaper publisher Hal Straight.

Attending the legislature for the first time to watch a day of the session, he emerged with a book autographed by the Premier.

Young Robbie listened to a speech by Mines Minister Kiernan which he said he enjoyed very much.

"Then Gordon Gibson started to speak," said Robbie, "but I couldn't figure out what he was saying so I left."

There's a big revival in the art of heraldry in England, says Robert Savery, designer of the B.C. Government's controversial $50,000 fountain, who recently returned from Britain.

SAVERY

While in England, the landscape architect supervised the initial work for the casting of B.C. historical animals in bronze.

They will be used to decorate the fountain to be erected at the rear of the legislative buildings.

Heraldry, a form of sculpturing, includes the making of shields of knights and symbolic animal figures, and is being used extensively for decorating public buildings, churches, businesses and landscaping, Mr. Savery said.

This corner must confess to a definite feeling of climatic smugness.

After all, where else in this broad land would the whirr of power lawn mowers be heard on Feb. 18?

But then maybe all that lawn cutting on Sunday wasn't REALLY necessary. Maybe Victorians were merely indulging in a spot of spring training.

* * *

Half a million tourist promotion stickers — designed to be used on outgoing Vancouver Island mail — are still unclaimed at the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Tourist commissioner W. J. Hawkins had the stickers printed up and offered them to chambers of commerce throughout the Island for distribution. But there have been no takers so far.

The stickers are green and gold with a picture of Vancouver Island and Captain Discovery with the slogan "Visit Canada's Treasure Island."

Dr. Russell B. Robertson, who died here on Friday, at one time estimated that he had "presided" at the birth of 30 per cent of Victoria's population.

A doctor who was beloved by his many patients and respected by his colleagues, Dr. Robertson coaxed more than 15,000 babies into the world during his 38 years of practice in Victoria.

Dr. Robertson

Never a man to complain of hard work, he handled the bulk of births during the Second World War when Victoria was denuded of its medical men for overseas service. At that time there were only 30 doctors left here, and Dr. Robertson worked as many as 20 hours a day.

* * *

Pilferers of the Centennial sign from City Hall a few weeks ago, they have made another bid for the rogue's gallery by garnering the brass name plate from the Mv. Sidney.

It appeared this morning tacked to the wall of the college cafeteria.

Fleming Denies Pressure On Canada to Fix Dollar

OTTAWA (UPI) — Finance Minister Fleming today denied there was any indictment of Canada's exchange rate by the International Monetary Fund at its executive council meeting in Washington Friday.

Fleming told the Commons that Canada did not enter into any new commitments at the meeting and that no date had been set for the next session.

He said that while the IMF's ultimate goal was a fixed relationship between various currencies, Canada's present position was understood.

BUYING AND SELLING

Since mid-summer Canada has been keeping the value of its dollar below the U.S. dollar by buying and selling its holdings of U.S. dollars.

Opposition leader Pearson asked Fleming if it was not true that the IMF said its goal of fixed relationship could be achieved in a matter of months. The finance minister said this was not his understanding.

He also denied that the IMF had asked for periodic consultations with Canada over the rate.

He denied a charge by Paul Martin (L—Essex East) that Canada's policy had caused "disquietude" outside the country. He said Canada's policy was "clear, strong and firm" and was understood abroad.

Denying there was any "manipulation" of the exchange rate, Fleming said Canada's policy has not been "aggressive" or harmed any country.

FAIR BOOTH

Up-Island Support Pledged

Mayor Jack Dobson of Duncan Saturday appealed for a united Vancouver Island effort to obtain immediate financial support for a tourist booth at the Seattle world's fair.

"Duncan stands ready and willing to play along with the Vancouver Island team," the mayor said. "We trust that a united Vancouver Island effort will result."

Mayor Dobson's statement followed an urgent appeal from Victoria Chamber of Commerce addressed to the entire business community of Greater Victoria and up-Island centres.

Parksville and Qualicum Beach village councils said they would be willing to double their quotas if it would assure provision of the Seattle booth.

DECLINES COMMENT

Mayor Pete Maffeo of Nanaimo declined commend until he had discussed the matter with his council.

The chamber's appeal was solidly backed by its board of directors at their monthly meeting in the Empress Hotel Friday.

The issue was raised by Walter Dodsworth, chairman of the chamber's tourist industry group and a director of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, which is sponsoring the booth.

'APPALLING'

Mr. Dodsworth told the meeting the $56,000 project was in danger of being abandoned because of lack of financial support and said that it would be "appalling" if this should occur.

G. Conway Parrott, who is also a director of the publicity bureau, said forcefully "it is urgent — not desirable but urgent—that we have this booth at the Seattle fair."

Sam Lane said it would be tragic if the opportunity to bring the tourist attractions of Vancouver Island to the attention of the millions of people expected at the fair was lost.

Director Hugh Stephen proposed the booth should be a charge on the municipalities of Greater Victoria and paid for entirely out of tax revenues. However, this suggestion, in the form of an amendment to Mr. Dodsworth's motion, was defeated.

Mr. Dodsworth also reported to the meeting the tourist industry group is considering the advisability of not sponsoring a Tourist Appreciation Week this year in view of the great number of tourist activities being planned.

LOTTERIES

With a minimum of discussion the directors decided to refer to a general membership mail ballot a request from the Canadian Chamber of Commerce for an expression of opinion on the desirability of setting up legalized sweepstakes or lotteries in Canada.

E. E. Pearlman, QC, said 99 per cent of the bingos and lotteries conducted in this country are probably illegal if the law was strictly defined.

"Is is not better," he asked, "if gambling cannot be eleminated, to have laws to control it?"

Under strict control, he believed, it would be possible to funnel money into useful channels and at the same time give people a chance to work off their gambling instincts.

Other side of the question was stated by Tom Denny, who said: "It would be a sorry reflection on this country, and on ourselves, if support for hospitals and charities had to come through a weakness of human instincts."

BUSINESS VIEWS

$1 Policy Causes Concern

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

While Canada appears to have won another round in its long battle to maintain a floating exchange rate, reports out of Washington indicate that directors of the International Monetary Fund are getting impatient.

Bell

For 11 years now Canada has avoided "pegging" its dollar, despite considerable pressure from other members of the IMF to do so.

Canada's original excuse, back in 1950 when the dollar was first allowed to float, was that time was needed to determine just what the rate should be.

After 10 years Canada had still apparently not been able to decide and then last year Finance Minister Fleming announced the government would take steps to lower the Canadian dollar below the value of the U.S.—but he wouldn't say how far the lowering process would go.

Immediately following Mr. Fleming's announcement the IMF let it be known that, in its opinion, the time had come for Canada to peg its dollar.

Canada pleaded for more time and was granted it, reluctantly, by the IMF.

SHOWDOWN DEMANDED

This Friday, though, eight members of the IMF—the U.S., India, Britain, West Germany, Italy, Belgium and The Netherlands — demanded a showdown.

They didn't, apparently, get it.

Instead, Bank of Canada governor Louis Rasminsky managed to stall the IMF once again by pleading for more time and promising that Canada would use its official monetary reserves only for the purpose of moderating wide swings in the exchange value of the Canadian dollar.

Immediate effect of Canada's refusal to peg its dollar is likely to be a further weakening in the exchange rate. This will be a natural result of lack of foreign confidence in the Canadian dollar.

There will be some beneficial effects as the dollar sinks lower — mainly to the important exporting industries which are placed in a better competitive position.

However, it is the view of many responsible Canadians that the lower drift of the Canadian dollar cannot be allowed to go much further.

There is a point where the benefits of increased exports are offset by the rising cost of living for all Canadians, the increasing cost of servicing heavy debts contracted in the U.S. by provincial and municipal governments and by private corporations, the reluctance of foreign capital to invest in Canada and the risk of a flight of capital already established.

Even more important, as the free world moves toward freer trade, is the psychological attitude which Canada's refusal to co-operate with the IMF is bound to engender.

There is a deep suspicion that what Canada is trying to accomplish by pushing down the value of its dollar is to restrict imports without formally raising tariff barriers and to circumvent the barriers raised by other countries by cheapening the value of its goods.

Rumors of a takeover of Dominion Bridge Ltd. were firmly squelched by president H. G. Welsford at the annual meeting in Montreal.

Mr. Welsford told the meeting that while the rumors had apparently caused an unusually high amount of activity in Dominion Bridge stock, "the directors and officers of the company have no knowledge whatsoever of any such offers and, so far as they know, the rumors have been without foundation in fact."

He went further and said that even if offers were made by some primary steel producer, in Canada or elsewhere, it was difficult to see how any advantage would accure from a merger.

He said a primary steel producer must sell without discrimination through as many outlets as possible while a structural steel company must be in a position to buy in the most advantageous market. A merger of the two would not, therefore, be advantageous to either.

Speech from the throne at the opening of the Alberta legislature provided a boost to the western oils Friday as they went to another new high point.

No details of oil and gas legislation were disclosed but it was stated that steps would be taken to "encourage continued exploration and development of gas resources" as a result of a study made by government and industry.

Cassiar Copperfields Ltd. this week released assay reports from recent drifting at its Golden Contact mine, seven miles east of the Pioneer gold mine, and their spectacular nature caused the stock to zoom in Vancouver over-the-counter trading.

Trading at around 15 cents a few days ago, the stock hit 48 cents Friday and closed around 45.

A 60-foot length over a full drift width in a north branch of the main vein was reported to assay an average of 25.24 ounces gold and 12.16 ounces silver per ton over equal five-foot intervals.

One face, over a full-drift width, was reported to go 442.92 ounces of gold—equivalent to $15,502 a ton.

A mill on the property is nearing completion and is expected to be in operation in April or May.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Nationalization Hint Felt

Extraneous affairs were felt on Wall Street and on the two Montreal exchanges today.

At the latter, where utilities were generally lower, Quebec Power and Shawnigan both took losses after being the target of a nationalization program for Quebec utilities proposed last week by Resources Minister Levesque.

Brazil's expropriation of the subsidiary of Internation Telephony was responsible for a loss of about three points in parent company's share.

In other sections trading was sluggish with fractional gains and losses being recorded.

AT TORONTO Abitibi, Canada Cement, Interprovincial Pipe Line and Canada Packers B all advanced in a ⅛ to ¾ range, while Algoma Steel added ⅛. Argus Corporation ¼ and Moore Corporation ⅝.

Among issues showing losses were Dominion Bridge, down ⅜, Steel Company of Canada, off ⅛, Shawinigan, off ½ and Bell Telephone off ¼.

Base metals were strengthened by fractional gains while speculatives were weaker with Lake Dufault down 25 cents to $6.05 and Northgate off 10 cents at $4.90.

AT MONTREAL prices were mixed in active trading.

Utilities were lower. Quebec Power dropped 1½ to 32 and Shawinigan eased ½ to 22½. Both companies are targets of a nationalization program for Quebec utilities proposed by the Resources Minister Levesque last week.

In mines, Mount Pleasant was ahead 17 cents at $2.65 and New West Amulet added five cents to 26 cents.

Bailey-Selburn A eased ⅛ to 10⅜ among Western oils.

AT NEW YORK business moved unevenly in slack trading late this afternoon.

Among Canadian issues, McIntyre Porcupine rose ¾ while Hudson Bay Mining gained ¼. Granby Mining, Distillers Seagrams and Canadian Pacific each added ⅛. International Nickel lost ¼.

Prices on the American Exchange were mixed after an early rise.

AT LONDON no definite trend was established.

Initial gains in industrials were not always held. Imperial Chemicals lost ground. Steels were firm and there were some bright spots in engineering shares. Tobacco shares opened firm.

Gold shares were quiet. Tin shares trended harder but coppers eased.

Oil shares occasionally were better.

AT VANCOUVER trading was moderate with prices holding during the morning. Charter moved at $1.67; Bethlehem Copper up to $2.09; Caribou traded at $1.29; Friday Mines went at 28; Kamloops Copper was at 38; Peel at 55; Western Mines moved with a high of $1.55; Granduc moved at $3.70 and Canadian Colleries sold at $7.37½.

St. Joseph's Workers Join Association

Members of St. Joseph's Hospital Employees' Association have joined the 10,000-member B.C. Hospital Employees' Union, an executive member confirmed today.

The move, noted in a department of labor certifiction of changed status, leaves only Royal Jubilee Hospital among the major civic hospitals on Vancouver Island with staff organized on a purely local level.

St. Joseph's 352 staff members — excluding registered nurses—constitute Local 180 of the Hospital Employees' Union, an affiliate of the all-Canadian National Union of Public Employees.

They make up one of the largest unions in the province.

MORE EXPECTED

Before the move, membership stood at 400, but the executive expects that many of the present non-members will join the union, if only as associates. Many of them are in borderline categories.

Secretary Leslie Spencer said the move was made partly to avoid embarrassment to the employees during contractual negotiations.

"It takes the onus off employees," he said, "and places it on an outsider who will act on our behalf."

Preparations are under way now to open 1962 contract negotiations, for which provincial union secretary William Black will meet with the local executive next week.

It will be recommended to the membership that the present executive, headed by president A. G. Linders, be kept in office another year to maintain continuity in the changeover.

FARM INCOME 5-YEAR LOW FROM DROUGHT

OTTAWA (CP)—Estimated total farm net income for 1961 is $1,006,000,000, lowest since 1957 and some 24 per cent down from the revised 1960 estimate of $1,319,600,000 in 1960, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today.

Farm operating expenses played a part by continuing to rise, but the bureau said the Prairie drought loss in grains—plus reduced farm grain supplies—was mainly responsible for the big drop from 1960.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER ALVAREZ

Snake Venom Used

Today, a correspondent writes to say he knows of someone who once, when seriously ill, was bitten by a rattlesnake and recovered—not only from the bite but from his disease. The writer now wonders if we doctors have ever used snake venom as a medicine.

Alvarez

Yes, we have; snake venom has been used for many years in the treatment of a number of conditions, and sometimes it helps. I always have read widely in the history of medicine, and hence I always have been much interested in the origins of many of our drugs.

I often have wondered how it came about that naked savages in the forests of the world discovered the medicinal value of certain plants. I suspect that many such observations were made during times of terrible famine when, in their great hunger, the people ate anything that looked at all edible. In South America, the savages found that the bark of a certain tree cured malaria, while part of another plant cured a diarrhea that is due to amebiasis.

Leaves of the coca plant, when chewed, lessened the distress felt by porters who carried loads up the mountain trails. Today, we get from coca leaves the great pain-reliever, cocaine. In Asia, a part of a certain tree was found to help people with leprosy. In England, an old woman found that she could greatly help many people with heart disease by making a medicine out of the ordinary foxglove that grows in gardens.

A physician named Withering, hearing of her many cures, got from her the formula of the herb tea that she was using. He it was who then introduced into medicine the valuable drug, digitalis, which, ever since, has been used by physicians all over the world.

A few years ago, a good tranquilizer was found being used by the people in India. I imagine that, by now, practically all of the drugs that were ever used by old herb doctors in every part of the world have been studied and tested for what is called therapeutic activity, or the ability to cure a disease or relieve a symptom.

We use in modern medicine even the curare or arrow poison that we got originally from the Indians in Brazil. We use it to relax the abdominal muscles during surgery.

So many persons write me saying that they have an impairment of vision that has puzzled their eye man and has not been relieved by new glasses, that it might be well to note here a letter to the Journal of the American Medical Association from Dr. Leo J. Mayer of Jackson, Miss., who says that, not infrequently, patients taking a certain tranquilizer have a loss of sharp vision for near objects.

We doctors all know that persons taking the drug, belladonna, perhaps for a mucous colitis, can have trouble focussing their eyes. Now Dr. Mayer says that persons taking diethylstilbestrol "shots," in perhaps too large a dosage, for the menopause or the treatment of prostatic cancer, also can have trouble bringing near objects, like newsprint, into focus.

HOME GARDEN

Plant a Shrub for Centenary

The gardeners of Victoria, and their friends and neighbors in the adjoining municipalities, could easily put on a centennial display to delight all who see it.

Hilda

While some might want to use only the centennial colors of blue and gold, we are not limited to these for a garden display which will be eye-catching to visitors.

Flowering annuals come to mind as the means of producing color in quantity most quickly. With these, even a newly-acquired bare property can be made into an attractive summer scene. Also, the tenants of rented houses could do much to improve their surroundings by the use of even $2 or $3 worth of annuals bought in April or May.

The ground for these temporary plantings needs to be dug over to break up large clumps of earth and to remove debris and stones. Just before planting, a little balanced fertilizer raked into the top two inches will take care of any lack of fertility, and aid the young plants in getting a quick start in their new quarters.

In more permanent gardens, the owners will want a special dress-up this summer, and by adding some established plants of such things as delphiniums, phlox, gaillardias and veronicas, a picture can be produced for this year as well as many years to come.

The planting of a centennial shrub or tree to mark the city of Victoria's 100th birthday is a project worthy of the attention of all home owners, and especially the parents of young children.

Effects can be obtained by planning now, and following through with the arrangement of plants which are selected.

We shall have more to say on centennial gardens a little later.

CD CONTROL

Wurtele Elected

Policy-forming representatives for Victoria civil defence target area named Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele their chairman at an organizational meeting last week.

As head of the control committee, representing all organized and unorganized areas south of Chemainus and Port Renfrew, he will call meetings about twice a year, or when necessary, to review the work of the permanent planning committee.

The latter comprises all civil defence officers and army representatives within the target area, and will be broken down into sub-committees.

It is headed by area co-ordinator W. W. Mathers with his deputy, J. D. Somerville, as vice-chairman.

DOVE-TAILED

Both are ex-officio members of the control committee with Lieut.-Col. John Cook, army commander of the target area. Col. Cook's second in command, Major Alan Harbord-Harbord, will serve on the planning committee.

"Anything we do the army is in on," Mr. Mathers said, explaining that civil and army efforts are dove-tailed.

Local and area planning goes on continuously, he said.

ADVERTISER 'PRESSURE' DENIED

TORONTO (CP)—Pressures on the press are not always what the layman supposes them to be, Stuart Keate, publisher of The Victoria Times, said Saturday in an address to the winter conference of the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs.

"For instance," Mr. Keate said, "we hear a great deal about pressures from big advertisers but in my experience this charge is absolutely without validity.

"Advertisers, over the years, have come to recognize and respect the division between news and advertising columns; I know of no Canadian daily in which it is possible to buy space in the news pages."

'ALL RIGHT, KILL ME' CAPTAIN TELLS GUNMEN

By DAVE OANCIA

ALGIERS (CP)—Four gun-brandishing members of the secret army marched boldly into an Algiers hotel during the weekend and gave foreign correspondents a taste of terrorist methods.

The four strode into the mahogany-panelled Cintra Bar of the Aleppi Hotel and delivered an ultimatum to a chunky, grey-haired French army captain who was sitting alone.

They said their mission was to recruit the captain for the right-wing Secret Army Organization. As correspondents watched, they crowded round the captain in a scene straight out of some melodramatic cowboy film.

"All right, kill me," shouted the captain, opening his army jacket. "I am unarmed—go ahead and shoot. You've said four times you wanted to do it."

No shots were fired. At one point the two youngest intruders, both apparently local residents, began to weep.

The group was led by a man wearing the rosette of the Legion of Honor. Second in command was a German former member of the Foreign Legion, probably a deserter.

WILL DIE FOR CAUSE

"We are prepared to die to keep Algeria French," one of the younger ones said. "We're trying to prevent communism from taking over Africa."

The argument lasted from shortly before midnight Saturday until 1.30 a.m. Before leaving, the German came over to me and said he had orders to shoot the captain, but he thought he would give him another 24 hours to make up his mind.

It was the first time the secret army has ventured openly into the Aleppi, an exclusive waterfront hotel. Leading restaurants, hotels and movie houses generally escape the attention of the secret army through discreet payment to secret army "tax-collectors."

PM, Aides Test Strategy For Election on Students

By RON LEBEL

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker and nearly half his cabinet took turns defending the government's record and attacking the Liberals before a group of 300 university students over the weekend.

Officially it was the 14th annual meeting of the Progressive Conservative Student Federation, but it was more like a "dry run" of the government's campaign fo re-election.

Referring often to the present as "the eve of an election," the government leaders proudly reviewed their accomplishments since taking office in 1957.

They tried out new slogans, resurrected Sir John A. Macdonald's historic National Policy, distributed new election posters and asked for the students' assistance in active campaigning.

The prime minister hinted that the election would not come until the end of the academic year, saying the students would not have to campaign during their exams.

Mr. Diefenbaker received enthusiastic ovations for his denunciation of the Liberals as unprincipled opportunists "wailing and gnashing their teeth over any advance that takes place in the country."

The government's record was described at thr conference as a return to the national policy that had helped build Canada into a self-governing, self-sufficient nation in the 50 years following Confederation.

The policy has been updated to apply to modern times, the ministers said, but its basic aims are still the same: national unity, national identity and national development.

Labor Minister Starr set the theme when he said the government has "licked" the recession. With unemployment declining, production and trade increasing, Canada was moving toward its highest level of prosperity in history.

Nine cabinet members in all addressed the students, including three who were not on the program. Amid all the campaign oratory, convention organizers cancelled executive reports and debate on grass-roots resolutions.

'SINK A-BOMBS IN SEA'

K's Wife Appeals To U.S. Women

LONDON (Reuters) — Mrs. Nina Khrushchev Sunday night broadcast an appeal for friendship to the women of the United States.

Speaking in English, the wife of the Soviet premier said "we do not want to fight, but we want to be friends with you."

Her speech was broadcast over the North American service of Moscow radio and was scheduled to be repeated three times.

She said the Soviet Union would like to have the "friendly understanding" with the United States that existed during the time of late president Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"But unfortunately the danger is now great," she said. "Many women in America realize this."

"Let us sink atom bombs, along with other weapons in the deepest part of the ocean and live without weapons as good neighbors," Mrs. Khrushchev said.

ANSWERS LETTERS

This was her answer to the letters she had received from women of the United States "asking how to prevent war and preserve peace."

In some of the letters, she said, "some American women reproached the Soviet Union for having restarted nuclear tests."

But she said Russia was aware of the danger of nuclear tests and had repeatedly urged a ban on them along with the destruction of all nuclear weapons.

"It is not the fault of our country if the nuclear tests are being resumed," she said.

The three-power nuclear test ban talks in Geneva were broken off by the Western powers, she declared.

400 MILES IN 20 DAYS 10 MEN SURVIVE DRIFT

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — A group of 10 Indonesians whose fishing boat lost its sails and mast in a raging storm arrived here Sunday after drifting 400 miles in 20 days from Tanimbar Islands, 500 miles west of New Guinea.

The fishermen, ranging in age from 18 to 54, said they survived the ordeal on raw rice and two days' supply of water.

FRIENDS BET SINATRA NO ROMEO FOR JULIET

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—The Johannesburg Sunday Times says in a bannerlined report from Hollywood that "friends of Frank Sinatra and Juliet Prowse are giving odds they will never be married." The paper listed the odds as "2 to 1 and steadily dropping." It said one of the main hitches is Miss Prowse's determination to keep on working, over Sinatra's objections. Miss Prowse is a native of South Africa.

'JUST FRIENDS' SAYS BURTON

Liz Leaves Hospital As Romance Denied

ROME (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor, apparently recovered from a case of food poisoning, today left the hospital with husband Eddie Fisher, and her leading man issued a statement denouncing "uncontrolled rumors" of a romantic involvement with the actress.

Miss Taylor was rushed to hospital in Rome late Saturday night in an ambulance.

The 29-year-old film star was released this afternoon.

Fisher, who had rushed back from Lisbon when informed of his wife's illness, was on hand to take her home to their rented luxurious Roman villa.

Rumors of a romantic attachment between Miss Taylor and Richard Burton, who plays Marc Antony in the movie "Cleopatra," had been circulating for several days in Rome, perhaps because of their torrid love scenes before the cameras. But there was nothing to indicate any substance to the rumors.

This morning, the 36-year-old Burton said he was the victim of distorted statements and a series of coincidences and that he and Miss Taylor are just "good friends."

U THANT TICKS OFF BELGIUM

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — United Nations acting Secretary-General Thant lashed out at Belgium last week, charging the Belgians with failing to co-operate with the UN military command in the Congo.

The United Nations released an exchange of notes between Thant and Belgian Ambassador Walter Loridan in which Belgium criticized the UN command for the massacre of Roman Catholic missionaries by Congolese at Kongolo.

Dear Sirs:

This company has made systematic use of classified advertising for the promotion of lumber and building supplies since its incorporation, and the results from this medium have been very gratifying indeed.

Response to advertisements appealing to "Do-It-Yourself" homeowners has been exceptionally satisfactory, and many Victorians come to us for their home repair requirements, particularly rumpus rooms, carports, sundecks and summer cottages.

Please accept my thanks for effective classified advertising.

V.I. ROUNDUP

Slowdown Eased by Longshoremen

A "slowdown" of longshoremen, that has hit west coast ports and cost shippers thousands of dollars in delayed charters, appears to be easing, shipping industry officials said today.

An industry spokesman said the slowdown began three weeks ago and has hit the loading or unloading of deepsea vessels at Chemainus, Nanaimo, Crofton and Port Alberni.

Vancouver and New Westminster operations were said to be "not bad, but spotty."

The spokesmen said the slowdown centred on a Jan. 22 arbitration board ruling on the manning of cargo winches. The ruling described the type of winches which could be operated by one man, but a dispute arose. The wording is expected to be clarified shortly.

Grain vessels have not been affected since their type of loading requires no winches.

COURTENAY—The success of the Chamber of Commerce membership campaign has been credited to a "crackdown on freeloaders" policy and a new canvassing system.

Randy Klaver, membership committee chairman, said paid memberships total 174 and pledges will bring the number to nearly 220. He is confident he can triple last year's 126.

A hired canvasser is being paid a 20 per cent commission to approach every businessman in the area to explain the function and aims of the chamber. He will point out that only members of the chamber of commerce will be allowed to use its advertising facilities.

President Al Rae explained that non-members had been given advertising space in a brochure last year and had been allowed to place literature in the tourist bureau.

The chamber has approved the installation of a teletype machine in the tourist bureau. It will form a part of a province-wide network which will be linked to Washington and Oregon facilities.

COURTENAY — A telegram from the Retail Merchant Association has asked Courtenay-Comox Chamber of Commerce to raise 1,000-name petition against trading stamps.

Bill Finlayson, chairman of the retail committee of the chamber, said a petition is already being distributed by many retail outlets in the form of cards asking customer support in the fight against stamps.

He added that the committee will consider the petition in a special meeting this week.

Doctors' 'War Chest' Blasted by Strachan

Board Hears Protest Of Campaign Tactics

NDP - CCF Opposition Leader Robert Strachan launched a two-pronged attack on the Canadian medical profession before the Royal Commission on Health Services sitting here today.

He charged:

1. That the profession has created "a political action fund" to fight attempts to introduce a medical care plan covering everyone in Canada.

2. That the Health Insurance Act, passed by the B.C. legislature in the early 1930s, was "killed by what was in effect a strike by the doctors."

DENIED

Mr. Strachan's first charge was denied by Dr. H. N. Watson, president of the B.C. division of the CMA, who attended the hearing but did not speak. In an interview he said flatly:

"There is no political action fund in the Canadian Medical Association."

But Mr. Strachan, in a lengthy brief to the commission, insisted there was such a fund and declared the medical profession should not have "either the moral or legal right" to obstruct a government-sponsored medical plan.

The Opposition Leader was the first to present a brief when the six-member royal commission opened its one-day sitting in the lower lounge of the Empress Hotel this morning.

SASKATCHEWAN PLAN

He charged that the medical profession in Saskatchewan had raised $90,000 through a special levy on its membership to finance a publicity campaign against Saskatchewan's proposed medical care plan.

"The type of campaign used, which even descended to religious blasphemy, has been condemned from one end of Canada to the other."

In 1958, he added, the B.C. branch of the CMA levied a similar assessment on its membership to finance a publicity campaign aimed at "the evils of Socialism."

"To describe this as public relations work is a misnomer. The money is in fact a political action fund . . ."

Mr. Stratchan said it was apparent from a report of Dr. P. O. Lehman, B.C. Medical Association representative to the CMA, that the medical profession recognizes public relations expenditures as political action disbursements.

He added that, although the CMA protests that the country cannot afford a comprehensive health plan, "it has no qualms in channelling . . . over a quarter of a million dollars, which could help provide medical care for someone, into the pockets of advertising hucksters."

The Opposition leader insisted that B.C. doctors had refused to practice within the framework of the provincial Health Insurance Act, passed in the 1930s.

"Personally I find it almost impossible to believe that now, 30 years later, the medical profession would again deny the people a health service by placing themselves above the law."

He insisted that, even after a provincial plebiscite had shown that the majority of the people in British Columbia wanted a health plan and a royal commission had recommended it, "the doctors refused to practice within the Act."

He advocated a national medical care program administered by the individual provinces but financially assisted by the federal government.

He added that, in view of obstructive measures by the medical profession, any legislation for such a program should "spell out quite clearly the fact that medical services are not only the patient's basic moral right, but also an enforceable legal right."

Mr. Strachan was questioned on this statement by Hon. Emmett Hall, chief justice of Saskatchewan and chairman of the commission.

"How do you enforce this right?" asked the chief justice. "How would you conscript the medical profession to give service."

PENALTIES

Mr. Strachan: "I think most citizens are naturally law-abiding. If a law is passed, they naturally want to remain within that law. But if they refuse, penalties must be laid down . . .

"It is an accepted norm in our society that no one group is allowed to defeat the purposes of that society.

"It should be impressed on the medical profession that society is demanding state medical care. I am of the opinion that many doctors in B.C. and Canada are not fully aware of this trend in public thinking."

Mr. Strachan added that doctors in B.C. and Canada generally have been subject to "pressures from the United States Medical Association.

DIFFERENT CONCEPT

"We say the people of Canada have a different concept of social services than they have in the United States."

Chief Justice Hall said the commission is concerned with "fathering" some system of health care that will be most satisfactory for all without too much insistence on compulsion.

Dr. David M. Baltzman, of Saskatoon, another member of the commission, questioned Mr. Strachan on his statement that the British National Health Service has been "the most successful and beneficial" in the world.

"I do not suggest we should copy the British plan," Mr. Strachan said. "I hope our Canadian system will be better, but I do insist the British system is the best in the world so far."

Mr. Strachan added that the Australian national health service "is only a second best, uneconomic system by comparison to Britain and provides less service to the patient.

"Such a system should not be considered in Canada," he declared.

SPCA HEAD OFFICE MOVES TO VICTORIA ON MARCH 15

Headquarters of the SPCA in B.C. will be moved to Victoria on March 15.

The move was decided upon by the humane society following the resignation of the executive director in Vancouver, T. I. Hughes. Mr. Hughes will go to Ontario as general manager of the SPCA there.

The head office of the B.C. society has been in Vancouver for the past eight years.

A new executive director, responsible for management of the Victoria branch of the SPCA, and provincial representative, will be chosen from present staff members of branches of the society across Canada.

Official Protest By Civil Servants

New Reference Board to Hear Appeal On Amount, Method of Pay Increases

The B.C. Government Employees' Association has filed notice it is appealing both the amount and the method of pay increases awarded to civil servants by the provincial government.

The BCGEA seeks a hearing with the new board of reference, set up by the government last year as the final arbiter of civil service disputes.

This is the first time a case has been presented for the board.

The appeal notice was mailed on the weekend to Dr. H. M. Morrison, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, which recommended raises ranging from 3 to 9 per cent for about half B.C.'s 14,000 employees.

LONG WAIT

Most of the raises were in top categories only, and many civil servants will have to wait years before reaching the higher levels.

A statement from the BCGEA today condemned "the substandard wage policy" of the government, as well as "the unsound method" in which the increases were made.

"In no case was any category even close to the rates that surveys showed are being paid by outside employers," said the statement.

It said the civil service commission had completely rejected its former policy of using such surveys as a base for increases.

It said that even with the new senior rates, many government employees are still getting less than the prevailing rates of private employers three years ago.

When the government announced creation of the board of reference, it said Dr. H. L. Keenleyside of the B.C. power commission would be chairman.

However no official appointment has been made.

The board would also include a representative of the employees and of the civil service commission.

A government official said members of the board will probably be appointed by a cabinet order as soon as the formal notice of appeal has been received by Dr. Morrison.

Dr. Morrison said he hasn't received it, and doesn't know to whom he should refer it when he does.

DEs to Join 'Task Force' In Far East

The three Victoria-based RCN destroyer escorts now cruising in the Far East will join a 50-ship fleet at Ceylon Feb. 26 for manoeuvres, the navy announced Sunday.

Ships from the navies of Britain, India, Pakistan, Ceylon and Australia will assemble at Trincomalee for exercises in the Indian Ocean and Bay of Bengal.

Exercises will involve shore-based maritime aircraft, carriers, cruisers, destroyers, frigates, support ships, minesweepers and submarines.

TO MALAYA

On March 10 the Canadian ships will leave the fleet for a two-day visit to Port Swettenham, Malaya, then rejoin the others at Singapore March 15 for post-exercise discussions.

The Canadian ships, sailing as the Second Canadian Escort Squadron, are Assiniboine, commanded by Capt. Victor Browne, who also commands the squadron; Margaree, Cmdr. U. H. MacLean, and Ottawa, Cmdr. I. A. MacPherson.

They left Esquimalt Jan. 5 on what will be a 15,000-mile cruise, longest peacetime training trip ever undertaken from this coast. They will return April 19.

ASK The TIMES

Q. How far away is the farthest star? D.F.

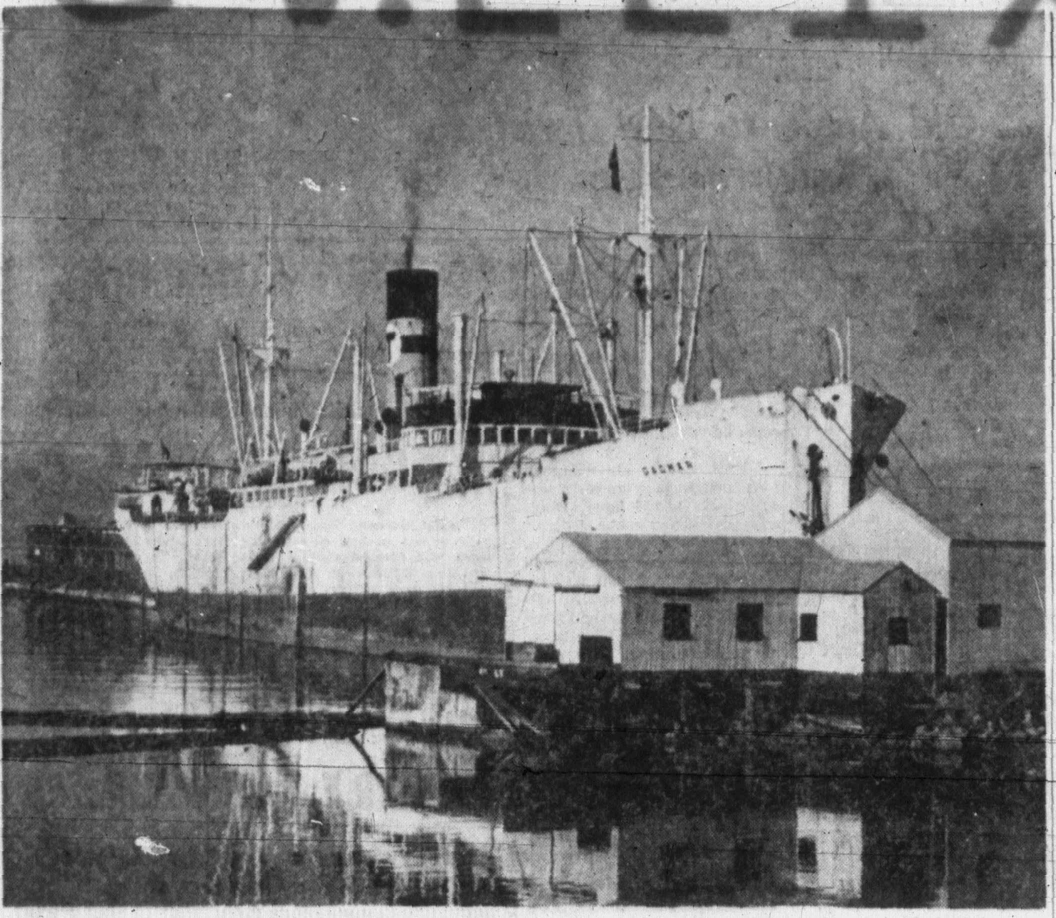
A. The farthest star in our galaxy is about 60,000 light years distance. A light year is the distance travelled by light in one year, and its speed is 186,000 miles per second.

Q. Will you please inform me in your column when and how the Victoria Cross originated? H.W.J.

A. It was instituted on Jan. 29, 1856. The first warrant enacted that as there existed "no means of adequately rewarding the individual services" of officers or men in the three services, "the Cross shall only be awarded to those officers and men who served us in the presence of the enemy, and shall have performed some signal act of valor of devotion to their country."

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.



TIME HAS BEEN KIND TO HER

Most ships are finished at the age of 30 years, but the Dagmar, built by Danish craftsmen at Helsingfors in 1928, is still fit and healthy. Now sailing under Swedish ownership and registry, she is loading lumber at Ogden Point for U.K. Goteburg is her home port, and she is represented here by King Bros. Ltd. Tall, slender stack is dead giveaway to her years. (Times photo by Bill Halkett)

MONTE ROBERTS

Having resumed residence in Oak Bay some months ago, the time has come to state why I did so, and more specifically, why I insisted on a Foul Bay Road address.

I moved to be in a better position to enter a campaign I knew was forthcoming—a campaign to change the name of Foul Bay Road to University Road.

My otherwise good friend Conway Parrott has rung the bell to start the first round in the campaign. On Friday he so bemused the Chamber of Commerce that it passed a resolution in favor of the change of names of Foul Bay Road, Henderson Way, and Finnerty Road to University Road.

If the Chamber of Commerce has any sense of responsibility, it will hastily re-convene and unpass said resolution.

I, for one, will fight this to the bitter end.

Along with all the other citizens of Oak Bay (I am not really a citizen yet, but have my first papers) I warn people who wish to meddle with street names to meddle with them in more unenlightened areas.

In Oak Bay, we know our geography. We know that Foul Bay Road is not a road leading to the University, it is a road leading to Foul Bay.

I realize there is a danger the foreigners in the City of Victoria might allow this change to take place.

They are so dazed and tired from the mad whirl of highly organized centennial (shh!) activities, they are in no condition to think straight.

If this happens, Oak Bay, I am sure, will still stand firm. It will be Foul Bay Avenue on OUR side of the street, no matter what it's called on THEIR side of the street.

* * *

In all seriousness, this mad move must be stamped out before it starts.

Let the Hendersons and Finnertys organize to protect their Way and their Road.

Let the Smugglers get together in case these wild name-changers get ideas about Smuggler's Cove Road—by long odds the most intriguing street address in Canada.

And above all, let us unite at once to defend Foul Bay—A Road by any other name is just a street.

Curlers Keen To Rebuild At Pt. Alberni

Alberni Valley Curling Club already is considering building a new curling rink to replace the four-sheet centre at Port Alberni destroyed by fire early Saturday morning.

Dennis Thain, a club director, will investigate construction costs and report to the executive, with the hope of having the project completed in time for the 1962-63 season.

It has been suggested the new rink be built around a six-sheet ice surface similar to the Comox Valley Curling Club centre.

Loss in the fire was estimated at $125,000, of which $95,500 was covered by insurance. Cost of rebuilding will be about $150,000.

Lost in the fire, in addition to the building and equipment and furnishings, were bonspiel prizes worth $1,500. The 10th annual club 'spiel was at the half-way point when the fire occurred.

PATENTS ASKED

Coat of Arms 'Memorial' Sent to Queen

The wheels of protocol finally have been set in motion by City Hall to obtain a coat of arms.

Requests, in traditional phraseology, are on their way to the Queen and the Duke of Norfolk for approval of a color design that has been re-drafted nine times during the past year.

Essentially, the proposed design is a heraldically—correct version of the official city seal which shows too angels holding a shield on which appears a crown.

The Queen's permission is needed to use the crown in the design.

The Duke of Norfolk, as earl marshal and hereditary marshal of England, heads the College of Heralds which issues the patent for coat of arms.

The requests are being sent through the lieutenant-governor and governor-general and it is hoped that authorization will be returned within a month.

Color scheme in the proposed design is gold, scarlet and blue.

The "memorial" sent to the Duke of Norfolk provides a capsule history of the city and requests:

"The favor of Your Grace's Warrant to the Kings of Arms for the granting and assigning of such armorial ensigns as may be proper to be borne and used by the municipal council of the City of Victoria in their corporate capacity on seals or otherwise according to the Laws of Arms."

Safe Stands Up To Pounding By Burglars

Two city business premises were broken into Saturday night but the thieves had nothing to show for their efforts.

They climbed over a rear gate and pried boards from a window to enter W. R. Menzies and Co., 911 Fort Street, and removed a door to get into the records office.

Here they battled to open a safe—without success—succeeding only in knocking off the dial and the handle.

Share Bath Secrets Of Famous Beauties

By PENNY SAVER

Every famous beauty is said to have had a beauty bath secret. For example, Cleopatra was said to have bathed among floating lilies. Mme. Pompadour used strawberries as her secret bath ingredient.

Just as these historical beauties were trying to retain a soft, smooth skin from head to toe, so are women today.

And I've seen just the preparation to do it, too!

They're two new luxurious bath products that, when combined or used separately, are comparable and even superior to the ingredients used by our ancestors.

New Red Roses bath emollient made by a leading cosmetic manufacturer is blended to make skin feel soft and smooth immediately after bath. It's moisturized and thoroughly lubricates, making it especially good for dry skin.

It performs effectively, too, in relieving itching caused by dry skin.

Use the top as a measuring cup, one capful of oil is enough for one tubful of bath water.

This emollient is selling at four ounces for $3.25. Why not try some, you won't be disappointed.

Do the words "bath foam" suggest a hot tub with an abundance of bubbles and you luxuriously relaxing within the fragrant swirls?

Well, why let it be only a suggestion, when with the Red Rose scented bath foam I've seen you can actually have your bath just that way. Six-ounce size of bath foam is only $2.75.

And girls, after all this relaxing luxury, you won't have to scrub a greasy ring from around the tub. These preparations don't leave a ring.

Why not really go all out and pamper yourself? I'll help you to start by telling you where to find these bath treats, if you call me.

WHY GROW OLD?

Lowman

There are so many little leaks in the way we spend our energy! If we remedied these, we would find that we have a big, new bonus of energy. We would come to the end of each day much less tired. These small savings count up to unbelievably large totals.

If you had had a heart attack, you would of necessity learn to cut corners in the expenditure of your energy. For the benefit of those women who have been told to take it easy because of a cardiac condition, here are some suggestions.

These hints are helpful to any housekeeper if she wants to save time for fun and relaxation, for things she wants to do but does not have time or energy to do. Here they are:

Discover your own pace, your own relaxed way of doing things, and stick to it. Playing music while you work may help you relax and reduce tension.

Use tables on wheels. They are good for assembling and transporting food, dishes, groceries, cleaning supplies, laundry and many other things, from place to place. They save steps and lifting, and also provide extra space when you need it.

Organize your jobs so that you save steps by remaining on one floor or in one part of your house until you finish the job there.

Be sure to use the most convenient appliances you can afford. For instance, long-handled dust pans, brooms and mops save a lot of stooping. Assemble and keep all cleaning supplies in one place. A basket is best since you can carry it from place to place.

Sit at work as much as possible. You can sit when you prepare vegetables, iron, feed the baby, telephone, wash dishes, polish silver or make out lists.

Keep seasonings, serving dishes and cooking utensils next to the stove. Cooking spoons, pancake turners and such can be hung on the wall near the stove. A stove with a high oven eliminates stooping.

The height of your kitchen sink is extremely important. During the Second World War they found that the height of work tables and chairs was an important factor in work output and fatigue.

If the sink is too low, you strain your back by leaning over. You can put a rack beneath the dishpan to raise it to a more comfortable height. If it is too high to sit in a chair while you wash dishes, use a kitchen stool with a leg rest and preferably a back.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

Wed on Salt Spring Island

Daffodils, jasmine and pussy willow decorated St. Mary's Anglican Church on Salt Spring Island when Valerie Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Hollings of Fulford Harbor became the bride of Roger Alexander Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hughes, also of Fulford Harbor. Archdeacon G. H. Holmes officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown of white lace over satin featured a fitted bodice with scalloped neckline and lily point sleeves. Bouffant skirt was in ballerina length. Chapel length veil misted from a pearl tiara. Cascade bouquet was of yellow roses.

Emerald green silk gown and bouquet of narcissi was chosen by maid of honor, Miss Marilyn Watt. Bridesmaid, Miss Roberta Akerman wore a gold silk gown and carried daffodils and blue iris. Both wore toning whimsies, trimmed with tiny veils.

Charles Hughes was best man for his brother and ushers were Glenn Tremayne and David Plumbe. Organist was Miss Susan Fellows. "O Perfect Love" and "Praise My Soul" were sung during the ceremony.

Spring flowers decorated Fulford Community Hall where a reception was held following the ceremony. A wedding cake, made by Mrs. D. Layard centred the head table which was decorated with ivy and yellow candles in silver candelabra.

A. D. Dane proposed the toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon motoring trip on Vancouver Island the bride donned a pastel blue wool suit in Chanel design with black and white accessories.

Newlyweds will make their home at Fulford Harbor.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Old Angle to New Twist

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband refuses to twist with me. He says if I want to make a fool of myself in public, he isn't going to help me. I have seen many women older and fatter than myself twisting in public and I admit it looks terrible, but I am only 42 and have a nice figure. Please say something in your column to convince my husband that the twist is just another modern dance and he should learn it as he learned the rhumba and cha cha.

LOVES TO TWIST.

DEAR LOVES: If your husband is over 45 and overweight, maybe his insurance policy doesn't cover the twist. His thinking is straight. Don't try to twist it.

DEAR ABBY: The lady next door is pulling some funny business on her husband and I am quite certain a man is involved. She gets all dolled up and pulls out of her driveway a little before noon. And she doesn't get home until 6 p.m. She tells her husband she has been to a "PTA meeting." She does this three or four times a week, and he is so dumb he believes her. Don't you think somebody should tell her husband?

WIDE AWAKE NEIGHBOR.

DEAR WIDE AWAKE: Perhaps your neighbor's definition of PTA is "Pretty Terrific Afternoon." Don't tell anybody. You could be mistaken.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I decided to quit smoking several weeks ago. I have always said that if you make up your mind, that's all there is to it. Within a week we were both smoking again. I had no idea of the mental and physical discomfort involved. I thought some of your readers who have licked the problem might have some helpful suggestions.

HEAVY SMOKER.

DEAR SMOKING: If they have, you can be sure I'll print them.

How is the world treating you? Unload your problems on Abby, care of this paper.

NASON

This is the first in a series of 15 articles by an educational authority detailing what parents can do to help their children succeed in school.

By LESLIE J. NASON, D.Ed.
University of Southern California

"How can I get my child to want to learn?"

That question is uppermost in the minds of good parents; a question most frequently asked when parents and teachers meet to discuss education.

The problem is not one for teachers alone to solve. Parents themselves have an important—perhaps the most important—role in stimulating their child's thirst for knowledge.

In this series of articles we are going to outline some of the ways in which you can help your child to succeed in school by creating and enhancing his desire to learn.

Parents are the most important people on earth to children.

Father's political party or make or car is likely to be Junior's choice, too. Mother's way of cooking or cleaning will become little Susie's way of doing things.

Children also tend to share their parents' views about school.

If Daddy says "I always liked school. Things I learned in school help me with my job," Junior decides that he likes school. If Mother says "From the time I was a little girl, I knew I would go to college," Susie decides that college is for her, too.

Family Approval of Learning Needed

But if Daddy says, "I hated school. I couldn't wait for the time to quit," Junior rates school as a bore. And if Mother says, "Don't bother me with your homework. I have more important things to do," Susie looks at homework as of little or no importance.

First and foremost in a child's education needs is family approval of learning. With it, he is off to a flying start. Without it, he is under a serious handicap.

The youngster who knows that his parents stand behind him in getting an education, studies harder and does better than a child who thinks his parents do not care.

Be sure your child knows you care.

A successful college student told me the other day:

"My parents always encouraged questions. They made it clear that there was no such thing as a foolish question. If they didn't know the answer, they helped me find it."

It isn't always easy to manage the activities of a family so each member can fill all his needs without becoming a problem to someone else. It is possible, however, for the family to plan activities so each member knows that others are considering his needs and desires.

When television, recreation and the dozens of other activities of the home are regulated to provide time for homework and family discussion, school is given its proper place of importance.

Parents set the attitude toward learning that children adopt as their own.

Provide your children with a place and time to study. Have reference books handy. Encourage them to look up words in the dictionary and places in the atlas. Encourage them to study each subject, not just do homework assignments.

Let them enter family discussions about current events. Listen to good music together. Read good books with them. Go to libraries, museums, zoos, art galleries with your children.

Always consider school and education important, thus creating family approval of learning.

Next: Respect your children as individuals.

Peace Settled? Rebels Dubious

(Times News Service)

PARIS—A French team has agreed with Moslem insurgent negotiators on a cease-fire in the seven-year Algerian insurrection, sources close to the government reported today.

Exact details were not immediately available but it was understood the agreement was subject to approval of the Tunis-based Algerian "provisional" government's executive as well as the insurgent "parliament."

(In Tunis, rebel Foreign Minister Saad Dahlab said "The discussion is not ended. It has made a great deal of progress and can resume with good prospects."

(Vice-Premier Belkacem Krim said, "Things are going quite well, but we still have a lot to do." Another rebel spokesman said, "It is not finished yet. Another meeting will be necessary.")

France will endorse the agreement. President de Gaulle gave personal approval at each critical stage of the talks, which took place near the Swiss border.

French officials today acknowledged for the first time that the talks took place. An official statement said they began Feb. 11 and ended Sunday.

The main question remaining was whether the "provisional" government's executive and the insurgent national council, a kind of parliament expected to meet this week in Tripoli, Libya, would give approval.

The "provisional" government has extremists in its ranks who disapprove of an understanding with France, but throughout Algeria there is a great war weariness among Moslems and Europeans alike.

A rejection of the agreement by the insurgents could undermine their support in Algeria.

Strike Ended In B. Guiana

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (UPI)—Labor leaders today called off a six-day general strike marked by rioting, burning and pillaging after Premier Cheddi Jagan agreed to withdraw most of the budget provisions which caused it.

Killed in Robbery

SPOKANE (AP)—An elderly night pharmacist at a north Spokane drug store was shot to death and the store safe rifled overnight, police said today. The body of Asa B. McDaniel, 81, was found sprawled on the floor at Ritter's drug, 30 feet from the open safe. He had been shot in the back of the head.

7 Die in Fire

NORTH BAY, Ont. (UPI)—Fire early today burned down a farmhouse near here, killing two baby-sitters and five younger children.

Fowl Lovers Cry 'Foul'

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP)—Folks complained about the honking so the Humane Society picked up the culprits—a Canada goose and four wild ducks.

The fowls were jailed, so to speak, under the city leash law for pets.

A bird lover anonymously hired lawyer Ramon Poitevin to go to bat for the goose.

The lawyer told police his client's detention violated the U.S. Migratory Bird Act. They were ahead of him.

"Mr. Poitevin," he says they told him Saturday, "we're gonna loose your goose."

"That's ducky," he replied.

The goose soared off where the wild goose goes.

But his four feathered buddies are still jailed birds.

Said a sympathizer: "It's a fowl blow."

Orbital Shot Weather Improving

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A brightening weather picture buoyed hopes today that astronaut John Glenn will be launched toward a round-the-earth orbit Tuesday after months of delays.

The first half of a split two-day countdown was started at 2.30 a.m. The pre-count was finished at 6 a.m. with both the Atlas booster rocket and "Friendship 7" spacecraft ready.

Officials were shooting for a launch between 7.30 a.m. and 12.30 p.m. EST (4.30 and 9.30 a.m. PST) Tuesday.

'Labor Clique In Control'

REGINA (CP)—Hazen Argue, the fighting farmer-politician from Saskatchewan and CCF member of the House of Commons for 17 years, bolted from the New Democratic Party Sunday because it has "become the tool of a small labor clique."

Mr. Argue was leader of the CCF-NDP group in the Commons and is former national leader of the CCF party.

In a surprise announcement—it shocked some quarters—the 41-year-old socialist said in a statement:

"The NDP now has become the tool of a small labor clique and is effectively under their domination and control."

He said in an interview later that control of the NDP, formed last year by the CCF and labor groups, rests with three men — the leaders of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, the United Steelworkers of America and the United Auto Workers Union, all affiliated with the Canadian Labor Congress.

Mr. Argue also advised farmers to avoid the NDP "like the plague."

MAY JOIN LIBERALS

"Leadership of the NDP should be more democratic and not so susceptible to control and dictation from labor bosses," he said in the interview.

Although Mr. Argue declined to comment on his plans, he is expected to join the Liberal party, following his former university roommate, Ross Thatcher. Mr. Thatcher left the CCF in 1955, joined the Liberals a year later and in 1960 became leader of the Saskatchewan Liberal party.

Mr. Argue planned to fly to Ottawa today with his wife, Jean.

He said he hopes to make a speech in the Commons Tuesday and arrange the location of his seat in the House.

Mr. Argue, who last August lost to T. C. (Tommy) Douglas in a bid for national leadership of the NDP, announced his resignation at a press conference.

He sent a telegram of resignation to Michael Oliver, national president of the party; Harold Winch, deputy parliamentary leader of the CCF-NDP group, and Douglas Fisher, CCF member of the Commons for Port Arthur.

CONSULT WITH THATCHER

Mr. Thatcher immediately invited his old schoolmate to join the Liberal party. Mr. Argue consulted with Mr. Thatcher into the early hours Sunday before deciding to make his announcement.

Gov't Shuns Inquiry On Health

(See page 15)

The B.C. government did not present a brief as scheduled when the Royal Commission on Health Services opened its one-day hearing in the Empress Hotel today.

NDP-Opposition leader Robert Strachan, in presenting a brief for his party, said:

"I must express my regret that there is no one here from the government of British Columbia to welcome this commission to our great province . . ."

MET PREMIER

"This is not completely accurate," interrupted Hon. Emmett Hall, commission chairman, with a smile. "I had a few minutes with your premier, Mr. Bennett, and he said we were most welcome in B.C."

"Then I would add my welcome to Mr. Bennett's" answered Mr. Strachan. "I represent the 62 per cent of the people of this province who support the government but who do not vote for it.

"This may seem a little hard to understand, but it is the situation in B.C."

A spokesman for the B.C. health department gave no explanation as to why the government had not entered a brief. Nor could he say if there would be one.

MARTIN AWAY

Health Minister Eric Martin was said to be "out of town" this morning and there was no government representative on hand when the hearing opened soon after 10 a.m.

B.C. is the first province that has failed to present a brief on the first day of commission sittings in the respective provinces.

The seven-member commission has now visited eight provinces.

Seeks To Join Liberals

OTTAWA (CP) — Hazen Argue who quit the New Democrat Party Sunday, has made a formal move to sit in Parliament as a Liberal MP, sources here said today.

Opposition Leader Pearson and a number of his top lieutenants, including Senator John Connolly, president of the National Liberal Federation, were said to have discussed Mr. Argue's proposal at a meeting today.

An invitation to join Liberal ranks was extended to Mr. Argue at the press conference at which he announced his resignation. The invitation was given by Ross Thatcher, Saskatchewan Liberal leader, who left the CCF in 1955 and a year later joined the Liberals in the Commons.

West Warned On Air Lanes

BERLIN (UPI)—The Soviet Union in a note to the Western allies announced tonight it will continue what the West considers harassing flights in the Berlin air lanes.

The note warned the West it would face "unpleasant" results if it ignored Russian attempts to limit Western air traffic.

The Russian answer to a Western allied protest against harassing Russian flights was released tonight by the East German news service ADN.

SEATTLE (AP) — Prince Philip will visit the Seattle world's fair June 1, the British consul-general, Geoffrey H. S. Jackson, announced here today.

OTHERS TO FOLLOW?

'Untruth' Charged By Caucus

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Resignation of Hazen Argue, Member of Parliament for Assiniboia and a western farm spokesman in the House, from the New Democratic Party may be followed eventually by the departure of one or two other members from the new political movement.

The badly-shaken CCF-New Democratic party group in the House was uncertainly closing ranks today behind a senior member of the party, H. W. "Bert" Herridge, who represents Kootenay west in parliament.

The Liberals and Conservatives were delighted with the development. They saw in the moves a sure sign that the new party had no appeal for the farmers.

SPLITS PARTY

Mr. Argue's bitterly-worded resignation appeared to split the new party, separating the western farm wing from the eastern members of organized labor.

The CCF-New Democratic Party caucus issued a statement today in which bitterness was the keynote. It was obvious that Mr. Argue's resignation had been a stunning blow.

In the statement Mr. Argue was accused of lying about labor domination of the New Democratic Party. In its formal statement the caucus said Mr. Argue's reasons for leaving the party which "pivoted on the domination of the party by a so-called 'labor clique,'" were "staggering in their misconception and untruth."

The statement added that all members of the caucus felt that the basis of the party since the founding convention last summer "is wider than with the CCF, and domination by labor or farm or professional or academic groups is nonsense."

RUMORS FLY

Reports were flying about Ottawa in the wake of Mr. Argue's resignation that T. C. "Tommy" Douglas, the leader of the New Democratic Party, will challenge Mr. Argue in the latter's own federal riding of Assiniboia.

If Mr. Douglas decided to run in Assiniboia for that fed-

REPLY TO NIKITA

'Scrap A-Arms' —De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—President de Gaulle today urged the world's nuclear powers to destroy all their nuclear weapons and to join in destruction or control of all means of their delivery.

The French president said France is ready to meet with the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union in a disarmament conference for this purpose.

De Gaulle's proposal was contained in a letter to Premier Khrushchev, replying to the Soviet leader's suggestion of an 18-nation summit conference on disarmament in Geneva next month.

The key section of de Gaulle's letter said France is ready to participate with the other three nuclear powers in negotiations "which would have as their immediate objective the destruction, the banning and the control of the means of delivery of nuclear weapons."

He ignored Khrushchev's proposal for the 18-nation disarmament meeting on the summit level March 14.

The president said a conference such as he proposed should be limited to the big four powers. Participation of other states could not lead to any positive result, he said.

KEENLEYSIDE:

Power Export Ban 'Eccentricity'

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, chairman of the British Columbia Power Commission, today described as "economic eccentricity" federal government policy which would forbid the sale of Columbia River power in the United States.

In his first hydro policy speech outside the province, he told a meeting of the Canadian club here he has not been able to find an economist or a serious-minded businessman who opposes such export.

Dr. Keenleyside is head of the crown agency which is responsible for the proposed $458,000,000 development. The federal government is opposed to the export of Columbia River power because it would foster industry in the U.S. which could be established in Canada.

"I know of no other country in which power exports are officialy prohibited on principle," he said. "Surely a policy that everywhere else is accepted as beneficial cannot reasonably be considered detrimental to Canada."

Dr. Keenleyside's address was delivered to the meeting by R. C. McMordie, manager of engineering and operations of the British Columbia Power Commission. Dr. Keenleyside is recuperating from a recent illness. He was discharged from hospital last week.

B.C. also wants to sell to the Americans its share of downstream benefits—power which would be returned to the province for controlling the flow on the upper reaches of the Columbia.

'WOULD HURT ECONOMY'

Dr. Keenleyside said B.C. policy of developing the Columbia and Peace rivers simultaneously could not be implemented without the sale of those benefits.

"Refusal to allow the sale of downstream benefits would do direct, gross and permanent injury to the economy of our province."

He said B.C., as soon as sales contracts can be negotiated with the U.S., should start on the Columbia project with a view to obtaining financial returns from it, possibly as early in 1965.

The policy concerning development of B.C.'s power resources was the most important single economic problem facing the country today.

From water which now is flowing to the seas, in 15 years Canada could return an annual

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

One sure sign that summer's on its way was the 5 p.m. ferry to Vancouver on Friday.

For the first time since last tourist season the boat left cars waiting behind, about 22 in all.

One fellow we know arrived at Swartz Bay 20 minutes before sailing time and was the fifth last to get on the Mv Victoria.

* * *

A happy young visitor to Victoria Friday was Robbie Straight, 14-year-old son of weekly newspaper publisher Hal Straight.

Attending the legislature for the first time to watch a day of the session, he emerged with a book autographed by the Premier.

Young Robbie listened to a speech by Mines Minister Kiernan which he said he enjoyed very much.

"Then Gordon Gibson started to speak," said Robbie, "but I couldn't figure out what he was saying so I left."

* * *

SAVERY

While in England, the landscape architect supervised the initial work for the casting of B.C. historical animals in bronze.

They will be used to decorate the fountain to be erected at the rear of the legislative buildings.

Heraldry, a form of sculpturing, includes the making of shields of knights and symbolic animal figures, and is being used extensively for decorating public buildings, churches, businesses and landscaping, Mr. Savery said.

* * *

This corner must confess to a definite feeling of climatic smugness.

After all, where else in this broad land would the whirr of power lawn mowers be heard on Feb. 18?

But then maybe all that lawn cutting on Sunday wasn't REALLY necessary. Maybe Victorians were merely indulging in a spot of spring training.

* * *

Half a million tourist promotion stickers — designed to be used on outgoing Vancouver Island mail — are still unclaimed at the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Tourist commissioner W. J. Hawkins had the stickers printed up and offered them to chambers of commerce throughout the Island for distribution. But there have been no takers so far.

The stickers are green and gold with a picture of Vancouver Island and Captain Discovery with the slogan "Visit Canada's Treasure Island."

* * *

Dr. Russell B. Robertson, who died here on Friday, at one time estimated that he had "presided" at the birth of 30 per cent of Victoria's population.

A doctor who was beloved by his many patients and respected by his colleagues, Dr. Robertson coaxed more than 15,000 babies into the world during his 38 years of practice in Victoria.

Dr. Robertson

Never a man to complain of hard work, he handled the bulk of births during the Second World War when Victoria was denuded of its medical men for overseas service. At that time there were only 30 doctors left here, and Dr. Robertson worked as many as 20 hours a day.

* * *

Pilferers of the Centennial sign from City Hall a few weeks ago, they have made another bid for the rogue's gallery by garnering the brass name plate from the Mv. Sidney.

It appeared this morning tacked to the wall of the college cafeteria.

Cuba Cuts Wardrobes

HAVANA (Reuters) — Cubans flying from Havana to Miami now will be allowed to take only one pair of shoes and three outfits of clothing with them under new government regulations. Until now, Cubans have been allowed to take 66 pounds of luggage packed in one container, but only one watch and one ring. The new regulations apparently are aimed at refugees.

Riots in Malta

VALLETTA, Malta (Reuters)—Steel-helmeted riot police clashed Sunday with Labor party supporters in violent outbreaks during the second day of voting in the first election in seven years in this tiny Mediterranean island.

Italy Wins Bridge

NEW YORK (UPI) — Italy captured its fifth straight world bridge championship yesterday, defeating a North American team in the final 48 deals to clinch the title and the Bermura Cup.

"Just a note to say I am keeping this Hearing Aid. It is wonderful. Have worn it to church three times, and sitting in the back seat, heard everything clearly. Voices seem so natural. Money could not buy mine if I knew I could not get another one like it."

Fleming Denies Pressure On Canada to Fix Dollar

OTTAWA (UPI) — Finance Minister Fleming today denied there was any indictment of Canada's exchange rate by the International Monetary Fund at its executive council meeting in Washington Friday.

Fleming told the Commons that Canada did not enter into any new commitments at the meeting and that no date had been set for the next session.

He said that while the IMF's ultimate goal was a fixed relationship between various currencies, Canada's present position was understood.

BUYING AND SELLING

Since mid-summer Canada has been keeping the value of its dollar below the U.S. dollar by buying and selling its holdings of U.S. dollars.

Opposition leader Pearson asked Fleming if it was not true that the IMF said its goal of fixed relationship could be achieved in a matter of months. The finance minister said this was not his understanding.

He also denied that the IMF had asked for periodic consultations with Canada over the rate.

He denied a charge by Paul Martin (L—Essex East) that Canada's policy had caused "disquietude" outside the country. He said Canada's policy was "clear, strong and firm" and was understood abroad.

Denying there was any "manipulation" of the exchange rate, Fleming said Canada's policy has not been "aggressive" or harmed any country.

INDIAN GIRL OUSTED BY LANDLADY

CALGARY (CP) — Dolores McLeod, 20-year-old-old operator for Alberta Government Telephones, says she is being forced to vacate her apartment because she is Indian.

She said her roommate made a deposit last Wednesday on a $112-a-month one-bedroom apartment. The girls moved in Thursday.

Miss McLeod said she was told Friday by Mrs. J. P. Paris, the landlady, that she would have to move because she is Indian.

"She said she had an exclusive apartment block and she would lose the other tenants if I stayed," Miss McLeod, a Cree, said.

Mr. Paris said it was the girl's behavior that prompted his wife to ask her to leave.

Newsman's Home Bombed

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Explosives set off against the home of Don Shoemaker, editor of the Miami Herald, damaged three houses and shook homes for blocks early Sunday. No injuries were reported.

John S. Knight, Herald publisher, posted a $5,000 reward for arrest and conviction of the bombers.

Authorities launched an investigation, seeking to determine whether the blast had any connection with a three-week bus strike. Union leaders denied that it did.

The Herald has criticized the strike of bus drivers and mechanics.

The bomb went off outside the bedroom of Shoemaker's 10-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, showering splintered glass near the bed in which she was sleeping.

Children Rob Store

LONDON (AP) — Three small, unarmed children robbed a haidressing shop in suburban Richmond last week of £100 ($290), a woman cashier reported. She said a little girl diverted her attention with inquiries about a possible purchase while two small boys grabbed the money. All three escaped.

HOW MANY ARE BANK CUSTOMERS?

A safe guess would be every one of them / That's because, in Canada, practically everybody has regular dealings with a chartered bank / Deposit accounts number more than 12½ million — or better than one for every adult. And on the books of the banks at any one time are 1,800,000 loans for just about every personal and commercial purpose / Through 5,000 branches, from one end of the country to the other, the chartered banks bring a full banking service within the reach of everyone.

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — A group of 10 Indonesians whose fishing boat lost its sails and mast in a raging storm arrived here Sunday after drifting 400 miles in 20 days from Tanimbar Islands, 500 miles west of New Guinea.

The fishermen, ranging in age from 18 to 54, said they survived the ordeal on raw rice and two days' supply of water.

FRIENDS BET SINATRA NO ROMEO FOR JULIET

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—The Johannesburg Sunday Times says in a bannerlined report from Hollywood that "friends of Frank Sinatra and Juliet Prowse are giving odds they will never be married." The paper listed the odds as "2 to 1 and steadily dropping." It said one of the main hitches is Miss Prowse's determination to keep on working, over Sinatra's objections. Miss Prowse is a native of South Africa.

'JUST FRIENDS' SAYS BURTON

Liz Leaves Hospital As Romance Denied

ROME (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor, apparently recovered from a case of food poisoning, today left the hospital with husband Eddie Fisher, and her leading man issued a statement denouncing "uncontrolled rumors" of a romantic involvement with the actress.

Miss Taylor was rushed to hospital in Rome late Saturday night in an ambulance.

The 29-year-old film star was released this afternoon.

Fisher, who had rushed back from Lisbon when informed of his wife's illness, was on hand to take her home to their rented luxurious Roman villa.

Rumors of a romantic attachment between Miss Taylor and Richard Burton, who plays Marc Antony in the movie "Cleopatra," had been circulating for several days in Rome, perhaps because of their torrid love scenes before the cameras. But there was nothing to indicate any substance to the rumors.

This morning, the 36-year-old Burton said he was the victim of distorted statements and a series of coincidences and that he and Miss Taylor are just "good friends."

U THANT TICKS OFF BELGIUM

The United Nations released an exchange of notes between Thant and Belgian Ambassador Walter Loridan in which Belgium criticized the UN command for the massacre of Roman Catholic missionaries by Congolese at Kongolo.

Dear Sirs:

This company has made systematic use of classified advertising for the promotion of lumber and building supplies since its incorporation, and the results from this medium have been very gratifying indeed.

Response to advertisements appealing to "Do-It-Yourself" homeowners has been exceptionally satisfactory, and many Victorians come to us for their home repair requirements, particularly rumpus rooms, carports, sundecks and summer cottages.

Please accept my thanks for effective classified advertising.
